School Committee Considers Four Year Terms

The Newton School Committee went on record Monday night at its meeting in favor of electing members for a four year term should city elections in Newton be held biennially instead of annually. There has been discussion of making the change in city elections. At present school committee members are elected for a term of 3 years. If city elections were held biennially it would be necessary to change from the 3 year term. To prevent the possibility of an entire new membership being elected at any one year, the School Committee endorsed a 4 year term instead of a 2 year term, should biennial elections be adopted.

The committee approved the retirement of Agnes Early who has been a teacher at the Hamilton School, Lower Falls. Miss Early will retire on November 8. To succeed her the committee elected Eleanor Dempsey of Melrose. Leaves of absence were granted to Catherine Robinson, Davis School from November 15 to January 1; to Helen Spelman, Day School from February 1 to June 30. Transfers and assignments approved included—Thomas Hughes, Angier School to Bigelow School; Marguerite Gay from Oak Hill kindergarten to Angier School; Madeleine Powell, kindergarten director at Hyde School to building assistant at that school; Mrs. Dorothy Hunt from Emerson School kindergarten to Oak Hill kindergarten; Cleo Aucoin promoted from building assistant to teacher at Hyde School; Ruth Holley from Stearns School kindergarten to Hamilton kindergarten; Grace Strum from Hamilton School kindergarten to Hyde kindergarten; Rosamund Tenny from Rice School kindergarten to Burr kindergarten.

It was announced at the meeting that the total enrollment in Newton public schools this year is 41 more than last year; the smallest increase in recent years. The enrollment this year totals 12,242 and last year the total was 12,201. In the kindergartens there are 59 fewer children than last year. This resulted in a decrease of (Continued on Page 3)

Candidates For Mayor Speak At Newton Centre

Over 500 Attend Rally At Woman's Club

The four candidates for Mayor of Newton spoke at a large public rally held on Wednesday night at the Newton Centre Women's Club at 8 p. m. The rally was preceded at 6:30 by a dinner held by the Newton Centre Improvement Association and the Newton Centre Business Men's Association. Speaker Leverett Saltonstall of the Legislature presided at the rally and introduced the four speakers—Hon. Edwin O. Childs, Paul H. Drake, Sydney B. Holden and General Daniel Needham.

After a brief reference to the coming Community Chest Campaign, Mr. Childs stated that he was entering the mayoralty campaign in a spirit of friendliness and that he considered all of his opponents personal friends. He referred to his knowledge of the city and its people—his previous experience for 16 years in the office and the greatest growth and progress of the city from 1918 to 1928 with the maintenance of an honest tax rate, a rate less than the average for thirty-nine cities of the state. During his terms as mayor he was at city hall every week-day except nine. His reelection every year, he pointed out, proved that no great fault was found with his administration.

At the end of 1929 he voluntarily retired and is now a candidate again at the request of a large number of citizens of all classes and creeds. He said that when he left the mayor's office there was a surplus of $554,356 and in ratio of net debt to valuation, Newton ranked tenth among the cities of the state—today she stands nineteenth. During the time of unprecedented growth the city debt did not keep pace, large expenditures being absorbed which might have been bonded. Valuations and building increased by leaps and bounds, yet at the end of his term, he said, the gross debt was less than thirty years before. (Continued on Page 4)

Community Chest Drive Opens Nov. 4 At Armory With Dinner For Workers

Campaign Committee Says 12,000 Pledges Necessary To Raise Amount Required

The Campaign Committee of the Newton Community Chest, Inc., reports that 12,000 pledges are necessary in this year's campaign to bring the city up to the average of giving among like Chest cities in the United States. In 1934, only one resident in eight in Newton gave to the Chest and the average of a group of Chest cities of a miscellaneous type showed one person in six giving. In a word, Newton's number of pledgers in 1934 was 25% below the average!

The average pledge was sufficiently below average, as well, to indicate that an increase of 15% in the average pledge will be necessary to bring Newton's average up to that in a large group of Chest cities in 1934. Campaigns elsewhere in the country so far in 1935, particularly this fall, show a very marked increase in giving over 1934.

Mayor Sinclair Weeks has issued a strong proclamation to the citizens of Newton urging all to give generously, and he has also sent a personally signed letter to every city employee, each of whom is to be covered in the Municipal Division solicitation, urging them to give generously to the Chest. Mayor Weeks has stated that the Federal funds "do not aid the work of the member-agencies of the Newton Community Chest in any degree." Therefore, it is upon the generosity of our citizens that their work for all Newton people depends; in the year of the agencies just closing, one person in every three in Newton has been directly touched by the services of these agencies and every person met on the street has been affected directly by their work.

Mass. Dinner Opens Drive
Next Monday evening, Nov. 4, there is to be a mass dinner for all the workers in the 1935 Campaign of the Newton Community Chest, Inc., at the West Newton Armory.

Mayor Weeks will speak, L. A. Bruce, Jr., Executive Director of the Chest, will briefly go over the mechanics of the Campaign, and Mr. Maynard Hutchinson, Campaign Director, will fire the starting gun.

The brief talks, totalling 15 minutes, will be followed by an inspiring "Pageant of the Agencies," written and directed by the Opening Dinner Committee, of which Mr. William V. M. Fawcett is the Chairman. His Committee is composed of Mrs. Paul Goddard, Mrs. William V. M. Fawcett, Messrs. Louis Haffermehl, C. Hassler Capron, William Doherty, Kendrick Kearns and L. D. G. Bentley. Tables will be reserved for villages and divisions.

Thirty-four public-spirited citizens of the city have each given the sum of fifty dollars to make this dinner possible and that sum is given over and above their respective pledges to the Campaign and in many cases those pledges have been increased over 1934!

Experience in successful Chest cities has shown clearly that such a plan of having an opening dinner is excellent and leads to far better results. It is always an investment that brings better returns in the Campaign, which means far more money for caring for the sick and aged, helping individual and family welfare and relief, for leisure-time, character-building programs handled by agencies in that field.

Community Chest Sunday
Next Sunday, Nov. 3, has been designated as Community Chest Sunday in accordance with a suggestion offered last May at a meeting of the ministers of all faiths who are located in Newton. It is felt that the ministers, (Continued on Page 2)

BE A GOOD NEIGHBOR

The 1935 campaign of the Newton Community Chest gets under way next Tuesday with a goal of $186,347.20. This is the fourth annual campaign since fourteen local agencies joined together early in 1932 under this plan of raising the funds necessary to carry on their invaluable work. Although many persons know of the work of these agencies it is important to point out that they are of two different types. There are the agencies which deal with the welfare of unfortunate and needy persons and there are the agencies which deal with up-building of character. It is also important to remember that the welfare work performed by the first type of agencies is welfare work which cannot be performed by public funds, administered under either city, state or federal supervision. It is fully as important to remember that the character building agencies are essential to the future of the city. Without them the moral character and social environment of the coming generations would fall prey to perverted influences leading to social decadence. In short this is the basic reason for the existence of our Community Chest.

Results of the three previous campaigns, with a smaller sum sought each year, have failed to come up to expectations. The results cast no reflection upon the willingness of the volunteer solicitors to serve nor upon direction of the campaign. We are inclined to the belief that, relying upon a short, intensive preparation prior to the actual campaign and then allowing interest to wane until another year rolled around was responsible for this situation. Since last Spring Community Chest officials have been preparing for next week's effort and it is planned to maintain interest in the Community Chest upon a permanent, year-round basis in the future. These new methods should accomplish a great deal in broadening the base of the Community Chest.

It is surprising to learn that one third of the population of Newton is served directly or indirectly through the fourteen Chest agencies. It is somewhat disappointing to learn that only fifteen per cent of Newton residents contribute to the support of the Chest, and that the per capita contribution in Newton is but $2.36 as against an average of $2.80 in cities similar to Newton. These are facts which show that Newton is below the standard which it should be in matters affecting the Chest. It shows that even those who have shown an interest are not as deeply conscious as they might well be.

Over a thousand Newton citizens have volunteered or accepted the appeal to be a good neighbor and endeavor to impress upon all other citizens the need for each to participate in this civic duty. While we fully realize that many persons living in Newton are asked to contribute to campaigns and causes outside of Newton there can be no question but the Newton Community Chest should be their first consideration. We urge all good citizens to be not only good neighbors but the best neighbors possible.

MASSACHUSETTS—THE ORPHAN

Statistics from a survey of the financial situation in the several states of the union show that Massachusetts is one of the few states where the state debt has risen since 1929. In that year Massachusetts was outstanding in the nation from a financial standpoint with a net debt of but little more than eleven millions of dollars. In the past six years this figure has more than doubled with an increase of more than fifteen millions in the four years ending with 1934. Another considerable increase will result from the vast sums expended by the state during 1935. It is unthinkable that this situation should continue, as it is inevitable that we will face the breaking point. The increase is directly traceable to the bond issues authorized during the administration of Governor Ely coupled with the small proportion of national funds allotted this commonwealth in comparison with those turned over to other states. The federal allotments to other states undoubtedly has helped them to add to their state debt. Representative Henry Cabot Lodge pictures it quite truthfully when he says that "Massachusetts is the orphan of Washington."

WILL THE BUDGET BE BALANCED?

A few days ago the announcement was made in the press that the national administration would endeavor to balance the national budget by 1937. As a step toward this end it was intimated that for next year some two billions of dollars less would be expended for relief than was allotted this year. This will mean that a greater burden will fall upon cities and towns unless by some manner of means industry can succeed in taking up the slack by re-employing thousands of those now upon the relief rolls. With the enormous sums of money that have been spent in the past few years it is not only essential that the budget be balanced but that expenditures other than for relief work will have to be drastically curtailed.

What an adventure life is, if you keep yourself alert and alive.

The remote control system doesn't work with children.
Too many compliments and gifts are only traded.

Another step towards the solution of the problem of similarity in street names in Newton is expected to be taken shortly. At a coming meeting of the Board of Aldermen the Planning Board will recommend the passage of an amendment to the zoning ordinance on this subject. The amendment seeks to avert the possibility of further duplication of names of streets now in use with respect to future real estate developments which should meet with general approval. The amendment, however, will have no effect on existing duplications. There are a considerable number of instances where the duplication of street names has led to much confusion and difficulty in the prompt delivering of mail and merchandise. The Planning Board for some time has considered this question but has failed to find any satisfactory way to eliminate these difficulties. The only possible way the duplications can be eradicated is for residents of the streets involved to take the initiative in arousing sentiment to change the street name, one which will be acceptable. Unless there is more or less general agreement as to the new name to be adopted there is little likelihood of any great accomplishment in this direction.

The tunnel under the tracks near the Eliot station in the Highlands section of the city is the object of complaint of many patrons of the railroad. With the shortening of the days and the earlier fall of darkness dangerous conditions are present when the lights in the tunnel are not turned on until about six o'clock. Complaints have been made to the police, the street department, and the city solicitor and it is reported that persons passing through the tunnel in total darkness have frequently collided, being unable to discern anyone approaching from the opposite direction. Aldermen John Temperley has further called attention to the possibility of damage suits being entered against the city in the event of accidents occurring there. The situation has been referred to the street department and it is probable that the simple expedient of turning on the lights at an earlier hour will remedy the difficulty.

Last Friday afternoon officials of Newton and Waltham perambulated the boundary lines between the two cities as is customary each year. The Newton delegation consisted of the special committee of three aldermen appointed for the purpose, Aldermen John Temperley, George E. Rawson, and John E. Barwise and City Engineer Ernest H. Harvey. The Waltham group included Councillors Broe, Woolrath, and Turner, Assistant City Clerk Greene and Assistant City Engineer Harrington. All of the boundary markers were found to be properly located. The perambulators were impressed by the deplorable conditions existing in the Charles River by the extremely low level of the water. In past years when "walking the boundaries" the officials have been compelled to make long detours around the various coves or else view the bounds from across the water. In last week's trip the low water level permitted the group to take short cuts, particularly across the coves and inlets between Waltham and Auburndale, without danger of wetting their feet.

Although the "Indian summer" weather which prevailed in the first part of October makes it difficult to believe that winter weather is approaching the calendar indicates that there are only sixty-one more days in the year. It will not be long before lovers of outdoor sports will be hauling out their ice skates in preparation for enjoyable days and evenings on Bulfinch's Pond. While facilities for the convenience of skaters at this popular spot are immeasurably better than they once were there is still room for considerable improvement. The Newtonville Improvement Society has discussed this matter in times past and the ultimate aim is to find some means of erecting a suitable building to replace the present wooden structure now in use during the skating season.

With the resurfacing of Beacon st. in Newton Centre progressing smoothly it is gratifying to learn that those who are so situated that they are most likely to be inconvenienced are praising the street department for the manner in which the work is being handled. This week August Osterlund, well-known Nash dealer in Newton Centre, was the Newton street department as follows:

Oct. 28, 1935.
I am glad to have this opportunity to tell you what a very efficient job I think your department is doing in connection with road improvement on Beacon st. in Newton Centre.

When the work was started, naturally many objections were voiced by those whose places of business fronted the work, and whose services were about to be curtailed, but the speed with which this work has been carried on, and the way every man here seemed bent on carrying out his part of the work as though the entire job depended on himself alone, has been very noticeable and many times commended.

When good work is being done like this I believe appreciation for it should be expressed, and in expressing it to you now, I believe the credit is due both to the way your department has planned the work and to the men personally employed in carrying out the plans.

Best of all, when the work is finished the result will many times repay what little inconvenience may seem to have disturbed us at first.

Mayor Weeks' Proclamation On Community Chest

The Newton Community Chest, Inc., financial and advisory agent to fourteen of our social service agencies in Newton, is on the eve of its annual request for financial support by the citizens of Newton. These agencies, covering care of the sick and aged, giving personalized service in welfare and relief, providing leisure-time and character-building activities and programs, are most essential in our community life. The work they do cannot be and is not aided in any degree by Federal or Municipal funds. It is on the individual citizens, all of whom are affected directly or indirectly by them, that these organizations must rightly depend for their budgets. As Mayor of the City, and as a citizen fully aware of the need for and value of these fourteen social service agencies, I urge every citizen of Newton to contribute to the Campaign in as generous a measure as possible.

Signed
SINCLAIR WEEKS,
Mayor of Newton.

more than any other group, have a splendid opportunity—and a very appropriate one—to present to our citizens the vital force these fourteen Social Service Agencies that compose the Chest are to our social and civic well-being. None among us know better than they what these organizations that care for our sick, aged and unfortunate, and exert a wholesome influence upon our young people, mean to the safety and security of Newton as a residential city.

The Campaign Committee has prepared a single sheet insert for church calendars to be distributed at all Newton churches on Sunday. It is not an appeal for funds, but a simple statement of the date of the Campaign and the part the Chest plays to the benefit of both the public and the Agencies. Then follows a quotation from one of our oldest and best-informed citizens regarding these institutions founded many years ago. It was written especially for this occasion, and the writer, whose name is not attached, is a most public-spirited citizen and the author of a history of Newton.

Newton Republican, Nov. 4, 1876
The entertainment of the Swiss Bell Players at Eliot Hall on Tuesday evening drew a fair audience. George Spaulding and W. D. Spaulding did full credit to their reputation. The bells under their touch rang forth joyous strains and the harps echoed sweet music. The musical glasses played by Louise Shaffer were a novelty to many, and her execution of some familiar pieces was fine.

The dwellings of Edwin Field and F. Rice at Newtonville were entered on Monday night by burglars but nothing of value was taken.

The residences of Fisher Ames, Charles McCallum and Oscar Bailey at West Newton were entered by thieves on Monday night. A silver watch was stolen from Mr. McCallum and $15 from Mr. Ames' house.

The house of Mr. Torrey in Newton Highlands was entered on Monday night by thieves and some articles taken. At 2 o'clock Tuesday morning a burglar entered the home of Leonard on Forest st., Newton Highlands and was unexpectedly accosted by that gentleman in his sleeping room. He hastened his departure across lots to some trees where it is supposed he joined his companions.

Early Monday morning the house of Amos Lawrence at Newton Centre was entered by burglars and robbed of two watches; also the home of Mr. Winslow from which some articles were taken. The home of Elisha Bassett on Beacon st. was also entered and a wallet containing $18 stolen.

50 YEARS AGO

Newton Graphic, Oct. 31, 1885

The School Committee and city government are at present considering a subject of vital importance to all citizens. What should be done for the accommodation of high school children is a question which should interest every parent. Last year the present high school building was found to very inadequately meet the needs of more than 400 scholars who assembled within its walls. One of the plans proposed to remedy the difficulty is to make another addition to the building now occupied by the high school on Walnut st. Another plan is that of one of the members of the school committee who proposes that the present high school site and building be abandoned for high school purposes, that they be turned over to the Clafin School, which has outgrown the limit of its own building, and that the city construct a new high school building upon land which it now owns near the City Farm at Waban, upon the line of the new circuit railroad. The present high school building was erected in 1859, and as long ago as 1868 it was found necessary to build an addition to it; and in 1875 another addition had to be built. The result is—that it has now no architectural beauty, and is not fitted for the purpose to which it is devoted.

At a meeting of the School Committee on Wednesday night the Superintendent submitted his quarterly report in which he stated that the lack of some of the schools do not take such care of the buildings as the health and comfort of the pupils demand. He recommended that they be in attendance at the school buildings during the half hour before and after each session, and at such times during the sessions as the principal may require.

Three Democratic rallies were held last Tuesday evening. The speakers were Congressman O'Connell of Boston, Daniel J. Daley of Brookline, candidate for Congress; James F. Cannon, candidate for State Senate; T. D. Murphy, candidate for Representative. The rally at Nonantum was held in the open air near the store of Morgan Mahoney. In West Newton the rally was held at Mague Hall and at Upper Falls in Arcanum Hall.

Jesse Guilford, well-known golfer, had a new experience Saturday evening. Mr. Guilford had left his sedan parked in front of his home, 24 Brookdale ave., Newtonville, in the early evening. Desiring to use the car later, he found it had disappeared. On the point of calling the police, his phone rang and a friend living on Albemarle rd., a short distance away, informed him that his car was out on the street making a terrible racket. Mr. Guilford ran over to Albemarle rd. and there was the car tooting for all it was worth. Not a soul could be seen or a sound heard, except the horn. Then he realized why the car had been abandoned so suddenly. Mr. Guilford takes long trips through New England and like many a motorist knows the sensation of finding the car out of gas in the country. He had a little device installed in the tank so that when the gas supply got down to 3 gallons a horn started to blow. The horn could be silenced with the touch of a button. As luck would have it the gas in the car had reached the level where the signal was set to sound. The thieves not knowing of the device thought it was a burglar alarm.

Powers' Paragraphs

A considerable number of Newton voters who have in the past professed loyalty to both Mayor Weeks and Ex-Mayor Childs are placed in rather an embarrassing predicament. The coming election will necessitate a show down on their part.

The action of the Board of Aldermen at its last meeting in rejecting the order to have the city improve and accept Rumford ave., West Newton, at a cost of nearly $11,000 to all the taxpayers of this city was the sensible thing to do. Had the Aldermen voted to improve this narrow road which runs from Lexington street across a swamp to the Waltham line without the customary assessments on owners of abutting properties, there would have been many and vigorous protests from owners of properties on the many unaccepted streets in Newton which are in very poor condition, and also from persons who in past years were assessed for the improvement and acceptance of their streets. Particularly when there is not one residence on Rumford ave.

Not so many months ago the statement was made in newspapers that pulmonary tuberculosis in this country was decreasing so rapidly that sanitariums built for victims of this disease would have to be used for other purposes. That this statement was not in accordance with the truth is proved in our own vicinity by the fact that the Middlesex County Hospital at Waltham is overcrowded and there is a long waiting list of T. B. sufferers who want to be admitted there and for whom there is no room. The City of Cambridge is considering reopening its closed tuberculosis hospital. It stands to reason that a large percentage of our population, on restricted diet because of the years of economic depression, deprived of meats and other nourishing foods they had when prosperous, have not had the nutriment which they formerly enjoyed, and have been affected physically as a result.

It is also sad to realize that multitudes of children throughout this country have not been properly nourished for the past six years and will be more apt to fall victims of T. B. as they grow to maturity. The writer had ample opportunities to observe the large percentage of T. B. victims among one racial group a generation ago. Young men and women whose susceptibility to the disease was the result of a famine nearly a century ago in the land of their parents and grandparents. We have listened to and read assertions of public officials and relief workers to the effect that recipients of public welfare have been better fed the past few years than they were before. This may be true in regard to some recipients of welfare relief, but not of the great majority. It is a safe bet that the well paid officials, or the prosperous politicians making such a claim, are not subsisting on the diet which is the lot of those depending on food orders or the decreased allowance from the ERA.

The coming election in Newton will determine whether or not personal popularity or a strong political machine will dominate this city. For some years a political clique named the Mayors of Newton, and the old Newton Club was a dominant influence. Twenty-two years ago Edwin O. Childs ended the rule of this clique when he was elected Mayor. The members of the old Newton Club and the other gentlemen of Newton who selected our Mayors a generation ago, did not have a political machine. They comprised a large group of influential citizens, most of whom had no political ambitions, and they were genuinely interested in the welfare of this city. Nevertheless, many citizens of Newton at that time resented domination by a comparative few.

Edwin O. Childs was elected on his personal popularity. He was frequently alluded to, during the many years he was Mayor, as a practical and expert politician. We used to think there was some truth to this contention. But, we realized that it was and is not so. Mr. Childs never had a real political machine. He never built up fences by creating municipal positions, and he did not even, to a reasonable degree, reward some of his most loyal supporters by appointing them to city jobs. A practical politician would have done this. When Mr. Weeks first ran for Mayor in 1929, a strong machine was organized to assist him. This machine was enlarged and made more efficient two years ago, and this year it has been functioning for General Needham. It is true there have been some defections. There have also been some additions. If organized and persistent effort will determine the Mayoralty election, Mr. Needham would easily win. But, he has to overcome the popularity and experience in city affairs of both Mr. Childs and Mr. Holden; both life-long residents of the city, who have served long and well in our city government, and both known personally to thousands of Newton residents. In view of the fact that prior to his candidacy for Mayor, Mr. Needham took little part in Newton activities and was not known to Newton residents as were his two leading competitors, he needs the intensive work which has been done for him the past eight months.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Watch Your Stepping

It may be one of life's trivialities but the recent public address of a prominent shoe manufacturer on the high art of pedestrianism leaves me puzzled as to whether I make my pedestrian way by the "snow-shoe," "hitch-hike," "turkey-walk" or "flat arch" gait. As they are declared to be incorrect, although used by many walkers, it would seem desirable that they be avoided. Many will see no reason for giving it a thought. "What difference does it make as long as we get there?" is a fair question. Nevertheless, it is important that the proper muscles be used in making one's way; important, at least to experts, who, of course, have no other thought than to help us.

A brief analysis of my own defects as a pedestrian convinces me that I have acquired a "snow-shoe" gait. It was unintentional as well as a surprise as my experience with snow shoes has been extremely limited. As to "hitch-hiking," I may have been tempted but have never yielded, preferring to plod rather than plead. It may be I voluntarily commit, if it is an offence, the "turkey-walk" for I make no claim to grace. As to "flat arch," I am not aware that I have fallen into it.

The entire subject intrigues me because it applies to "balance in motion" and I rejoice to hear of general discussion of balancing something besides the budget.

Ancient But Handy

Instead of a brief case I have long carried a green cloth bag. Not because, you understand, I am a barbarian, jurist or litterateur but for the convenience they offer in transporting odd bundles, books and newspapers. Frequently I have been reminded, "You don't see many of those nowadays," but it has not embarrassed me to be identified with the strange and unusual. All of which is preliminary to the statement that in spite of what may be thought these bags are more and more coming into favor again. As far as I know there is only one place where they may be obtained and that is in Cambridge. Here they offered a most useful bag with a new fangled woven-strap instead of the familiar black pudding string. And what's more they've sold more than 1000 since early in September. So, who's old fashioned?

"Who Goes There?"

When overcome with a desire to argue I like to engage in a dispute with those who believe that the modern system of a radio patrol car with a roving commission is superior to foot patrolmen assigned to specified sections. For officers to pick up by radio orders to intercept thieves, attend an accident or report at a fire, is admittedly an advantage. Nevertheless, there are other things to be observed and only by walking the streets leisurely may an officer do so. There are defects in the sidewalk to be noted, streets lights that are not burning when they should be and many similar matters. No householder is satisfied to see a patrol car whisk by. When, however, he meets an officer who is actually patrolling his beat there is a feeling of assurance that all's well. If you can persuade any 100 per cent police officer to frankly state his views, see if he does not agree that covering the city at night (day officers spill walk) by policemen on foot is primarily essential and that patrol cars are helpful but secondary.

Mum's the Word

Reluctantly I have come to the conclusion that it would be imprudent to discuss in a judicial manner, the clash of arms overseas. Glibly as one may speak of Mussolini and Haile Selassie the hurdles arise both in names of men and places if one sees fit to go further. Possibly I am timid but Ras Seyoum, Dejaz Obzah, Nagadras Yesus and Luigi Vincigliucci cause my tongue to cleave to the roof of my mouth. So does the name of the British statesman Lord Halifax, for I know the English have a way of clipping words and I ponder over repeating that or the battleship HMS Ramilies. Deeper still I find myself when I try to get around Kobb, Kartoum, Eritrea, Somaliland, Addis Ababa, Tigre and Ogaden, Libya and the lost cities of Aksum and Aduwa. I'm sorry for the announcers of radio news bulletins and often wonder how their jaws feel at the end of an extended broadcast. Personally, I believe it best to be neutral and silent, and, if tempted, to express one's views only in the sign language.

Strictly Impartial

Every generation, with or without the gloom and hardship of financial and industrial depression, has its share of those who borrow money and forget to pay it back. The activity of the "touch artist" has been encountered by nearly all of us.

The other day members of an indignant group were discussing the methods of a man they all knew and who, it appeared, owed each anywhere from $1 to $10. "He got it from everybody," one remarked, sourly. "Yes," said the other, whose humor had not deserted him, "he didn't play favorites."

Newton at Rindge Tech
Suburban League GameCRUCIAL LEAGUE TILT FINDS NEWTON STRONG

The embattled Rindge Tech football warriors, champions of their own city of Cambridge by virtue of a 6-0 defeat of Cambridge Latin, will attempt to stop the fast improving Newton machine at Russell Field in Cambridge tomorrow afternoon. Neither team has a past record to boast about, but this is the crucial contest which determines the Suburban League championship for one or the other, since Brookline and Cambridge Latin, the other parties in the cozy conference, have already each dropped one game.

The Rindge-Newton game has been the decisive battle of the suburban loop for the last two years. Last year Rindge won the game, and subsequently the championship, by coming from behind to win 13-7 after Ernie Savignano, present captain, had put the Orange and Black in the lead by running 70 yards with an intercepted pass to score. And in 1933 Newton won the Rindge game 6-0 and captured the league title.

Tomorrow's game will be the last for fullback Jack Reardon in the orange and black uniform. The hard-hitting senior with the scoring punch has been ruled ineligible by the faculty, and will be lost to the squad after the Cambridge trip. Other casualties are Jim McEwen, Pete Donovan and Ralph Salvucci, first-string ends, none of whom will play against Rindge.

However, Coach Sanborn has been fortunate enough to regain Bob Proven, 185-lb. utility end and tackle, who was incapacitated several games back, and this boy will play one end and George Duane the other. Bob Whelden and Howie Milner, two of the biggest tackles Newton has ever had, are ready to go, as are the veteran center and guard combination of Jim Packard, Carl Davis and Gerry DeNapoli.

Ernie MacLeod and Ernie Savignano, quarterbacks, have recovered well from leg bruises, and it is possible that Captain Savvy will take the field against Rindge Tech, although it is doubtful that he will start the game. If MacLeod is not in top form, signals will be called by Burt Woodward, the quarterback who did some fine ball-carrying last week against Quincy. If Jack Reardon starts, his halfbacks will be Al Thompson and Red Callanan. Otherwise, Jack Herrick will be at halfback and Thompson will be in Reardon's place.

Allan "Ox" Wilson has pretty well recovered from his ailing knee, and may play against Rindge. It will depend on the trend of the game. Newton's pony backs, who looked so good against Quincy, will have their share of playing. Paul Forte is about the most elusive ball-carrier Newton has had since Tom Gilligan, and he is much faster than the former Harvard halfback. Seth Fitchet and Bill Johnston, two other junior backs, will see considerable service if Newton builds up a lead.

Veteran City
Employees Retire

The City of Newton has lost the services of two competent and faithful employees in the retirement on pensions of Thomas L. Matthews, Trowbridge ave., Newtonville; and John J. Connolly, North st., Newton Centre. Connolly for 44 years was employed as a blacksmith and tool sharpener by the Street Department, most of that time at the Crafts st. yard. Matthews was in the employ of the Street Department for 43 years. He was formerly a teamster, but for many years had been a utility mechanic and rigger and he will be a difficult man to replace.

Fellow employees of the two tendered them a testimonial at "Chicken Petes" tavern at Milford on October 24. Charles J. McCarthy was toastmaster at the affair and speeches were made by Street Commissioner Mahoney, Edward F. Cannon and Albert J. Stuart. Both men were presented with suitably engraved watches.

Plan Choral
Singing Course
For Newton

All Newton residents who like to sing are invited by the State Department of Education to join a community group singing, such as New England was famous for in the past. The course has been planned by James A. Moyer, director of the State University Extension Division, in co-operation with Keith Crosby Brown, of the New England Conservatory of Music. Although the course is primarily intended to give men and women the opportunity for the enjoyment of group singing, it will also embrace practical instruction and experience in the reading of music by the singing of part songs.

The first meeting will be held on Tuesday, November 5, at 7:30 p. m. in the Underwood School, Newton. The first unit of instruction consists of eight weekly meetings. Membership is open to everyone without restrictions as to voice quality or previous training.

The instructor and choral conductor for the Newton group will be Carl Peirce, well-known choral and orchestral conductor, who has been a member of the faculty of the New England Conservatory of Music for the last thirty-three years. Mr. Peirce has had a wide experience in conducting choral work. For a number of years was director of music at the Unitarian Church, East Boston, and at the Channing Church, Newton. He has been conductor of the Boston Glee Club, the Hunnewell Glee Club of Newton, and the Waban Ladies Chorus. He is also well-known as a violin soloist. Mr. Peirce has resided on Eldredge street, Newton for many years.

Adults who join the course will gain familiarity with some of the finest choral music of famous composers, past and present, as well as a thorough preparation for church choir and other choral positions. For this reason the instruction will be valuable not only to adults interested in group singing as a fine recreation, but also to vocal students who find their progress handicapped by an inability to sing a given part in concerted music.

Similar choral singing groups are being organized by the State Department in 16 other Massachusetts centers this fall. The development of the project comes as a result of the extremely enthusiastic choral singing classes which Mr. Brown has conducted in Boston for the past two years. Mr. Peirce will conduct the choruses which are being formed in Waltham, Melrose, Milton and Natick as well as that in Newton.

School Committee member Bryant expressed the opinion that the small increase in enrollment was caused by boys and girls obtaining work during the past year. To Talk on Ethiopia at Men's Meeting

The second monthly meeting of Central Club, the men's organization of the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville, will take place next Tuesday evening, November 5th, at the church.

Dudley Hovey, chairman of the program committee, has announced that the guest speaker of the evening will be Mr. Walter B. Cline of the Department of Anthropology at Harvard University, who will speak before the club on a most lively and timely subject—pertaining to Ethiopia.

Mr. Cline has spent some time at Addis Ababa and in the interior of Haile Selassie's Kingdom—and has just recently returned from Africa. Pictures of this most interesting country will also be shown.

An additional feature of the entertainment that evening will be a musical program by Southern Negro singers of St. Cyran's Episcopal Church who will render classical, spiritual and secular songs. Elwin Barrow, a very talented musician, graduate of Bates College and a native of the West Indies, will lead his colleagues in this musical treat.

The usual dinner at 6:30 p. m. of the club will precede the entertainment.

Dog With Rabies
Bites 3 Boys

Three West Newton boys were bitten Wednesday by a dog which was found to have rabies. The dog, which had strayed from Salem, bit Richard Thompson, 9, of 21 Furber ave.; Raymond Brewer, 10, of 15 Cross st.; and Robert Marden, 7, of 51 Eddy st. The dog got into Cheese Cake Brook near the boys' homes and could not get out because of the high walls along the brook. A squad of police, including Serg. Meehan, Patrolmen Taffe, Marden, Monroe and Dungan went to the brook, took the animal out and carried it to the dog pound at Crafts st., where it was examined by Dr. Boutelle. He ordered it sent to the Angell Animal Hospital where it was found to have rabies. The three boys and Patrolman Monroe, who had a cut on one hand before he assisted in handling the dog, will take the Pasteur treatment.

Auto Fumes Kill Newtonville Man

Harold E. Mullen, 32, of 10 Maguire court, Newtonville, was found dead in his automobile last Friday morning off Pelham rd., between Wadsworth and Sudbury. Death was caused by carbon monoxide fumes from the exhaust of the car motor. Mullen's wife, the late Catherine (Maguire) Mullen, died several months ago and he had since made his home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Maguire of Maguire Court. His funeral was held from there on Monday morning and the solemn requiem mass was celebrated at Our Lady's Church. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham. Mr. Mullen was formerly a resident of Waltham. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mullen; two brothers, Frank and Carl Mullen; and three sisters, Mrs. James E. Sherman, Mrs. C. E. Reardon and Mrs. John Joyce.

Y. M. C. A.

Those women who visited the Newton Y. M. C. A. under the auspices of the Woman's Crusade, had the opportunity to see an interesting display of Craft Work which is one of the activities of the Younger Boys at this time of the year. Jack Masters, Lawrence Betz, Brenton Caverley, John Coffey, Henry Patrick, Edgar Burkhardt, and Frank Barrett demonstrated to the ladies how the many articles in brass, burnt wood, leather, and felt are made. Frank Brimblecom, Bobby Stackhouse, and Arthur Appleton, dressed in camp uniforms, were behind the tables displaying pictures and emblems about Camp Frank A. Day. Fay Smillie and Kay Hayes, representing the Tri-Hi, and Allan MacQuarrie, Jr., and Charles Mergendahl, Jr., the Hi-Y, displayed emblems and explained about the work done by the members of these Clubs in the High School and Community. At four o'clock, in the gymnasium and swimming pool, boys' groups under the direction of Mr. V. A. Anderson and Mr. Norman Andersen put on a demonstration of tumbling, class work, and swimming and diving. The Men's activities in the Clubs and Physical Department, which of course could not be demonstrated in the afternoon, were explained by means of charts and talks given by General Secretary H. W. Bascom.

Hostesses from the Woman's Auxiliary of the Newton Y. M. C. A. on Monday were Mrs. Charles Wood Bond, Mrs. H. W. Bascom, and Mrs. John A. Reitz; and on Tuesday, Mrs. David Black and Mrs. H. C. Daniels.

The Round Table Club, composed of members of the Public Speaking Classes, met at the Hotel Puritan on Monday evening, October 28th. Those present were Edward M. Rowe, Alexander C. Zinck, Dr. Philip D. Woodbridge, John S. Chant, Frederic B. Eastman, Thomas Finnigan, J. Ernest Gibson, Frank A. Paquin, Orville Caseley, Dr. Alfred E. King, W. Clarence Lodge, Dr. M. H. Wiggin, and Walter S. Bruton.

There was an election of officers for the ensuing year. The new officers are President, Thomas Finnigan; Vice President, John S. Chant; Secretary-Treasurer, Walter S. Bruton.

Awards for the best speeches of the evening were given as follows: Dr. Woodbridge, first award, and Mr. Chant, second award.

Candidates For Mayor At Rally

fore and the net debt only a third more. If elected Mr. Childs stated that he would strive as formerly to be mayor of all the people all of the time. In closing he urged citizens to register and to vote, saying that the dangerous vote is the vote that isn't cast and the greatest foe to Democracy is the non-voter.

Alderman Holden referred to the borrowing of $150,000 against tax titles this year as representing ninety cents on the tax rate, enabling a low figure in 1935. Regardless of who is elected mayor this amount will have to be taken care of and absorbed next year so that it is going to be practically impossible, with the depleted excess and deficiency account, to lower next year's rate. The only way of doing it, he stated, is by keeping everlastingly on the job, by personal investigation of all expenditures, and by spending more than two or three hours a day at city hall. He gave the illustration of saving money by referring to the refusal of the Board of Aldermen to improve Rumford ave. at the expense of all of the taxpayers of the city. He discussed the welfare problem and expressed his belief that relief for the less fortunate should be continued and expressed his firm conviction against the expenditure of public money for those who do not deserve it. He felt that it is logical, with more families on the welfare rolls and more money being expended in this direction than at the height of the depression, that more investigators should be employed. He favored a street and sidewalk building program, no reduction in employees' wages, employment of Newton men and women, and steady employment for laborers. In concluding, Mr. Holden stated that his experience as an Alderman in the past six years gave him the necessary insight into the task of mayor that none of the other candidates had without intensive study.

General Needham stated that although this was the first public rally of the campaign that it was his 64th meeting with the voters as a candidate. Having selected considerable organizing has been done for some time. He urged support of the coming Community Chest as most important at this time and stated that active political work in his campaign would be postponed until after the conclusion of the drive. He expressed the thought that it was going to be difficult to find issues to talk about in the mayoralty campaign and that he felt that many persons were interested in learning as to why he is a candidate. Having selected Newton twelve years ago as the city in which he intends to live for the rest of his life he came here because of its good government, its schools, and its people. He referred to the point that he has had no previous experience in municipal government by stating that, as a matter of record, the mayors of Newton as a rule came from outside the city government, as his principal opponent did. In 1933 he was elected into the position of Public Safety Commissioner where a serious problem had to be faced. This problem he believes was less of a problem than that which confronts the next Mayor of Newton.

He went on to tell of the conditions existing in the department and of the duties involved in the handling of the budget of $1,300,000, about one-quarter that of Newton. The task required full time including much night work, it required the handling of men in police and fire work, it required the exercise of executive functions in selecting men and reading character as well as the ability to make important decisions. These qualifications of training, education, and inclination are his reasons for seeking the office of mayor. He expressed his intention to maintain and advance the high standards in the Newton schools, and other city departments. As nothing stands still it must either grow better or worse still it is his desire to do all in his power to carry on the city government with honesty and efficiency so that two years from now he can point with pride to a record which exceeds the fine record of Mayor Weeks.

Girl Scouts Attend Special Church Service

The congregation of Channing Church, Newton, played host to 300 Girl Scouts from all parts of the city at the regular church service on Sunday, October 27th. Twenty-two of the local Girl Scout troops responded to the invitation which was made to them by the Reverend Mr. Joseph Barth, pastor of the church. The occasion was the celebration of Girl Scout Sunday, which precedes national Girl Scout Week.

The Girl Scouts, clad in their green uniforms and carrying troop banners, marched into the church during the processional hymn. They filed down the aisle and filled the center section of the large church. The regular service of church was varied only to include a service of Recognition of the Girl Scout group. The scripture reading was taken from the writings of Sir Robert Baden-Powell, founder of the Scout movements, and from a poem by Vachel Lindsay.

The Girl Scouts left the church singing the Girl Scout Hymn. After the benediction, Taps was played by Helen Oldfield of Upper Falls, Massachusetts State bugler. This closed the very impressive service.

WOMEN'S CLUB ACTIVITIES

Noted Sculptor And Author To Give Program

For their first program this season,
Mrs. Alice Dixon Bond, chairman, and the Program committee will present Madame Suzanne Silvercruys, (Mrs. Henry W. Farnum, Jr.) at the Newtonville Woman's Club on Tuesday, November 5th, at 2:30 p. m.
Madame Silvercruys, who was born in Belgium, and is known internationally as a sculptor, actress, playwright and author, first came to America as a lecturer for Belgian Relief during the World War, for which she was decorated with highest honors by the King and Queen of Belgium. She returned here later to study at the Yale School of Fine Arts, and graduated therefrom. Her work in portrait busts is especially noteworthy, and during her lecture Madame Silvercruys will model a complete bust or statuette. The lecturer is the author of "Suzanne of Belgium," and her new play, "There Is No Death," is to be produced in New York this winter. In addition to her accomplishments in the above fields, Madame Silvercruys is active in American politics.

An added feature for the afternoon's program will be the Tenor solos by Sylvester Carter, a young man who is attracting favorable attention for his clear voice and pleasing personality.

At this meeting, Mrs. Anton A.
Wild, chairman of the Civics committee, will be glad to receive articles for the Clothing Chest. There is urgent need for generous contribution to this cause.

Following the custom of the last two years, the Ways and Means committee, Mrs. Raymond Tucker, chairman, has planned again to meet the Club's budget for running expenses and philanthropies, by presenting a Two-Day Bazaar on Wednesday, November 14th, and Thursday, November 15th, from 10:30 a. m. to 10:30 p. m. It is the hope of the Executive Board of the Club, and particularly of this Bazaar committee, that the funds necessary for the year be obtained by this one event, the only exception being the Annual Scholarship Bridge. The plans include tables for many types of articles, as well as for food, candy, and the new Club Cook Book.

Luncheon and dinner will be served each day, and there will be an entertainment each evening.

On Wednesday, a Style Show will be furnished by the R. H. Stearns Company, and on Thursday, there will be music by Ann Marie Avant-garde, monologues by Marjorie Shepherd, and songs by Paul Fryar. Hospitality and sociability will be especially stressed.

The chairman of the different tables ask Club members to bring articles for the Bazaar, marked with the contributor's and the table chairman's names, to the Club meeting on November 5th. Money contributions should be sent to Mrs. Raymond Tucker, 479 Walnut street, and second-hand books should be marked for Mrs. Paul E. Ellicker. If unable to take articles to the Club House, members should communicate with the Bazaar chairman, as listed on page 15 of the Year Book.

cial chairman and her committee.

tion. Tickets for the course are one

Rummage Sale
And Other Events

Rev. Cornelius Greenway exhibited slides of many rare autographed photographs at his lecture before the Newton Community Club on October 24th. He stated that it is interesting to note that the autographs of the most distinguished people, including that of Jane Addams, were all small and unpretentious. Those of the Kaiser and his family were always written with pencil, and autographs of Russian notables were the most difficult to obtain.

Mrs. J. Earle Parker, president of the Newton Federation, and Mrs. Albert Hutchinson presented a dialogue. In this manner questions about the Newton Community Chest were answered, and much information given.

The pourers during the social hour were Mrs. Harry W. Fitts and Mrs.
Steven Bayard Wilson, past-presidents; Mrs. Marvin B. Perry, first vice-president, and Mrs. George Lincoln Parker, third vice-president.

Mrs. Daniel M. Goodridge announced the dates of the Rummage Sale as Friday and Saturday, Novemlectures at the Museum of Fine Arts will be given on Friday, November 8th. As in former years, Mrs. Say-wood will be in charge, and her title for the lecture is "Christian Symbolism." Those planning to attend will

He was picked up by the police of that city as a suspicious character and the watches found on him. The Springfield police sent out a teletype report of finding the watches and Newton police went to Springfield and brought Hanabury back to this city. He was arraigned in the Newton court last Saturday and his case continued until November 1.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

ladies alighted, clad in various outfits worn fifty years, or more ago. The meeting opened promptly at 2:30 o'clock, Mrs. Franklin presiding after a welcome extended to the guests of the day, ten ladies from the Stone Institute, Mrs. George H. Jackson, recording secretary, in a dress made from a Paisley shawl, bright-green poke bonnet and feather, read her report in a good old-fashioned way.

It was voted to add the name of Mrs. Francis E. Nowers to the honorary membership.

Mrs. Harry S. Wells, in old-fashioned dress a la hoop-skirts, read a report in brief of the Annual Meeting of the State Federation held at Swampscott in May.

Mrs. Joseph A. Otis, in neat black silk, black velvet cape jacket and small black bonnet, gave a resume of the ten-day trip spent at the General Federation Meeting held in Detroit, Mrs. Franklin, Mrs. Jackson, Mrs. Dockstader, Mrs. Herman Place and Mrs. Otis were the Club's representatives at this meeting. Mrs. Ernest Dockstader, program chairman, also in hoop-skirts, presided over the afternoon's entertainment. Mrs. George N. Abbott, in a costume of the "good old days," playing her own accompaniment, sang "Billy Boy," "Flow Gently, Sweet Afton," and "Love's Old Sweet Song," everybody joining in the chorus.

Mr. A. H. Wilson, the speaker of the afternoon, whose subject was "Hoop-Skirts and Horse-Car Days," proved most entertaining. Pictures of old-time costumes showed the disaster that came to ladies wearing hoop-skirts getting on and off the old horse-drawn street cars and created much amusement.

Other Club members than those already mentioned in hoop skirts and old fashioned costumes were Mrs. J. Herbert Brown, Mrs. Edward H. Cameron, Mrs. Harry C. Brock, Mrs. Charles E. Cunningham, Mrs. Willard Church, Mrs. Clarence Eldridge, Miss Ruth Filene, Mrs. Elmer J. Peck, Mrs. Ernest Robinson, Mrs. Roy A. Stimson, Mrs. Chauncey Stimets, Mrs. Alfred Thayer, Mrs. Malcolm Warren and Mrs. Percival Waters.

At the conclusion of the meeting tea was served in the Parlors.

Dramatic Readings Entertain Literary Group

Mrs. J. Mace Andrews, of 7 Clyde st., was hostess to a group of thirty-five members of the Club on the afternoon of Monday, October 28th, when the Education committee gave its first Literary Afternoon for the 1935-1936 season. The program consisted of readings by Mrs. Paul E. Ellicker, chairman of the committee. The first group, of a dramatic nature, included a selection from Ouida's "Under Two Flags," "Blue Roses" (a fairy story), and "Life in the Late Seventeenth Hundred with Aunt Avis." The reader's interpretations showed understanding of her characters, and held the close attention of her audience. The second group, which may be classified as humorous character sketches, showed a keen sense of comedy, and provoked enjoyment and laughter. This group was composed of "Mother Helps with School Home Work," "Gasoline Buggy Days," "At the Ball Game with Betty," "Good-bye at the Pier," and "Lady with the Cops," the latter being the advice of a lady automobile driver. Mrs. Ellicker's interesting and widely-varied repertoire demonstrated her versatility and her ability to make her characters real, and provided a most happy program for the afternoon.

Assisting Mrs. Andrews at the tea following, were Mrs. William L. Voburn, Mrs. Fred C. Alexander, Miss Kitty Tompkins, and Miss Marian I. Prescott; and Mrs. Ellicker poured.

Program of Interesting Biographies

Mrs. Frank F. Davidson was hostess for the Auburndale Review Club on Tuesday, October 29th. An excellent program greatly enjoyed included papers by Club members, and music. Mrs. W. H. Medlicott gave an entertaining review of the "Autobiography of John Hay Hammond," who is now 80 years old. A mining engineer, he also became interested in irrigation and oil wells; financed business projects on a large scale successfully; and became a distinguished man with an international reputation, very thorough and absolutely honest.

Mrs. Susan F. Tuttle and Mrs. C. E. Valentine told of the Triennial of the General Federation at Detroit and narrated some of their experiences. Mrs. James G. Patterson's paper on "Paderewski," showed him to be much the same type of man as Mr. Hammond. Although interested in politics, he is best known as a wonderful musician. When asked to what he attributed his success, he replied, "one per cent talent, nine per cent luck, and ninety per cent work."

During the World War he dedicated himself to Poland, becoming her Prime Minister.

Mrs. W. G. Sampson, guest soloist, played "Mazurka," by Helmsdorf; "Waltz," by Levitzky; "To The Sea," and "Wandering Ice Berg," by MacDowell; and "Melodie," by Paderewski.

Booster For Chev. Trucks

The first 1936 Chevrolet truck to be delivered in Newton is that sold by the Silver Lake Chevrolet Company of 444 Watertown st. to the Newton News Company of 1280 Washington st., West Newton. David Cohen of the news company is a strong booster for Chevrolet trucks. He has used them for years and they stand up amazingly under the gruelling service they are subjected to in delivering papers; stopping and starting hundreds of times each day. No Religious Service In School

At the meeting of the Newton School Committee on Monday night the application of the newly organized Beth Emeth Congregation for permission to conduct religious services in the John Ward School at Chestnut Hill was refused. This congregation was recently organized by persons of the Jewish faith residing mostly in Chestnut Hill and Newton Centre. Upon receiving the application for the use of the school hall, the school committee referred the matter to City Solicitor Bartlett for a ruling. Some years ago a rule was established in this city that school buildings could not be used for sectarian purposes. Mr. Bartlett substantiated this rule by informing the committee that it is unconstitutional to permit the use of a school hall for a religious service. Permits were granted to the Needham Campaign Committee to hold rallies in the school halls on the following nights—Dec. 2, Weeks School, Davis School; Dec. 5, Emerson and Underwood Schools; Dec. 3, F. A. Day School; Dec. 7, Stearns School.

Pharmacy Week At Hubbard's

The display which has been in the window of the Hubbard Drug Store, 425 Centre st., Newton, in conjunction with the observance of National Pharmacy Week has impressed upon the people of Newton that a pharmacist is more than a merchant. He is a professional servant of the public, caring for your health and comfort. The window display at Hubbard's was arranged by George W. Oullet, one of the five registered pharmacists at this establishment. It depicts a prescription department and shows the various utensils used in mixing prescriptions, together with an interesting collection of herbs, plants, bark and roots from which drugs are obtained. Attention is also called to the fact that a registered pharmacist must have a knowledge of chemistry, botany, materia medica, toxicology, bacteriology and other subjects. The display has given added evidence of the unusual facilities which the Hubbard Drug Store possesses to aid in protecting the health of Newton people.—Adv.

Aldermen Make Appropriations

A meeting of the Board of Aldermen was held on Tuesday night. The petition of Robert Smith of Kaposia st., Auburndale, for a gasoline station permit at 449 Watertown st., Newtonville, was opposed by John Finelli. The proposed lot is part of the property formerly owned by the Silver Lake Cordage Company. In past years this was the most attractive manufacturing property in the city; the brick factory was surrounded by a large area of land, well grassed. Finelli called attention to the fact that there is now a filling station adjoining the proposed site, two directly across the street, and several more within a short distance. The entrance of another station would retard the proper development of the large property involved. Carl Schipper, speaking as a representative of

State Official Speaks On Crime

"A parent who gives an automobile to his 18-year-old son is putting into his hands the most dangerous of weapons — one far worse than a gun and under which at least 14 violations of the laws are common," said Edward C. R. Bagley, for 20 years connected with the State Department of Correction, in a talk to the Rotary Club Monday noon. In making this statement, Mr. Bagley was analyzing some of the reasons why the average age of criminals in institutions has dropped from 32 to less than 22 years in the past decade or so; and why he found on a recent visit to Sing Sing that 17 out of the 25 men in the Death House were under 21 years old.

"The causes of crime lie for the most part outside of the individual in the beginning and, in general, the community is far, far more responsible than any criminal for his initiation into wrongdoing. It is true that 45 per cent of the prison population in the country can be classed as 'defec-

Drove Uninsured Car—Case Filed

A charge against Julius Amendola, 304 Adams st., Newton, of driving an uninsured and unregistered automobile, was placed on file in the Newton court on Monday. Amendola had been previously arraigned in the Newton court on complaint of Patrolman Sartwell who testified that the defendant had been operating the car in this city since last August on a Texas registration. The case had been continued by Judge Bacon when John Finelli, attorney for the defendant claimed his client could operate the car in this State for a longer period than 30 days without a Massachusetts registration. Subsequently Amendola obtained liability insurance for the car.

Fifteen hundred men and women were served dinner in the Newton High School, about $60 in the cafeteria and the balance in one-half of the gymnasium.

Will Change Ordinances To Zone Land In Newton As Well As Buildings

Large Delegation of Jewish Residents Are Assured Religious Edifices Will Not Be Banned

A joint meeting of the Newton Board of Aldermen and the Newton Planning Board was held at City Hall on Monday night in conjunction with a public hearing on the proposed changes to the Newton Zoning ordinance. About 65 citizens were present, most of whom were persons of the Hebrew faith. They were concerned over a section in the ordinance amendments which would give the Board of Aldermen authority regarding the erection or use of buildings for churches or schools in single residence zones. Jewish residents of Newton, mostly living in Wards 6 and 5 recently organized a religious association and contemplated erecting a school for the teaching of the Hebrew language, history and allied subjects to their children, and also the erection of a synagogue.

The meeting on Monday night was called to order at 8 o'clock by President Gordon of the Aldermen. He explained that the purpose of the zoning changes is to have land zoned as well as buildings. He also stated that the changes would have nothing to do with the erection of houses of worship, in contradiction of an idea which has spread through the city. Gordon called on Ralph Cohn of 528 Commonwealth ave., as the representative of the gathering of citizens present. Mr. Cohn is the head of the new Emanuel Congregation. He said that the statement made by Mr. Gordon regarding houses of worship not being affected by the amendments to the zoning ordinance would quell the fears of those present.

City Solicitor Bartlett was called upon by Gordon to substantiate the statement that the zoning changes will not affect the erection of houses of worship. Bartlett said that the planned change in the ordinance gives anyone absolute right to build a church in any single residence zone. He commented, however, that it is within the power of the aldermen to include any restrictions they may see fit in the zoning amendments.

Alderman Cronin said—"This is a very important matter. It affects people in all parts of the city. We want to know whose brain conceived this ordinance, who wrote it, what is its purpose?" City Solicitor Bartlett answered that he had written the ordinance changes at the direction of the Claims and Rules Committee of

Need for relief of the particular type which the American Red Cross is dispensing to those in distress because of catastrophe and unemployment is as great this year as ever before, and I, as Mayor of the City of Newton, urge every person in our city to share with the Red Cross the service to humanity which that organization gives by enrolling as members during the annual roll call which begins November 11th.

Year after year the American Red Cross, locally as well as nationally, has served as a constructive agency relieving with food and clothing those unfortunate persons who suffer because of economic depressions fully as much as those throughout the world who are overcome by hurricanes, floods and other great disasters. In Newton the Red Cross membership has helped us a great deal.

Members will be enrolled until Thanksgiving Day. Let us show our appreciation of Red Cross service and our interest in those who are in need by joining at once.

Former Scouts In New Group

A group of former Boy Scouts of Troop 9, Newton, have formed an organization to be known as "Veterans of Daniel B. Burnett Scout Troop 9, Newton, Mass."

In 1914 this Boy Scout Troop was formed in West Newton, with Daniel B. Burnett as its Scout Master. At one time it numbered 54 scouts and occupied a prominent place in the Scout world of that day.

Its Scout Master and a number of its members enlisted in various branches of the service during the Great War and shortly after the war it disbanded.

The object of the veteran organization is to bring former members into touch once more, for during intervening years they have become widely scattered. It is also proposed to encourage their own sons or the sons of friends to enlist in some scout troop, or to aid in establishing new scout units where needed.

The work of enrollment has gone on vigorously and nearly half of its eligible members, seventy-five in number, have been enrolled. From its membership the following officers were elected, and suitable committees appointed: President, Fred L. Smith; Vice President, William A. Matthews; Secretary, John F. Brocklesby; Treasurer, Edward Wilson.

A further step was taken by the formation of a list of honorary members, and to date the following have been enrolled: Edward R. Kimball, James C. Irwin, J. M. Carley, and Leroy Leland, former Scout Commissioners, all of Norumbega district; Dennis M. Cronin, Lawyer, John J.

Eddy, Scout Committeeman, and Mrs. W. A. Matthews and Mrs. Carl Reichert, Members of Auxiliary.

Form Children's Singing Guild

The musical club of children heretofore known as the Radio Robins, who have made such a record for successful performances during the past three years, are this season organizing into a regularly incorporated club, under the title of the Children's Singing Guild of Newton. The importance of the organization may be gauged by the importance of the board of directors, which includes a representative from each of the leading children's charities and societies in the city. Officers of the Children's Singing Guild will be: President, Rev. Leonard M. Outerbridge; Vice-President, Norman A. Hall, representing the Newton Centre Improvement Association, and the Business Men's Association; Hon. Vice-President (always to be an active member of the club) Master Theodore (Teddy) Sweeney, one of the charter members, now in his fourth year of work with the organization; Treasurer, Rupert C. Thompson, Jr., representing the Kiwanis Club; Secretary, Mrs. Irving E. Carter of Auburndale, representing the mothers of the club, Mr. Ernst Hermann, Superintendent of Playgrounds; Mrs. M. Raymond Green, representing the ladies of the Kiwanis; Hon. Sinclair Weeks, Mayor of the city, representing the City; Mrs. Charles Myers of West Newton, representing the Pomroy Home; Mrs. Harold Jenks, of Newton, representing the Newton "Brownies"; Mrs. C. L. Hathaway of West Newton, representing the Mothers' Rest; Mrs. John Thayer Cushing of Newtonville, representing the B. U. Council of Women; Mrs. Thomas H. Russell of Brookline, representing the Boston Y. M. C. A.; Mrs. Chas. B. Wilbar, representing the Peabody Home for Crippled Children.

Mrs. Florence Wood Russell has organized and trained this group of children for three years, during which time they have proved their talent and won many laurels for themselves and for their city. Their Boston performances in the R. H. White auditorium and in the Repertory Theatre, have been witnessed by hundreds from greater Boston, and the fact that children seven and eight could sing and interpret the Gilbert and Sullivan scores has been proof positive that this little band contains some unusually gifted members. This winter's productions are to be the very charming musical fantasy by Charles Roper of Boston, "Penny Buns and Roses," and for the spring opera, the "Mikado." Just at present the children are engaged in learning some of Ye Olde Tyme dances, last week's rehearsal being devoted to the Virginia Reel, which delighted their young hearts with its gaiety. The by-laws of the club state that "any child, a resident of Newton, between the ages of five and fifteen, possessed of the ability to sing a scale correctly, may become a member of the Children's Guild, with the

New Group Formed To Aid Foreign Women

Twice a month on Monday afternoons, the Stearns School Centre, a member agency of the Newton Community Chest Inc., offers to the foreign women of the neighborhood a chance to meet for recreation and an opportunity to hear leaders on such subjects as Child Training, Foods, etc.

Florence Marguerite Fuller and Miss Florence Heard, two members of the Board of Directors, are particularly interested in this group and will meet with these women as leaders.

Last Monday and Tuesday Mrs. George W. Auryansen and Mrs. Cecil Clark were hostesses and guides to the interested women in the city who visited the Stearns School Centre, a member agency of the Newton Community Chest, Inc., to see some of the various activities carried on in the clubs and classes.

Those taking part in the tableau at the West Newton Armory during the pageant of The Agencies are Mrs. George Brown, Mrs. John Costa, Mrs. Rebecca Longbottom, Mrs. Leo Conzo, Mrs. J. Piselli, Mrs. Joseph Visco of the two women's clubs and Miss Betty Conzo and Masters Leo and Patsy Conzo. Mrs. Conzo and her children depict the mother and the child, and monotonous of doing the same thing over and over, and then the scene changes to the fun and change offered the mother in a club.

RESTORES ENGLISH MANOR HOUSE "OLD COMFORT"

Mr. J. Murray, Quincy, the noted interior decorator, will give a free lecture on Tuesday, Nov. 15, at 10 a. m. at 26 Arlington st., Wellesley Hills, entitled "Home Building and Period Decorating," and those interested in this work for their own home or as a profession are invited to attend. An illustrated booklet will be presented at the lecture.

"Y" Men Hold Dinner To Continue Friendships

To continue and consolidate the friendships formed by serving together in the Newton Y. M. C. A. Annual Club Night on Wednesday, Oct. 16, the staff of workers met at dinner at the "Y" Friday, Oct. 25th. Mr. F. B. Eastman, chairman of the Men's Program Committee, presided. After a blessing by the Rev. Dr. Eusden of the Y. M. C. A. Personal Guidance Division, dinner was served, followed by some very enjoyable vocal selections by Mr. William Petrie, leader of the Y. M. C. A. Glee Club. Mr. Petrie sang, among other numbers, "Home on the Range" and "Old Man River."

Each club leader spoke. Mr. Aleck Zinck, leader of the Debating Club, outlined the plans of his group. The Debating Teams, which consisted of Messrs. John Finelli and Lawrence Winston, was given a real ovation for its splendid showing against the Harvard Debating Team Wednesday night. Mr. Richard Lee, who coached the team, shared this ovation. Mr. Bascom of the Personal Guidance Division, extended a cordial, fatherly invitation to young men to avail themselves of the kindly helpfulness of this board.

Mr. Richard Lee spoke on the Prospective's Discussion Groups and their activity. Frank Paquin, chief of all recreational clubs, spoke as leader of the Chess and Checker Club and added his usual touch of humor to the event. Mr. Boyd Hayden explained the high goal of his Stamp Club which promises to make the Newton Y. M. C. A. Stamp Club one of the ethics in New England. Mr. Bruton spoke of the work of the Educational Classes, particularly the Public Speaking Class, and touched upon the advantages which this course has brought to many men. The Y. M. C. A. open Forum was described by leader Henry Pierce.

The evening was brought to a close with a very interesting and instructive smoke talk by the leader of the Hiking Club, Mr. Russ Marden. Mr. Marden's extensive experience as a soldier in the World War, a sailor under two flags, a cowpuncher and sheep herder were drawn upon during his colorful and absorbing description of hiking, including some of the technique known to Indians, army practices and explorers in the jungle. Mr. Marden said that the present-day interest in hiking is impelled by a desire to lift the present generation from decadence and softness, pointing out that there must be a moral or spiritual incentive as well as physical ability and training. The dinner was well attended and each event was thoroughly enjoyed.

Coach Sanborn has nearly his whole squad for the first time in the ready for the Worcester Commerce encounter. Only Pete Donavan and Jim McEwen, ends, are sidelined on account of injuries, while Captain Ernie Savignano is virtually in top form, and will start the game at quarterback.

Newton's football team lost Gerry DeNapoli, veteran senior guard, during the Rindge game. DeNapoli twisted a ligament in his right leg and is lost to the team for the season.

Worcester's Record, to date is as follows:

NEWTON ELEVEN IS WEAK ON SWEEPS

Newton High had several things to cheer about after their one-sided victory in Cambridge last Saturday, but the defense against off-tackle plays and end sweeps was deplorably lacking. Rindge used end sweeps and reverses off tackle so successfully that 12 attempts went for a total of 160 yards, an average of about 13.3 yards at a try. Through the line between the Newton tackles, Rindge backs made a net gain of nine yards in nine attempts during the second and third quarters.

Excepting for four passes, completed for a total of 63 yards and one touchdown, Newton gained largely between the ends, making 104 yards in 18 attempts up to the time of the second touchdown, an average of 5.2 yards per play. Savignano's very fine tackle cut backs were the most damaging gains by Newton through the line, and Paul Forte's 13-yard gallop was the only very successful end run. Newton's pass defense proved stronger than usual, holding Rindge to two completions in seven attempts for a total of 53 yards and a touchdown. With all due justice to the losers, Savignano's failure to block down the Rindge scoring pass was due to a momentary lapse on his part, and not to any flaw in the Sanborn pass defense.

On the offense, Newton coasted through Saturday with no attempt at deception, putting on a much less spectacular attack than Rindge. Savignano's good right arm placed four out of seven forward passes in the hands of Newton receivers, which makes the outlook for coming games very interesting, to say the least. But aside from the single well-executed pass play, Newton got what it did by straight pre-war football, bucking the Rindge line steadily backward to their own goal line.

With the exception of the weakness against end sweeps which was brought to light by the powerful Rindge running attack, Newton looked better than at any time this year.

NEWTON IS 15-7 VICTOR OVER RINDGE ELEVEN

Newton High spoiled Rindge Tech's chance of winning the Suburban League football title by grinding out an uphill 15-7 victory last Saturday at Russell Field in Cambridge. Captain Ernie Savignano, Newton's quarterback, hit his stride for the first time since a leg injury forced him to the sidelines a month ago.

After a bad break in the first period, when Captain Savignano blocked a Rindge pass right into the arms of Ed. Duest of Rindge, to give the home team a 6-2 lead, the Newton quarterback was the best man on the field. Safety Lead Countered by Rindge Drive

Newton got away to a good start. Howie Milner downed a Newton punt on the Rindge four-yard line. A wild pass from centre got away from Johnny Maloney, rolled over the end zone, and Newton was two points to the good by virtue of a technical safety.

But Rindge was not long in retaliating. After an exchange of kicks, the Tech team took the ball at the 20-yard line. Two plays around right end brought the ball to the 40, and a drive of left end went 20 yards more to the Newton 40, where Salvucci made the tackle. Maloney then circumnavigated his right end for 20 yards, a third first-down in three consecutive plays. An end run to the left gained only three yards, so Banniewicz faded back and heaved a 30-yard pass to Ed. Duest in the end zone. Ernie Savignano was an unwilling accessory in the play, knocking the ball squarely into the receiver's grasp. Maloney dropped the point and Rindge led 7-2.

Rindge Threats Die

After their single powerful drive for a score in the first quarter, Rindge became less and less potent. Newton yielded the ball only four times, and the white-jerseyed Tech machine was stopped successively at the Newton 25, at midfield, at the Rindge 32 and the Newton 38-yard lines.

After the second kickoff of the game, Newton advanced to the Rindge 42 in three plays, but Savignano fumbled, Rindge taking the ball at midfield on the third play of the second period. A reverse off-tackle took Rindge 20 yards, but three weak line jabs and a grounded pass gave the ball to Newton.

Ernie Savignano was through making mistakes, and now engineered a 50-yard thrust deep into Rindge territory. Paul Forte got clear at right end, but stumbled after a short gain. Savignano hit right tackle and cut back beautifully to bring the ball clear to midfield. A 30-yard pass, Savignano to Prowten, was completed, but the Newton end fumbled and Rindge recovered at the 23-yard line.

Four Rindge plays, the last a reverse end sweep, carried to the 50-yard line, but a penalty forced Maloney to kick. The Rindge ace punted to Forte at the Newton 40, and Forte returned the ball yards down the left sideline, fifty yards straight across the field, and ten yards ahead at the opposite sideline in an amazing, almost leisurely runback. A clipping penalty, however, set Newton back to their own 40. Newton made a first down on line plays, then fumbled, recovering at the 50-yard line.

Three Plays Make 50 Yards

The next three plays took Newton to the touchdown. Savignano passed to Duane at the 30. Paul Forte circled left end for 12 yards to the 18. Savignano carried to the right, cut back sharply through tackle, and left the Rindge back flat-footed as he raced into the end zone. Walker waded through the line standing up, made the point, and Newton led 9-7. The first half ended four plays later.

Newton seemed destined to score again soon after the kickoff in the third period as Savignano and Reardon alternated in line plays for a 34-yard march to the Tech 11-yard mark, but here Rindge took the ball on downs and at once gained 21 yards around the end on a fake kick formation. Rindge stalled there, Maloney kicked to Herick, and Newton started again at midfield. Rindge took the ball on downs again, jumped to the Newton 40 with a single good pass, but again slowed up. From that point, Newton was to score after 15 plays.

The longest gain of the last Newton march was a 12-yard thrust through the center of the Rindge line by Savignano. Herick, MacLeod, Woodward and Thompson each had a hand in it, and almost every yard of the distance was made on a sharp smash at the middle of the Rindge line somewhere between the tackles. It was the eleventh play of the last quarter, with the rain pouring down steadily, when Newton had the ball on the Rindge four-yard line with fourth down and the goal to make. Savignano dropped the line-smashing tactics, threw a smart running pass to George Duane across the goal line, and Newton had put the game on ice. The attempt to kick the goal failed, and Newton's lead was 15-7, the final score. The ball remained in the Rindge end of the field for the rest of the game, neither team making great headway in the downpour, and Rindge was chased back to their five-yard line on a fumble just as the game was over.

The recent Republican successes and approaching national elections have given an added impetus to the enthusiasm of young men to play a part in affairs of government.

Hallow'en Festivities At Stone Institute For Aged

What a variety of Hallow'en entertainments, one may read about these days, but an afternoon never to be forgotten, was tendered the ladies of the Stone Institute, on Thursday, October 31st.

The hostesses for the day were Mrs. Albert Fowle and Mrs. Drummond of Newton Centre, who presented an exhibit of rare articles gathered on a trip round the world, by Mrs. Fowle.

The spacious library was like some foreign bazaar. The walls were hung with artistic panels of finest material. Attractive kimonoas of every color and variety of floral embroidery from Japan and China. Jewels of unusual design and carved goods of wonderful workmanship.

A robe worn by an ancient priest and brass containers used to carry holy water to different points. Also many photographs, giving one such an idea of temples, gardens and foreign interiors.

After a delightful repast, the day ended with bon bons, rattles and horns. A noisy reminder of our younger days.

(Editor's note—The above was written and contributed to our news columns by one of the ladies at the Stone Institute.)

After the game, Supt. of Schools Julius E. Warren addressed the school.

Tuesday, the teachers at the F. A. Day were guests of the Bigelow Junior High for a talk given by Ella Enslow, author of several articles in the Saturday Evening Post and Schoolhouse in the Footlights.

The F. A. Day was held on Wednesday to Supt. Warren and some of the teachers of Newton. Mr. Warren administered the oath of allegiance to the teachers at a short ceremony.

Warren Jr. High

On Monday afternoon, October 28, over two hundred students of Warren heard Captain Stanley Osborne, a native of Australia, give a dramatic travesty on "Africa Without Lions," illustrating his talk with beautifully colored slides, he showed not "Darkest Africa, where lions are now hunted in motor cars" but "Brightest Africa" presenting an unforgettable picture of a part of the world little known to the students.

An interesting, as well as instructive, assembly period was held Friday, October 25, under the direction of Miss Hasty. An explanation of how to vote by Australian ballot was read by Virginia Graham and demonstrated by a group of students, in preparation for the Junior I election of class officers to be held soon.

"A Corporal Drills His Recruits," a humorous skit, was presented by Joe Humes.

The last part of the assembly period was devoted to the Community Chest and what it means to Newton. To "Newton," holding a community chest, came many students representing all sorts of occupations, each contributing his part to the chest. Also summoned to "Newton," came students representing fourteen agencies which care for the sick and aged, the unfortunate, and the young people of the community. As the agencies described their work briefly, "Newton" gave each one a box, and at the end when they were all clustered about her, she scattered bills and coins, which they caught in their boxes, symbolizing the contributions given by the Good Neighbors of Newton.

The interschool soccer tournament started Thursday with the first and second teams of the Bigelow and Day Schools competing. The squads at Bigelow are made up of outstanding players from the home room teams which have been playing an intraschool schedule this fall. The interest in these games ran high since no individual home room outdistanced another. Many play off winners to date are: 7th grade, room 107; 8th grade, room 128; 9th grade, a tie between rooms 122 and 109.

The Publications League accepted an invitation extended by the Week staff to hold its final meeting in May at this school.

A large and enthusiastic Parent-Teacher Association meeting was held in the school auditorium on Tuesday evening, October 29. Following the routine business, the Rev. Ben Roberts, president of the Association, introduced Mr. Julius Warren, superintendent of schools, who in turn presented the new principal of the school, Mr. Raymond W. Blaisdell. Both Mr. Warren and Mr. Blaisdell, in their talks, paid tribute to the work and character of Mr. Carr, late principal. Mr. Blaisdell gave an interesting explanation of his conception of the aims and purposes of the junior high school, stressing particularly its subject organization in regional guidance. Mr. F. Wilson Lane, a Weeks' parent, rendered that they held an appeal of child interest. In concluding the program, Dr. George F. H. Bowers answered many questions propounded by parents relative to the health program and situation of the school. Following the meeting, teachers returned to their respective home rooms where they were interviewed by the parents.

It was announced at the P. T. A. meeting that the next Parents' Day will be observed on Thursday, November 14, and thereafter, on the second Monday of each month.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Adam and Fallen Man" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 10. The Golden Text is: "Lord, who shall abide in thy tabernacle? who shall dwell in thy holy hill? He that walketh uprightly, and worketh righteousness, and speaketh the truth in his heart" (Psalm 15: 1, 2).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness; that the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all good works" (II Timothy 3:16, 17).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Christian Science separates error from truth, and breathes through the sacred pages the spiritual sense of life, substance, and intelligence. In this Science, we discover man in the image and likeness of God. We see that man has never lost his spiritual estate and his eternal harmony" (p. 548).

Auburndale Man
Coal Gas Victim

Edward Gage Chamberlain, 91, of 392 Wolcott st., Auburndale, died at the Newton Hospital on Monday morning from the effects of inhaling coal gas from a kitchen range. Early Sunday morning neighbors heard moans coming from the Chamberlain residence and were unable to arouse Miss Abigail Chamberlain who resided with her brother, and who is partially deaf. They notified Dr. C. P. Hutchinson of Ware rd., Auburndale, the family physician and he called the police for assistance. A kitchen window at the house was forced open and Dr. Hutchinson, together with Patrolmen Smith and Tobin entered the house. Mr. Chamberlain was found lying unconscious in the dining room. He had been working on a crossword puzzle when he was overcome. The coal gas was not present in sufficient quantity to have affected a rugged person but Mr. Chamberlain's health had been failing recently.

Edward G. Chamberlain was born in Boston in 1844 and has lived in Newton since 1864. He had formerly been a civil engineer and his avocation was astronomy, in which study he was quite expert. He was a member of the Appalachian Club and the Coast Survey Club in Boston. He is survived by his sister; and a brother, Daniel Chamberlain of Gardiner, Maine. His funeral service was held at noon Wednesday in Newton Cemetery chapel; Rev. Ralph Rogers of Auburndale Congregational Church officiated.

State Official
Talks on Crime

tive delinquents," but society ought to find better means of handling them than to incarcerate them after they have run into trouble. The chief factors, Mr. Bagley mentioned, as definitely responsible in the community were: broken homes, automobiles, dance halls, and mistaken newspaper publicity. In the matter of the news, Mr. Bagley feels that a large proportion of criminals are susceptible to the appeal of the headlines and desire to follow in the steps of the fellow who makes the front page through some acts of criminal daring. If the papers would give the same emphasis to acts of conspicuous service, many a youngster would be inclined to follow along those lines instead of drifting into crime.

One very striking comment of Mr. Bagley was to the effect that the "lifer" is usually one of the model prisoners. A study of the records of 136 "lifers" in Charlestown showed that 107 had never been in trouble prior to the violent crime which brought them there, indicating strongly that murders are not the premeditated work of "bad" men. Further indication of this is offered in the fact that out of about 100 of this type who have been released on parole within Mr. Bagley's experience, only two have been returned to State Prison, and these two were not sent back for crimes of violence.

The Massachusetts penal system suffers greatly from the fact that there are no facilities for classifying the criminals and segregating them according to their characteristics and the desirable remedial methods. Instead, all are herded together, treated alike, and turned out rather more than better in too many cases. The fault lies not with the administration of the system but with society itself which has not yet awakened to the seriousness of the annual bill of about 17 billions of dollars for the maintenance of police systems, courts, penal institutions and for the material and financial losses themselves which the criminal inflicts on the community.

What young people need more than they need gifts of automobiles — or guns — is the gift of a little time and personal interest. Fathers owe their children more time and more attention, and service clubs and other community institutions owe the youth of the community much closer personal relations than they now give.

Auto Fumes Kill

Spring, who formerly conducted a hardware supply business at Newton Lower Falls. He had been associated with his father in that business and later conducted the C. Fred Spring Company at Cypress st., Newton Centre. He is survived by his widow and two children. His funeral service will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 in St. Mary's Church, Newton Lower Falls.

the Board of Aldermen; that he had made the provisions strict, and had conferred twice with the committee regarding the amendments. Ira Nelson of Kenwood ave., Newton Centre, asked if it is the practice of the Aldermen to redraft the zoning ordinance. Alderman Holden said the Claims and Rules Committee had no thought of restricting churches. Mr. Cohn requested that his organization be given an opportunity to be heard in case the Aldermen consider making any changes in the ordinance which will affect houses of worship.

Alderman Cronin asked why the reference to churches and schools was made in the ordinance amendment when the proposed change is being made allegedly for the purpose of restricting gravel pits. City Solicitor Bartlett said that the original ordinance did not deal with schools and churches, and the change was proposed so that provisions are made for accessory buildings. Alderman Floyd stated that there are various types of schools, including trade schools, reform schools and schools for feeble-minded. He said he had asked for this change so that such types of schools can be kept out of single residence districts. City Solicitor Bartlett explained that after Newton passed its zoning ordinance in 1922, the Legislature authorized the zoning of land and the changes are made to conform with the present law.

The report of the Claims and Rules Committee and Planning Board relative to the zoning changes contained a number of comments. The first comment states: "The purpose of this amendment is to indicate that the regulation of the use of land is among the objects of this ordinance. The section (556) which caused the large delegation to come to City Hall on Monday night, according to the amended ordinance, reads as follows: Paragraph A. 'In single residence districts, except as provided in Section 562 and in paragraphs B and C of this section, no building or structure, nor any part thereof, shall be erected, constructed, or built, nor shall be used for any purpose other than a dwelling for no more than one family, a church, or a school not operated for profit, provided that a school shall not include a trade, industrial or reform school; provided further that buildings or structures may be erected, and buildings, structures or lands be used for such accessory purposes as are proper and usual with residences for single families, churches or schools, and are not injurious to the neighborhood as a place for residence for single families; accessory purposes shall not include a private garage with provisions for more than three automobiles.'"

The amended ordinance provides that no part of the city can be used as a public or private dump except by permission of the Board of Aldermen. It also forbids the removal of soil, loam, subsoil, sand or gravel for the purpose of sale thereof, except by permission of the Aldermen.

Legion Ball At Armory

Commander of Cambridge Post, American Legion.

At nine o'clock a grand march will be led by Mayor Sinclair Weeks, who was Commander of Newton Post in 1929; at 10:00 o'clock the "Legion Guards," commanded by Captain George Hennrikus and Lt. Joseph Ward, will put on a drill, and at eleven o'clock a patriotic tableau will be staged under the direction of Service Officer Leon H. Mayer. The committee in charge has arranged for other features for the entertainment of the Legionnaires and their friends, and Harold A. Bailey, chairman in charge of the ticket distribution, has announced that the advance sale of tickets has surpassed the sale of other years.

The committee in charge is composed of J. Sherman Irving as chairman, assisted by N. Irving Patterson, Daniel J. Wilkers, Francis Dailey, Francis D. Duggan, Edward Nolan, John Nolan, Harold A. Bailey, Clifford S. J. White, Edward F. Dalton, and Past Commander Francis J. Barry.

Auto Hits Girl At Newtonville

Helen Hoffman, 17, of 1601 Centre st., Newton Highlands was hit and injured on Saturday night by an automobile driven by George Larson of 37 St. Mary st., Brookline. She was taken to the office of Dr. Cecil Clark by Patrolmen Cummings and Gaquin. According to Larson's report the girl was one of a group of four who started to cross the street when the car approached. Two returned to the sidewalk they had left, the third hastened to the opposite sidewalk and the Hoffman girl was struck.

Newtonville Woman Holds Art Benefit

Mrs. William E. Strong of 59 Lowell ave., Newtonville, and her twin sister, Mrs. Henry S. Stearns, will hold a joint exhibition of their paintings in the Art Room of the Main Library, from Nov. 10-23.

Both sisters have studied with Mattila Gilbert, an English artist, Charles R. Loomis of Hartford, and Mr. Robert F. Jackson of Brookline. Mrs. Stearns uses the palette knife entirely for her work in oil. Her instructor for this technique was Mrs. Frederick Luquens of New Haven, Connecticut.

Community Chest Dinner Attended By 1500 Persons

der that Seller's might set up for the dinner and clearing the cafeteria earlier than usual for the same reason. Mr. Warren stated that he felt the success of the 1935 Campaign is of such vital importance to the community that the School Department should go the limit to help towards its success.

In addition, there has been a Committee of School Teachers who prepared a series of activities for the schools throughout the city, to give a complete understanding of the Chest, its work and that of the member-agencies to the school children, that they might discuss it at home.

Preliminary reports indicate a 100 percent enrollment of all school employees, in all departments and divisions, in the 1935 Community Chest Campaign.

Dinner Program Brief

Rev. Dr. Boynton Merrill asked grace at the group-dinner in the cafeteria, where Mr. Maynard Hutchinson presided and Rev. John A. Sheridan asked grace in the gymnasium where Executive Director L. A. Bruce, Jr. presided.

No Head Tables

Following Community Chest practice, there were no head tables in either dinner group. Following the dinner, there were brief announcements by the presiding officer of each group and then the workers adjourned to the Armory. Between the Armory and the High School, about 300 more workers were gathered in, so that almost every seat of the 1,800 in the Armory was taken.

Brief Talks Tell of Campaign

Mayor Sinclair Weeks opened the meeting at the Armory with brief talk, urging support of the agencies of the Chest, saying that Federal funds did not aid any of them in any degree. He urged every citizen to "Be a Good Neighbor" and give generously to the Chest Campaign.

Executive Director L. A. Bruce, Jr., explained the details of the material and equipment supplied to the workers and stated that "this year we have a winning crew."

Campaign Director Maynard Hutchinson spoke briefly, emphasizing the needs for 1936, ending with the message of belief that the Campaign would reach its quota of $186,347.20 and closing with "God Speed and Happy Landings."

Dramatic and Colorful Pageant
8:30 saw the opening of the Pageant, written and directed by Mr. William V. M. Fawcett, Chairman of the Opening Dinner Committee and his group of effective workers. The pageant started with the Voice of the Community Chest, which sprang from the minds and hearts of the people of Newton.

Each agency was explained thoroughly, its work discussed and there were striking and moving tableaux depicting phases of the work of each. From the comments afterwards, all the workers felt that they understood better than ever before what each of the fourteen member-agencies of the Newton Community Chest stands for and that there would be a better job done, with better coverage than ever before.

12,000 Pledges Needed

Twelve thousand individual pledges are needed this year to bring Newton into the average class of Community Chest cities. Last year, but one person in eight in Newton subscribed to the Chest, whereas the general average was one person in six.

In addition, about a 15 percent increase in the average pledge is necessary to bring Newton up to the average in that classification. All who heard the figures on Monday night were emphatic in their statements that "Newton is not a sub-average city" and this year will prove it by the results both in numbers pledged and in the average pledge.

Municipal Division—General Group

Preliminary reports from this group, headed by Mr. Harry A. Hageman, Building Commissioner, as Vice-Chairman of the Municipal Division, indicate that there will be a 100 percent subscription to the Campaign with a good average pledge.

The Municipal Division has been called the "pace-setter" for the Campaign and they have started with a pace that the Residential Division will follow, showing up equally well, Campaign officers believe.

Campaign headquarters plan to issue daily reports to Village Chairmen and the reports will be delivered by Boy and Girl Scouts to the Campaign headquarters established in each Village.

Moore, Mrs. Everett Varney, and Mrs. George C. Hutchinson received Honorable Mention.

Newton Community Club

The delightful Bridge which was given at the Hollis on October 31st, was sponsored by the Veterans' Division of the Community Service Club, Mrs. Louis J. Hunter, chairman and Mrs. David Black, General chairman. The hostess for the party was Miss F. Marion Barry, and Club members and their friends were welcomed to the large dining and reception rooms, where nineteen tables were soon filled.

The delicious refreshments were in charge of Mrs. Lillian Davis; candy, Mrs. Richard Smith; prizes, Mrs. Louis J. Hunter; tickets, Mrs. Charles M. Foster, and Mrs. Ronald Jones; and the Club is indebted to Miss Emily Day and Miss Frances Carter for the use of the Hollis.

The sum realized from the sale of tickets will be used for the purchase of worsted; this to be made by Club members into socks for invalid veterans. Only three Clubs in the Newton Federation, of which the Newton Community Club is one, have committees for Veteran-aid work. Embroidered linens, native dolls, and photographs were among the articles exhibited by Mrs. Harold Higgins to illustrate her Talk given for the International committee, at the home of Mrs. LeRoy P. Guion, on October 28th. One of the interesting facts given by Mrs. Higgins was the method in which a lecture was delivered before the International Physiological Congress in Russia, and which shows some evidence of progress. The listener was provided with five ear-phones, each transmitting the speech in a different language, so all the people from various nations could understand what was being said.

Newtonville Woman's Club

The members of the Newtonville Woman's Club were welcomed graciously to another year of activity by the president, Mrs. H. Clayton Pearson, at the first regular meeting which was held at the Club House at 61 Washington park, on Tuesday, November 5th.

Mrs. J. L. Parker, president of the Newtonville Federation, and Mrs. Albert Hutchinson, made an appeal, in a most unique dialogue, for the Newton Community Chest.

The annual request for toys to be given to the poor children of Newton was made by Mrs. Ralph W. Cohn, who also announced classes now opened to members.

Mrs. Raymond Tucker, chairman of the Ways and Means committee, called attention to the Armistice Bazaar to be held November 13th and 14th at the Club House.

Mrs. Randolph S. Merrill, chairman of Music, presented Sylvester Carter, Tenor, who gave his audience much enjoyment with several "Spirituals."

In the absence of Mrs. Alice Dixon on Bond, chairman of Program, Mrs. Austin H. Decatur presented Suzanne Silvercruys (Mrs. Henry W. Farnum, Jr.), noted Belgian sculptor.

Madame Silvercruys gave a most interesting talk on art, and on her personal experiences, while her expressive hands were actually modeling a head. Her wit and philosophy gave her audience many entertaining and inspiring thoughts to take away with them.

Fined For Drunken Driving

Stephen Black of 102 Boyd st., Newton, was fined $50 in the Newton court on Tuesday for driving a car while under the influence of liquor. Patrolmen Mague and Goodale testified that Black's car nearly collided with the cruising car they were in at 2 a. m. that morning.

Silas W. Pierce of 82 Taylor st., Waltham was fined $50 in the Newton court on Saturday for driving a car while under the influence of liquor. Unlike most autoists arrested for such an offence, Mr. Pierce promptly admitted his guilt and took no appeal.

Lend-a-Hand Club Bridge At Copley Plaza

The annual bridge and fashion show of the All Souls Lend-a-Hand Club, Inc., will be held in the ballroom of the Copley Plaza Hotel, Boston, on Monday afternoon, November 18th, at two o'clock. An interesting and colorful afternoon is assured. Mrs. Edward C. Nichols is chairman in charge of bridge and is assisted by a committee which includes Mrs. Palmer York of West Newton, Mrs. Donald M. Hill in assisting with the fashion show and Mrs. E. Melville Hill of Newton Centre is chairman of properties. Mrs. William D. Fuhr is chairman of the hostesses which include from Newton, Mrs. Edwin H. Dyer of Auburndale, Mrs. James H. Ritchie, and Mrs. E. M. Hill of Newton Centre, Mrs. Frederick G. Holcomb of Newton Highlands, and Mrs. Albert B. Cram of Newton.

Aldermen Address Members of Oak Hill Imp. Asso.

Approximately seventy residents of the Oak Hill District gathered at the Charles River Country Club on Friday evening, Nov. 1st, to attend the Semi-Annual Meeting of the Oak Hill District Improvement Association.

Alderman Donald D. McKay spoke in behalf of the Community Chest Drive, calling attention to the fact that 800 individuals contribute two-thirds of the amount given to these worthy charities. The balance is raised from the canvassing. About 24,000 individuals benefit by these activities. Alderman Clifford H. Walker, in praising the value of Improvement Associations, suggested that a committee should be created to watch and supervise the possibilities of future real estate development.

Alderman Clarence C. Colby described the new Ward alignment designed to equalize voting strength and fair representation on the Board of Aldermen. He argued in favor of the seven Ward plan—so rearranged as to maintain village entities. The newly proposed Ward seven which would include the Oak Hill District would have a voting strength of 3500.

Alderman George E. Rawson extolled the virtues of the Zoning Ordinances both as now existing and the proposed changes in this law that would zone the use of land. He praised present city officials for having secured for Newton the lowest tax rate in the state and the best credit of any city in the country.

Commissioner of Public Works in Newton, Mr. Ellis, then spoke on the functions of the Street, Water and Engineering Departments of the City of Newton. He described the duties of caring for the 260 miles of roads in the city—73 miles of which are at present unimproved. Mr. Ellis said that the city had received Federal aid in the financing of the Sewer Project which will lead into the Oak Hill District, amounting to 45 percent of its cost, and that work would commence on this undertaking before the first of the year. He believed the Oak Hill District should develop tremendously during the next few years because of its proximity to Boston; its type of home development and improvements being provided by the city.

Miss Gohinet Hurley made a report of a committee of which she was chairman, recommending rezoning the Turnpike area from a two-family zone to a Single Residence Zone. She also referred to the Oak Hill Improvement Association that was founded some forty years ago which included such old families as the Kings, Wales, Sanderson, East, Ayres and Hurley. The organization at that time asked for street lights and a patrolman instead of a resident constable.

There was a considerable amount of discussion over the area to be rezoned for business purposes in the Oak Hill Village. It was voted to uphold the officers and directors of the association who had previously appeared at a hearing favoring the rezoning. Informal discussion followed the meeting; also refreshments.

Aldermen Meet

The Newtonville Improvement Association, said this organization had not sufficient knowledge of the matter and asked that action on it be deferred until more information could be obtained.

Appropriations passed by the Board included: Street Department, improvement of Langdon rd., $1400; Weldon rd., $2419; Westchester rd., $7820; sewer at Edmonds Park, $3400. Welfare Department, poor out of city home, $5000; mother's aid, $2000; temporary clerks, $50. Law Department, claims for alleged damage to houses/ by blasting during sewer tunnel in 1933, Earl Clayton, Salisbury rd., $200; Lillian Smith, Waverley ave., $350; Margaret Chaloux, injuries from falling on a defective sidewalk, $400. Workmen's Compensation, $2962. Cleaning out ponds in front of city hall, $100. Pension for Thomas Matthews, $188.22.

Alderman Cronin commented that the expense for cleaning mud out of the ornamental ponds in front of city hall had become an annual affair. He asked if some means cannot be devised to prevent these ponds from becoming filled with silt each year? A concrete weir was built in Cold Spring Brook to prevent mud from flowing into the ponds, but it has not stopped the silt as it was expected to do.

ALL NEWTON MUSIC SCHOOL

On three consecutive Sunday evenings, the following hostesses opened their houses for musicales given by the students of the All Newton Music School: Mrs. William B. H. Dowse, of West Newton on Sunday, Oct. 20th; Mrs. William Colburn of Chestnut Hill on Oct. 27th, and the last of the series was at the home of Mrs. Henry O. Marcy, Jr., in Newton on Nov. 3rd.

These concerts were sponsored by the All Newton Music School in the interests of the Publicity Campaign of the Newton Community Chest.

Clergyman Asks City For Damages

Rev. Edward J. McLaughlin, a clergyman at a church in Oak square, Brighton, has filed a claim against the City of Newton for injuries received on September 15 when he was thrown to the floor of an automobile on Lagrange st., Newton Centre, near the West Roxbury line. The claim states that he received injuries to his head, neck and back and he alleges that a rise in the street over a culvert caused him to lose his seat in the car.

Bryn-Mawr Benefit At Fessenden School

The Newton group of Bryn Mawr College graduates is planning a benefit lecture in aid of the college's fiftieth anniversary fund. The lecture will be given on Friday evening at eight thirty at the Fessenden School in West Newton. Miriam O'Brien Underhill, Bryn Mawr '20, who has been called the greatest woman Alumnist will give an illustrated talk on her recent and thrilling adventures in the high mountains of western Canada. Many hand colored slides accompany Mrs. Underhill's informal, humorous and stirring presentation of her exciting story, which appeared in the August issue of the National Geographic Magazine.

The committee in charge of the lecture includes Mrs. Philip Drinker, Mrs. Roger Flint, Mrs. Henderson Inches, Mrs. Horace E. Jacobs, Mrs. Henry G. Pearson, Mrs. H. V. Phillips, Miss S. B. Rich, Mrs. Horatio Rogers, and Mrs. R. L. M. Underhill.

Newton Musicians Play In Conservatory Concert

Mrs. Agatha M. Russon, violinist; Frances Brockman, violinist; Maude Wamberg, flutist, and Louise L. Campharist, of Newton, are members of the Orchestra of the New England Conservatory of Music, which gave its first concert of the season last Wednesday evening in Jordan Hall, Boston. The concert commemorated the hundredth and two-hundredth anniversaries, respectively, of the births of Saint-Saens and Johann Christian Bach, and also paid homage to the late Charles Martin Loeffler with the playing of his orchestral poem, "La Bonne Chanson." These concerts are enjoyed by the public without charge.

"The Dark Angel" At Paramount Theatre

One of the most powerful and beautiful love stories ever filmed reaches the screen of the Paramount Theatre, Newton, when Samuel Goldwyn's production, "The Dark Angel," starring Fredric March, Merle Oberon and Herbert Marshall begins a four-day engagement starting Sunday.

The story, which is set in a quiet corner of lovely rural England, follows the lives of a woman, Kitty Vane (Merle Oberon) and two men, Alan Trent (Fredric March) and Gerald Shannon (Herbert Marshall). Since childhood, Kitty has adored Alan, and Gerald has adored Kitty. The war takes both men in the trenches and when Alan is reported killed Kitty's life is broken. At that eleventh hour, Fate steps in and the dream of her life is fulfilled in a gloriously happy ending. Prominent in the imposing supporting cast are Janet Beecher, John Halliday and Henrietta Crosman. On the same program is Betty Davis and George Brent in "Special Agent," a fast moving G-Men story.

Lookie, lookie, lookie! Here comes the craziest, silliest little lady on the screen—Gracie Allen! And right with her is the bedeviled, harried young fellow, George Burns! George Burns and Gracie Allen, topnotch comics of stage, screen and radio, in hilarious new motion picture entitled, appropriately enough, "Here Comes Cookie." It opens next Thursday at the Paramount Theatre. You'll get a million laughs out of it. The companion picture will be "Charlie Chan in Shanghai" with Warner Oland and Irene Hervey.

Busses Routed To Avoid Use Of Rumford Ave.

The Middlesex & Boston busses which run from Auburndale to Waltham and Newton have ceased running over Rumford ave. from Lexington st. West Newton to the Waltham line because of the dangerous condition of this stretch of road. An inspector from the State Dept. of Public Utilities examined Rumford ave. last week and ordered operation of busses over it discontinued. Rumford ave. is a narrow, private way which runs across a swamp between Lexington st. and the Waltham line. Within the limits of this city its length is about a quarter of a mile. Recently agitation was started to have the City of Newton improve this road at the expense of the taxpayers and without assessments being levied on owners of abutting properties. Mayor Weeks recommended that this work be done but the Board of Aldermen voted against the recommendation. The facts that there are no residences along this swampy stretch of road, that little tax revenue is received from properties along it, and that taxpayers on other streets in Newton either had to pay heavy assessments to have their streets improved, or continue to endure unimproved streets, influenced the aldermen in their decision.

In Waltham a considerable number of people residing on Wood ave. and nearby streets have been served by the Newton-Auburndale bus line which ran over Rumford ave. These people will continue to be served by running the busses from Crescent st., Waltham over Wood ave. to Rumford ave. in that city, and thence back again to Crescent st. over the same route. The busses will then use Crescent and Moody sts. to reach Lexington st., West Newton. This change will cause the busses to leave Auburndale 2 minutes earlier than before.

Appoint Three School Doctors

At a meeting of the Newton Board of Health on Wednesday evening three new school physicians were appointed—Dr. Joseph E. Flynn, 457 Washington st., Newton; Dr. Ronald Rutherford, 31 Institution ave., Newton Centre; Dr. Joseph E. Ferrone, 860 Beacon st., Newton Centre. Their work in the schools will be to make yearly examinations of all pupils. This work starts soon after the schools open in September and takes about 2½ months. For this service these physicians are paid at an hourly rate. The positions to which these young physicians have been appointed have been held for the past eight or ten years by Drs. George F. Bowers, Franklin P. Lowry and Denton G. Nutter.

Several months ago an examination was held by the State Civil Service Commission to fill vacancies in the force of regular school physicians of Newton caused by the deaths of Dr. Irving Fisher and Dr. F. E. Withee. The regular school physicians, of whom there are seven, visit the schools each day and examine children who are suspected of having communicable diseases, or who otherwise appear ill. These physicians are paid on a monthly basis. A number of physicians residing in Newton took this examination and Drs. Bowers and Eastman were appointed to fill the vacancies. Subsequently the Civil Service Commission notified the Newton Board of Health that it must also appoint from the list of those who qualified at the examination the three physicians who make the general examinations of the pupils each year. As Doctors Lowry and Nutter had not been on the Civil Service list the Board of Health had to terminate their services despite the fact that these two physicians had rendered excellent service for nearly 10 years, and had become quite experienced in this work.

ly explained on the Puzzlo page. This is your chance to earn a little extra spending money for Christmas by entering this unique, fascinating, and interesting contest. It is the kind of contest which you can spend a few spare minutes in doing or if you desire and have the time you can spend considerably longer in figuring out various solutions in order to obtain a higher total. The Newton District Nursing Association is making a great effort to become more effective in their neighborhood by educating their members and thereby their community, in the most effective way of carrying on the local health work. They feel deeply the responsibility which the Community Chest puts upon them by giving them their share of the money raised in the drive. The board is doing all in its power to spend that money economically and wisely.

Newton Gets PWA School Grants

The applications of the City of Newton for PWA grants to build a new school at Oak Hill, an addition to the Angier School at Waban and a reconstruction of the garage at the Street Department yard on Crafts st. were allowed by officials at Washington on Wednesday. These grants will be for $89,100, $32,670, and $23,400 respectively. The applications were made a couple of months ago and at first not granted by PWA executives. A couple of weeks ago Mayor Weeks went to Washington to plea for favorable consideration of these three applications. That his mission was successful was proved yesterday when word was received of the reversal of the attitude at Washington on these three projects.

Want Permit For Oak Hill Busses

The Board of Aldermen has received a petition from the Service Bus Lines for a franchise to operate busses between Newton Centre and Oak Hill in this city. The busses would run over Centre, Cypress, Parker and Dedham sts., and Rosalie rd. A hearing will be held on this petition.

Chest Campaign Reaches Two-Thirds Mark

Plan Determined Effort to Exceed Goal

The Municipal Division, with Mayor or Sinclair Weeks as Chairman, is giving the 1935 Campaign of the Newton Community Chest, Inc., a great boost to help this year's Campaign go over the top of its goal of $186,347.20. Returns from the schools are complete, showing a 100% enrollment, with an average teacher-pledge of $11.03, the highest in New England so far reported. Last year Springfield led the section with a teacher average of $10.47. One Newton teacher is ill in a hospital in New York City, having been taken suddenly sick while on a tip there. She has kept in touch with Newton and mailed her pledge for the Campaign from her sick-bed.

The janitors' group gave an average pledge of $4.00, a mark for many a citizen with income to meet proportionately. The Building department, as reported last week, was the first to complete its Campaign, making a 100% enrollment with high average pledge of $9.30. Police and Fire department returns have not yet been completely tabulated, but they and all other City Departments show an interest in the community, through this Campaign, that indeed "sets the pace" for other citizens to follow. Reports on these other departments will be made public as soon as they have been checked and recorded. The Campaign Headquarters of the Newton Community Chest, Inc., reported early yesterday morning a total turned in of $124,000.00 or 66% of the goal raised. A few days of solicitations are left in which to report the balance of $66,000.00. Campaign Committees and officials held a meeting Wednesday night to determine the steps and procedure necessary to take to send this year's Campaign over the top.

All reports indicate a greater number of givers and an increase of subscribers all along the line. The Special Gifts subscriptions show clear promise of going about 15% higher than last year while many individual pledges in the Residential Division are showing increases as high as 250%. However, the Campaign Officers are stating that every effort possible will be necessary to raise the goal of $186,347.20, which is necessary to give the member-agencies what they need to give the proper service to Newton's citizens in 1936. The 1,800 workers have been untiring and loyal in their efforts to succeed in their task.

JOIN THE RED CROSS

The annual roll call of the American Red Cross began this week and will continue until Thanksgiving Day. This great organization needs no introduction and no praise from us will add to its prestige. Its record in times of war and peace is well known to all. The Red Cross deserves the support of the American people and we know that Newton citizens will respond promptly to the annual enrollment appeal.

The peace-time function of the Red Cross as an agent of mercy to thousands of victims of unexpected disasters may not seem important to us as we sit in the shelter of our homes. No one can appreciate the good work this vast organization accomplishes unless one has experienced the fury and destructiveness of those natural forces which leave behind a populace stunned by death and desolation. It is such times as these that the symbol of the Red Cross stands out gloriously as an angel of relief and mercy.

Some people do not appreciate the reasons why the Red Cross is not a part of our Newton Community Chest. The member agencies of the Community Chest are entirely local and every cent raised in the campaign is expended locally. The Red Cross is a national organization and the one dollar enrollment fee is used in the work of the Red Cross everywhere. Surely almost every one of us can give at least one dollar for this worthy effort. Do not put off signing the roll call card; respond to that better impulse and make your contribution immediately.

ARE YOU A REGISTERED VOTER?

If you are a registered voter you will find no occasion to take the advice we are about to offer those residents of Newton who have not taken the time, the interest, nor made the effort to have their names added to the lists of voters. If you are not a registered voter we hope that you will find something in this paragraph which will urge you to go to the nearest registration session and become a voter. During the past few weeks several hundreds of voters have proved their right to vote. It is not a difficult test—simply one which shows an ability to read the English language, citizenship and residence in Newton since last April. Now as to why you should become a voter. Newton is a city in which we are all proud to live. Only by taking an active interest in the affairs of the city can we hope to maintain the high standards in vogue here. Only by exercising our privilege to vote can we elect to office those persons whom we feel are best qualified and best able to conduct the city's affairs as we would conduct our own business or home affairs. The privilege of voting is not only a privilege but it is the duty of every citizen to register and to vote, for after all is said and done, those who are elected to official positions are chosen by the greater number of individuals who mark their cross beside the name of the candidate of their choice.

MORE STATE FORESTS

More than a thousand volunteers are circulating petitions throughout the state to add a half million acres to Massachusetts State Forests over a period of years. The organization of committees in every city and town in the Commonwealth has been going on for some time and it is expected that the necessary total of twenty thousand signatures will be considerably exceeded, in which case the question will be offered as a referendum to the voters at the State election next November. Mayor Sinclair Weeks and General Daniel Needham are two local men who have been interested in the development of this program and were among the ten original petitioners proposing it. The advancement of the plan as a method of protecting and planning for future outdoor recreational opportunities in this state should have the hearty encouragement of all. It is quite vital that we take time by the forelock and lay the groundwork for future generations before we find that the opportunity no longer exists.

SANTA CLAUS IS BETTER OFF

A cheerful Christmas is predicted this year with deposits in Christmas Clubs in the various banks showing a considerable increase over the totals of a year ago. In Boston and Greater Boston alone holiday shoppers will receive nearly six millions of dollars while throughout the state the total will reach nearly ten millions. It is an impressive example of applied thrift with a quarter of a million depositors regularly depositing holiday funds. It is pleasing to think that Santa Claus will be better off this year.

No wonder a hen gets discouraged at times. She never can find things just where she laid them.

Bank references are not necessary in order to borrow trouble.

A fish never gets caught by keeping his mouth shut.

No one is rich enough to do without a neighbor.

The razing of the long familiar Alden house on Centre st., Newton, opposite the end of Franklin st., was begun this week. Although building permits have not been applied for it is considered likely that some time in the future single residences may be erected here. Prior to being purchased in 1882 by John E. Alden, father of John T. Alden of Fairmount st., the property was owned by the father of Charles Woodworth, of another long-time Newton and Watertown family. Mr. John E. Alden and his brother, George E., who married sisters resided more than thirty years and observed their 50th wedding anniversary there. About 1914 the estate was sold by the Alden family and since has been owned by other parties. Some years ago the premises were used as a private school but for several years it has stood vacant. The land to this estate forms a curve on Centre st. which is becoming more and more dangerous with the increasing traffic on this main route from Newton to the south side of the city. The grade and curve are particularly hazardous in wet and winter weather. Additional danger is created by the fact that just below the corner the street is perceptibly narrower than at any other point on the long grade. In past years the city has been somewhat lax in seizing opportunities to minimize the danger of bad corners because of the expense of land damages for street widenings. With the possibility of securing Federal funds for such worthwhile projects the advisability of widening this corner in the near future should be carefully considered. Certainly now is the time to take such steps as may be necessary to require sufficient setbacks for any residences that may be erected there so that an appropriate widening might be undertaken at some future time if impossible at present.

While on the subject of former days and older residents of Newton many of those who are familiar with Newton a few years before the war are considerably interested in the election of a former Newton boy, whose wife is a former Newton girl, as the Mayor-elect of Cleveland, Ohio. Frequently we hear of some former Newtonite whose youth was spent in Newton and who has become prominent in business, professional, or other ways in some other part of the country. It is seldom that we find a former Newtonian achieving prominence politically. In 1911 Harold Hilt Burton left Newton to take a job as a line man's helper with the electric light company in Cleveland in order to be near his childhood sweetheart who was visiting an aunt in the Ohio city. Subsequently after they had both graduated from college in 1912 the young couple went to Cleveland to live. He had been educated in the Newton schools, graduated from Bowdoin College in 1909 and from Harvard Law School in 1912. Selma Smith, his wife, is a daughter of A. R. Smith, an executive of the First National Bank of Boston and a resident on Berkeley st., West Newton. She went to Newton schools and graduated from Wellesley in 1912. Returning to Cleveland after their marriage Mr. Burton became a noted lawyer and has served as a law director for the city of Cleveland under former administrations. Mrs. Burton is actively interested in the girl scouts and the American Legion auxiliary. Burton is a veteran having seen service overseas with the 361st Infantry, 31st Division as a captain. He has also been active in veterans' affairs in Cleveland. The Burtons have six children the oldest of whom, Barbara, graduated from the University of Missouri last June and is now a fashion artist. William, 19, is a student at Bowdoin and Deborah, 15, and Robert, 12, are in high school in Cleveland. In the midst of the recent political campaign which resulted in the election of Burton, the Republican candidate as mayor, Mrs. Burton found time to move the entire household. Although living in Cleveland the Burtons have retained the ties of friendship in Newton and during the war Mrs. Burton and the two oldest children lived with her parents here. Their Newton friends are greatly interested and pleased with the political success of Mayor-elect Burton.

Recently workmen for the State Highway department drove hundreds of tall stakes along the sides of the Worcester turnpike. The stakes, about three feet tall, some with orange tips and some with black tips, are markers to aid the snowplows which will soon be necessary to clear the road from the drifting snow that is scheduled to arrive before many weeks. The colored tips on the stakes are used to designate the location of drains, manholes, fire hydrants, and other conditions which are necessary to the proper removal of snow.

During the repairing of the Boston elevated railroad tracks at Newton Corner the buses of the Middlesex and Boston street railway leaving Newton for Waltham and Wellesley have been rerouted. All the buses will use the easterly side of Centre st. as a terminal and will enter the square through Centre ave., turning left by the library before crossing the railroad bridge to the square. Routing the buses through Centre ave. has caused considerable congestion particularly between five and six o'clock in the evening when many more autos use this street after leaving the railroad station where they have been driven to meet the many trains at that time of day. The past few nights a police officer has been on duty preventing parking on the northerly side of the street by the postoffice in order to keep two lines open for traffic. The presence of the officer together with a campaign against overtime parking on the southerly side of the street has resulted in a noticeable improvement in the traffic and parking situation on this narrow street.

Legion Aux. To Install Officers

The American Legion Auxiliary, Newton Unit No. 48, will hold a public Installation of Officers on Wednesday evening, November 20th, at 8:15 in the Memorial Building, Newton Centre.

Among the guests will be Department Vice President, Mrs. Susan T. Essler, Chairman of Middlesex County Council, Mrs. Marietta Conway, who will act as Installing Officer, and representatives from the various military organizations in the city.

The guest speaker will be Miss Adelaide Fitzgerald, Past National Vice President of the Auxiliary, an orator of note, who has been an important leader in the State and National Organization.

Music will be furnished by the Newton Post Band and refreshments will be served in the cafeteria.

The officers to be installed are: President, Mrs. Katherine Rogers; Sr. Vice Pres., Mrs. Sylvia Hudson; Jr. Vice Pres., Mrs. Anne Beattie; Secretary, Mrs. Esther Faherty; Treasurer, Mrs. Janet Patterson; Chaplain, Mrs. Corabelle G. Francis; Historian, Mrs. Jessie Drew; Sergt. at Arms, Miss Catherine Quinn. Executive members: Mrs. Nona Kearney, Retiring President, Mrs. Mary Foran, Mrs. Frances E. Cannon.

Judge Johnson To Speak At Highlands Men's Club

The second meeting of the fall season of the Newton Highlands Men's Club will be held on Wednesday evening, November 20th at the Congregational Church. A dinner will be served at 6:30. The speaker of the evening will be Judge Kenneth D. Johnson of the Quincy district court who will talk on "Juvenile Delinquency." Judge Johnson is one of the outstanding juvenile judges in the state and has a reputation as a keen student of problems attendant to the handling of wayward children. He is a former chairman of the Board of Selectmen of the town of Milton and during the war won a divisional citation for bravery with the Yankee Division.

Arraigned As Hit-Run Driver

Edwin C. Eaton of 246 Central st., Auburndale, was arraigned in the Newton court on Wednesday on the charge of leaving the scene of an accident without revealing his identity. It is alleged that about 5 p. m. on Saturday a car driven by Eaton hit two other cars on Auburn st., and that he failed to stop and make himself known. The registration number of his car was given to the police. His case was continued to Nov. 21st.

This Week at Your Boys' and Girls' Library

Vernon St., Newton Corner

"National Book Week" is celebrated this year from November 17 to 23 with "Reading for Fun" as the slogan.

Parents, teachers and all adults interested in books and boys and girls are cordially invited to visit the library (open daily, except Sunday, from nine until six o'clock), become acquainted with the work that is being done there and meet the library staff.

The selection of 1935 books, assembled for this exhibit, may be seen together only during this week and at this place. Therefore, a splendid opportunity is afforded adults seeking guidance in selection of books as gifts.

"A Book Week Poster" contest open to junior high school boys and girls has been announced by the library in co-operation with the schools and all entries submitted will be displayed at the Boys' and Girls' Library during this week. An award will be made to the school from which the best poster is submitted.

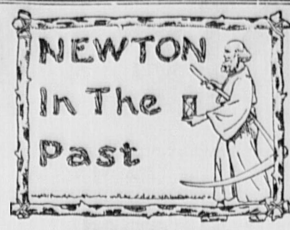

"The Branch Libraries" will observe Book Week with appropriate displays.

Newton Republican, Nov. 18, 1876

Prof. Raymond gave readings from Shakespeare at the Lyceum course in Eliot Hall last Wednesday evening. Owing to severe hoarseness of the lecturer the audience at the rear of the hall was unable to hear him distinctly. The committee announced that the receipts were so much less than the expenses that they felt it is their duty to retrench, so they will substitute Wendell Phillips for Mr. Dougherty of Philadelphia and discontinue wholly with the Philharmonic Club.

At the annual meeting of the Newton Society for Medical Improvement held at Dr. Thayer's office in West Newton on Thursday, November 9th a very interesting discussion on typhoid fever took place. The free interchange of opinions on the nature and treatment of this disease is a source of much profit to those participating and bears directly on the welfare of this community.

At the regular meeting of the Common Council on Monday night a request came from the highway committee asking that the council suspend the rules in order that certain drains can be built before the ground freezes. Councilman Weed objected to the suspension of the rules in any event, and the Council sustained him. The same action was taken on the order offering a reward of $500 for the conviction of incendiaries in Newton.

The sewing school organized at Newton Center a couple of years ago by Miss Alice Train is continuing its good work, meeting in the Mason School on Saturday afternoon of each week. From 40 to 50 girls receive garments prepared for the needle and are assisted in making them. When the garments are finished, the girls become the owners of them. There are 10 teachers; several of them young ladies from Newton Highlands.

The ministers of all the religious bodies in the city are requested to give notices to their congregations on the Sunday before the collection is made for our new hospital on November 22, which will be hospital Sunday. About $3000 per year will be needed to carry on the institution, and there is no money at all on hand for current expenses.

The wish of parents in Wards 1 and 7 is that the public schools in these wards will begin the afternoon session at 1:30 and close at 3:30 instead of the usual hours of 2 and 4. The light becomes very dim in some of the rooms toward 4 o'clock in the winter months. The change will take place soon at the Bigelow, Underwood and Lincoln schools.

Hon. Leverett Saltonstall of Chestnut Hill has become, by appointment by President Cleveland, Collector of the Port of Boston. Mr. Saltonstall is a graduate of Harvard and a lawyer by profession. He has been a Democrat since the disruption of the Whig party and for many years has been active in politics, representing Massachusetts at Democratic national conventions.

Richard D. Morse of Newton Highlands caused his horse "Charlie" to be killed this week. The animal had arrived at the good, old age of 32 years, and up to the last showed good courage.

The eighth anniversary of the Newton Y. M. C. A. was held last Sunday in Eliot Hall at 3 p. m. A praise service was led by Hugh Campbell and Rev. Dr. Calkins read the Scriptures. A male chorus sang two pieces with great acceptance. Mr. Lamb of Lowell sang two solos, "Cast Thy Bread Upon the Waters," and "We Have An Anchor." They were performed very beautifully and had a marked effect upon the large audience.

Mayor Hatfield and other city officials were given a hearing by the Metropolitan Park Commission on Monday and urged an appropriation of $25,000 for dredging the Charles River between Waltham and the Upper Falls. The commission was ordered to report on this question by the last Legislature, and Waltham and Weston join with Newton in asking for this improvement.

The city government were the guests on Tuesday of the Edison Electric Illuminating Company, the occasion being the first time the new Mazda electric lights were turned on. A substantial lunch was served at the Edison headquarters, 39 Boylston street, Boston. Automobiles then took the party to the Edison plants at L street and Atlantic avenue. After viewing the plants automobiles took the party to Commonwealth avenue in this city where the new street lights were turned on. Officials of the company state that Commonwealth avenue is now the most brightly lighted street in the country.

Powers' Paragraphs

A man who for 55 years had been a factor for good in Newton passed from this life on November 13. Fred H. Tucker reached his 80th birthday last August. He made a success in life and of life. He was a man who enjoyed doing good and during his long career was a real friend to many when they needed a friend, including the writer. Mr. Tucker was a lover of the great outdoors and had been an enthusiastic member and president of the Appalachian Club. During the past summer he climbed three mountains of the White Mountain range. Since retiring from active business six years ago he had given freely of his time in the work of the Newton Welfare Bureau. Those of us who were privileged to know Mr. Tucker will not forget his cheerfulness and kindness. Newton was fortunate in having had him as an asset for over half a century.

It is interesting—and amusing to one who has resided in Newton for about half a century, whose work as well as his residence has been in this city, whose occupations have been such as to bring and keep him in touch with Newton affairs, to observe persons whose knowledge of Newton's city government and the manner in which it has been and is being conducted is very slight, going about telling other citizens of Newton how to vote. Many of these political missionaries know little of public affairs here. They have been told by others alleged facts regarding local political and governmental matters, and regarding certain candidates. From their own personal knowledge or experience they know little.

We have been in close touch with Newton city governments for many years, have attended every regular meeting of the Boards of Aldermen (with two exceptions) for twelve years, served on the Board four years, and have had opportunities to observe things that are "off the record." Our hair is gray, we become cognizant of life's illusions some years past, realize that our mentality is just ordinary and that we don't know it all, but we know enough about Newton politics and the government of this city so that we can differentiate between the real and the apparent as regards public affairs in this city. We can separate the facts from the fiction.

We believe that the Mayor of Newton should be a man who knows considerable of Newton, its affairs, its problems and its people. We believe he should be a man who has been active in Newton affairs, who has been in this city much of the time while he has been awake, and not mostly while he has been asleep. We believe that a thorough acquaintance with Newton, both in its physical aspects, its peculiar needs and its people, is more to be considered as qualifying a man to fill the office of Mayor of this city, than spectacular publicity gained in a short term of office as a State official. We believe that when a man is elected to serve as Mayor of Newton he should be prepared to give most of his time, if necessary, to attend to the duties of this important office, and not detail much of this work to someone else. We believe he should be reasonably available every working day to any respectable citizen who has legitimate reason to desire to meet him.

We do not believe it is for the best interest of Newton's future to have a practical political machine built up in this city. The fact that Newton was singularly free from this sort of thing in the past, contributed largely to the admirable development of this city, and its outstanding place among American communities. We are not fooled by the assertion that Newton has been having a non-political administration when we have seen public positions and employment given to supporters; when we have seen men who held appointive positions for years as election officers displaced because they gave their support to some other candidate.

We believe that a man cannot properly qualify as Mayor of Newton through a short, intensive course of study under the tutelage of present or former aldermen. Granting that a candidate may possess ability, honesty and a very attractive personality, and be acclaimed as having that much emphasized, but intangible asset of executive capacity, he is not, in our opinion, so well qualified to serve as Mayor of Newton as many other intelligent men who have in the past given years of their time serving in Newton city governments.

Newton Democrats who could not get work on the State project at the Worcester turnpike in this city, or on other State projects under Gov. Curley's "work and wages" program, must have received consolation when the read of the wholesale handling out of work to residents of Chelsea.

What an Idea!
Just think! Thanksgiving's almost here.
Presenting that moot question
Of how to eat too much and still Be free from indigestion.

Perhaps it would be better if We fasted, without napping,
And, as the P. O. people urge,
Do all our Christmas wrapping.

Trials of Public Life
Thanks to something or other, I am not one of those who scorn the ambitions of people who seek public office. Occasionally I wonder if they appreciate what unexpected duties they will be called upon to perform.
How much time they will have to devote to unremunerative tasks, etc. I suppose they must. Nevertheless, I frequently hear an office-holder grumble about the dear public. For my own part I have come into close contact with numerous funny happenings.

Not so long ago a man wandered into the Governor's outer office and asked for the secretary in charge of applications for work. He was told that the office had been moved to the State Public Works Building at 100 Nashua street, Boston.

"Where's that?" he demanded.
"Down near the North Station," came the reply.
"Too far," declared the caller.
"Are you looking for a job?" the clerk inquired.

"Not for me, but for my girl friend," came the reply as the man turned and walked out.

Still on the subject of vexatious matters that confront office-holders I must relate the story told of ex-Mayor Prince of Boston, one of the distinguished chief executives of bygone days.

A woman came to the Mayor's office to complain that the garbage man who called at her home was not a fit person for his job. She lived somewhere in the Back Bay and resented the profanity used by the garbage collector as well as the odor of spiritus liquor on his breath.

Mayor Prince was most considerate.
Said he, "Madame, you will have to bear with me. I have a number of gentlemen I am trying to induce to accept those positions."

Our Saturday Afternoons
A half-day off at the end of the week is the privilege of many, judging by the crowds at the football games. Commonly it is preceded by a morning of intensive application to customary tasks, followed by a scramble for food at some popular eating place and then a dash for the field.
Traffic congestion, crowds, irritating delays and other obstacles do not count. It all goes to show how much of an unorganized struggle we are willing to endure to see others engage in an organized struggle. To be late is awful. There is nothing so distressing as the feeling we may miss seeing somebody carried off the field on a stretcher. No explanation for this mental state is offered; no excuse, no apology. Must be the Nation's sporting blood running full force. Anyway, it's better than the way some other countries have of satisfying their appetite for the sight of a good scrap.

Don't Worry about It
Born in the horse and buggy days,
I am wondering if I should reaffirm allegiance to Dobbin and the carry-all or hail with joy the might and power of the motor vehicle. As far as ownership is concerned I am entirely in favor of the motor, possessing neither.
What distresses me is this:

Should I attend the automobile show or the horse show? I prefer to make a choice because I do not want to be a straddler. Now comes the analysis.
I am not of a mechanical turn but neither was I cut out for a jockey.
The insides of a car are a complete mystery to me but so are those of a horse.

As a chauffeur I have never received compliments or aroused complaints. My driving of a horse, although long ago, was merely fair.
Therefore it may be said I am as good at the wheel as I was with the reins, which makes another stand-off. I know few technical terms, speaking auto-motively, but I do remember, "Gid-dap" and "Whoa" and "Steady, there, old boy, steady."

I must say I find a horse friendly and sociable. While an automobile is impressive and inspires deep respect, it is cold and impersonal. The quarry remains. I still have to determine whether my heart is in the stable or the garage.

Long Distance View
Here's something I doubt if you knew. To me it was a revelation and probably you have traveled over your own country more than I. In a book,
"The Underworld of Paris," dealing with the secrets of the Surete, by Alfred Morain, CRE, prefect de police, Paris (E. P. Dutton & Co., Inc., N. Y.), there is a chapter on "Crime and its Repression" in which laws of the United States are discussed. Says the prefect:

"In several states of North America when a clock over the public highway does not indicate the exact time, the proprietor is considered guilty of a misdemeanor and is punished. The clockmaker who uses a clock as his signboard and omits to regulate it according to winter and summertime is punishable with a certain number of days of imprisonment."

Apparently, the prefect has heard something about daylight saving and how it has been adopted by some States and rejected by others.

WOR. COMMERCE WINS FROM NEWTON 15-7

Newton High was given the short end of a 15-7 football game at Dickinson Stadium last Saturday by the under-rated, hard-hitting Worcester Commerce eleven. The boys from Worcester scored all their points on Newton's mistakes, blocking a kick, making a safety, and intercepting a pass.

Newton trailed 6-0 at the half, but put in an inspiring third quarter, making an 80-yard drive to go into a 7-6 lead. Striking again to the Commerce 2-yard line with a 60-yard march, they stopped just short of another touchdown. A bonehead play by Paul Forte, cocky Newton halfback, cost Newton their lead early in the third quarter, and an intercepted Newton pass put the game on ice in the final period.

Commerce Takes Lead Early

Newton looked like a very stale and uncertain football team in the first half. MacLeod ran back the opening kickoff 17 yards from the ten-yard line, but a charging Commerce line set Callanan and MacLeod down for losses, and Callanan punted. Milner making the tackle at the Worcester 30.

O'Brien ran the Newton end almost to midfield, but Newcomb stopped another attempt, and Lauchlin punted to MacLeod, who was dropped hard at the Newton 29-yard line. Savignano and Thompson made a first down, and Savignano carried through tackle almost to the 40-yard line, but here the gains ceased. Callanan went back to kick on third down, but the ball bounced off the arms of a Worcester lineman, and Lauchlin scooped it up and went across for the first touchdown. The place kick failed, and Worcester Commerce led 6-0.

Newton Sadly Outplayed

The first quarter was called three plays later, but a change of field did the orange and black little good. After gaining twenty yards almost to midfield on an exchange of kicks, Woodward flipped a wild lateral pass over Savignano's head for a fifteen-yard loss. Another kicking exchange recovered the 15 yards, but Red Callanan fumbled the ball and Worcester took possession. A forward pass made first down, but Newton took the ball on downs at the 30. Captain Savignano fumbled on the first play, Worcester again recovering.

At Thompson broke up a Commerce pass so well that interference was called, giving the passing team the ball at the 18-yard line. Commerce made first down, and lost the ball on a wild fourth-down pass into the end zone as the first half ended. Worcester Commerce leading Newton 6-0. The part Newton played in the first half was pusillanimous. Captain Savignano was able to call eighteen plays, of which six went for a total gain of 23 yards, and six were stopped for a total loss of 25 yards. The other six plays were four punts, one converted into a touchdown when the line failed to hold, and two fumbles, both recovered by Commerce.

Savignano Leads Newton Reversal
That miserable first half was the set-up for a remarkable and thrilling reversal of form in the third period. Captain Savignano piloted a smooth-working Newton eleven to a touchdown in six plays following the kickoff.

Newton received the kickoff at the west end, MacLeod returning the ball from the goal line eighteen yards. Savvy and Al Thompson carried for a first down, and Savvy threw a flat pass to Red Callanan which went for a 40-yard gain before Callanan was tackled at the Worcester 30-yard line. Savvy called a running pass to the right, which MacLeod completed for a negligible gain, but set the stage for the familiar scoring pass. Savignano faded to his right, then heaved a long one to Bob Prowten far out to the left, and the rangy end ran untouched into the end zone. Savignano's dropkick carried true enough, and Newton had a 7-6 lead.

Goal Line Stand Balks Newton

Newton all but scored again in this period, rolling sixty yards up the field only to stall at the Commerce goal. Milner's kickoff was run back to the Commerce 30-yard line at the far side, and Commerce at once worked their sleeper pass. Gibbs made his way to Newton's 40 before he obligingly fumbled. MacLeod ran the ball back for a practice touchdown after the whistle had blown.

The strong Newton passing attack had unsettled the tight Commerce secondary defense, so Savignano went to work on the mid-section of their

NEWTON PREPARES FOR WALTHAM INVASION

Waltham High brings to Dickinson Stadium tomorrow one of the greatest teams in the school's history. In eight games the Watch City eleven has ticked off twenty-one touchdowns and twelve extra points for a total of 127 points, while allowing the opposition a bare seven points, scored by Watertown High.

The team is in fine fettle for the Newton game, always an objective contest with either team. The main-spring of the Waltham attack is the passing combination of Johnny Krol to Howard Kelly, and Newton will have a real job to suppress that particular threat, for Krol's accurate throws to his tall running-mate have been good for gains about four times in five attempts this season. Krol is one of the greatest backs in these parts this year, and is a brother of Stan Krol, who had much to do with the Waltham ball-carrying in 1929.

In addition to Waltham's K-Men, Krol and Kelly, individuals to watch are the huskies on the left side of the Watch City line, Gaziano at tackle, Zeno at guard, and Frechette at centre.

Newton Team Baset With Injuries

Waltham will find Newton in very low physical condition. Captain Ernie Savignano, triple-threat back, definitely will not play, but will wait out this game in favor of the Brookline finale. Savignano has had knee, elbow and ankle injuries during the season, and was carried off the field last Saturday with a recurrence of the leg injury.

Coach Ralph Sanborn was struck by a sudden shortage of guards this week, and has hurried to convert a pair of ends, but it is possible that the regular starters will be in shape tomorrow. The tackle assignments are not positive, and Koffman and Whelden may get the call instead of the pair listed. Salvucci is not counted on to play at end, but may yet play.

The Newton team was surprised by Worcester Commerce last week, and Coach Sanborn diagnosed the trouble as lack of exercise. Consequently a scrimmage has been staged every day this week, and the men who survive this routine will be out there Saturday ready for Waltham.

line. Three rapid first downs came at the Newton 48, the Worcester Commerce 37 and 25-yard lines, Savignano sharing the burden of ball-carrying with Thompson and MacLeod. Savvy then burst through the left side of the defenders' line and carried well within the Worcester five-yard line, where he was thrown outside. After Thompson had tested the center of the line, MacLeod was sent around left end and thrown for a substantial loss. Savignano was stopped at the line, and Savignano's pass on fourth down was grounded.

Commerce Again Scores on Forte's Misplay

Worcester was quickly out of danger as Aframe got off a 55-yard kick from his own goal. Newton lost the ball on downs. As the fourth quarter opened, Jack Herick dropped a Commerce pass receiver, and Commerce punted from midfield. Paul Forte, inexperienced Newton halfback, unwisely juggled the ball at the Newton goal and was caught behind the line for a safety touchback. Worcester again taking the lead with the score 8-7.

After an exchange of kicks, MacLeod fumbled at the Newton 25-yard line, Worcester recovering. Commerce yielded the ball on downs, and Newton was backed to the 15-yard line on the subsequent exchange of kicks. Savignano went through the Commerce line for seven yards, but was hurt on the play and carried off the field. Bill Johnstone came in at quarterback, and at once threw a flat pass to the left which the opposing center, Pusateri, snared on the run, going for another Worcester touchdown on the interception. O'Brien's kick was good, and Worcester led 15-7, the final score of the game.

Man at Greatest Efficiency

Man is at his greatest efficiency between 10 in the morning and midnight, the time depending on the individual, according to findings of a European scientist.

Gardner Speaks To City Employees

At a large meeting of the City Employees' Association and their friends, held at Bay State Hall on Wednesday evening, Nov. 13th, Roger J. Gardner, candidate for Alderman-at-Large, Ward 6, spoke in part as follows:

"As a resident of this city for 37 years I have at all times been keenly interested in the welfare of Newton and its citizens. I am now a candidate for Alderman-at-Large from Ward 6, ready and willing to render public service in the interests of all the people of our community. My business experience over a period of many years, contacting residents and businessmen in all sections of our city, has afforded me an intimate knowledge of the needs and problems of our city. The extreme business and economic crisis through which we have been passing increases our burden to such an extent that I like to think of it as a mandate to all good citizens to arouse themselves to a more serious and active interest in all municipal activities.

ROGER J. GARDNER

"In a city such as ours, the care of the needy and unemployed is without question a lesser problem than in many other communities. We, nevertheless, have such a local problem, which must continue to be local and under direct local supervision. The need for food, shelter and warm clothing, where necessary, must be met without compromise. Beyond that there is today a demand from our citizens for a wise and intelligent economy in our national, state and municipal governments.

"Too frequently, we are prone to interest ourselves in state and national politics, overlooking the fact that our fire, police, school, water and other municipal departments are daily the major contributors to the safety and happiness of our homes and families. Such matters of interest in our local government have determined my course in seeking an opportunity to represent my fellow citizens as a member of the Board of Aldermen of the City of Newton.

"Each citizen has the right to determine for himself or herself, through the marking of a ballot on election day, the wise and prudent course in the selection of candidates for public office. Let this privilege remain one of our most cherished possessions. 'Machine Candidates' are always offered with some ulterior motive, the price usually being that they follow the dictates of their sponsors. I am not a machine candidate. I have no affiliations or political obligations which might interfere with the full and proper representation of all my constituents."

Aged Men Hit By Autos

Monday evening as William Weed, 70, of Glen rd., Weston, stepped off the curb at Washington st., Newton Lower Falls, he was hit by a car driven by Ethel Daley, 17 Sycamore rd., Waverley. He received slight injuries.

Charles Khacterian, 61, of Cypress st., Watertown, was hit last Thursday evening on California st., Nonantum, by a car driven by C. Hernandez of Waltham. He was taken to the Newton Hospital in the police ambulance and found to have received internal injuries.

Welfare Bureau Holds Directors' Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the Newton Welfare Bureau was held on Wednesday, Nov. 6, in the rooms of the Bureau at 12 Austin st., Newtonville.

There was a large attendance of officers and directors, the president, Mr. Elliott B. Church presiding.

After reading of report of the last meeting, the president spoke of the progress of the Community Chest Campaign. Miss Harriet L. Parsons, general secretary, spoke of the increasing demands upon the Bureau, not only for material assistance, but fully as often for advice, moral support, general readjustment and relief statement where there is worry over personal or family problems. Miss Parsons gave an interesting report of one day in her office when six new groups, or individuals were referred to her for advice and assistance. Following Miss Parsons' report and that of the treasurer the meeting was turned over to the Care Conference Committee, and a presentation, as of regular meetings of that committee, given, the directors requested to consider themselves members of the committee, for the time, and to question or advise, as several problems which were difficult to decide were presented. Problems of policy and future action on similar cases.

Interest shown, and definite questions and suggestions were very helpful.

Mr. Church again took the chair, and after general affairs, the meeting was adjourned.

Arrest Newton Youth For Burglaries

Paul V. Crowdle, 22, of 93 Gardner st., Newton was arrested on November 7 at Waltham by Inspector McKenna of the Waltham police charged with burglaries in that city. When taken, Crowdle had a revolver which had been stolen from a Waltham house. In the Waltham court last Saturday he was charged with two burglaries in that city, one in Watertown and the theft of an automobile. He was held in $5000 bail for the Superior Court.

Crowdle was also charged by Newton police with having committed burglaries in this city at the homes of Charles Carney, 443 Beacon st.; Edward Feeley, 106 Monadnock rd.; Mrs. B. A. Bradley, 34 Capital st.; Roger Hodges, 105 Waban park. While investigating the burglary at the Hodges house, Captain Richard Goode of the Newton police fell from the rear porch and received serious injuries to his knees which have since confined him to St. Elizabeth's Hospital.

Crowdle was arraigned in the Newton court on Wednesday and bound over to the Grand Jury in an additional $4000 bail. Last Friday in company with police from Newton, Waltham and Watertown he went to Boston and assisted in recovering some of the loot he had stolen. He has served terms at Shirley School and Concord Reformatory. He was released from the latter prison a few months ago and had recently been rooming in Waltham.

Warren Jr. High

The Warren Junior High School broadcast over station WBZ from 2 to 2:15 p. m. on Thursday, November 14, the third of the 1935-1936 Newton School Days' series. These broadcasts are a part of a Newton Public Schools activity.

The main part of the program was a dramatique, having as its plot a character pattern of self-discipline. The following students played the roles of the skit: Katherine Scovel, Stuart Grove, Robert Lewis, Florence Timble, Mary Dillon, Constance Elrod, Reba Campbell, Nathan Clifford, Shirley Carpenter, Betty Farley, Grace Joyce, Mildred Kearney, Dorothy Stamm, Ruth Scott, and Nathaniel Bartholomae.

Popular music, played on the accordion by David Estes, was on the same program.

This broadcast was under the immediate direction of Mr. Carl M. Penny, assisted by Miss Esther M. Pepin of the Warren School faculty.

On Friday, November 8, in observance of Armistice Day, the entire school attended the assembly. John Hay, III, president of the school community, gave "The Meaning of Armistice Day," and told the story of "The Christ of the Andes." "Grandpere" by Robert Service was recited by Kathryn Scovel, IIIA; Felix Rogers, IIIA, gave an extract from an address by Charles Evan Hughes entitled "Americanism"; "Sonny, My Boy" by Robert Service, was recited by Lillian Rallsback. The school was led in community singing by Mr. Scarborough.

Captain Ward of Newton Post, American Legion, and of the printing department of Newton High School, was the guest speaker. His address was an appeal to service to the country, as well as a reminder of the sacrifices of those who served in the great war. He also emphasized the importance of working for peace.

"The Wise Use of Leisure Time" was the subject of the Grade VII assembly on Friday, November 1. Richard Smith, Chairman of Room 12, spoke about the school activities of Warren being so numerous and varied that the tastes and interests of every boy and girl could be satisfied both in and out of school hours. Illustrating reading and story telling as one of the wise uses of leisure time, Arline Kreider told the story of "Lad—A Dog," by Albert Terhune. Lillian Rallsback recited "A Tribute to Man's Best Friend" to show that memory work added to one's appreciation of reading. Laddie Walden, Newton High School, 1937, and his dog "Snubby" demonstrated what wonders can be accomplished in developing a hobby.

Weeks Jr. High

On Thursday, Oct. 31st, the members of the eighth grade assembled in the auditorium to listen to the Newton School Days broadcast over Station WBZ by pupils from the Weeks School. A Halloween skit, illustrating the spirit of fair play, was presented by the following: Eileen Coughlan, Ida Kellaway, Merrick Farrah, Allen Talley, Philip Bacon, Richard Chapman and Wilma Fox. A group from the school orchestra, composed of Jane Hickox, Phyllis Kaplan, Mary Ruggles, Virginia Johnson and Christine Cameron, rendered musical selections during the program.

Miss Emma P. Lennon, art supervisor, was introduced at the Nov. 1st assembly by Margaret Kent. Miss Lennon gave an illustrated talk on many of the famous paintings of Europe. She emphasized the works of da Vinci, Angelo, and Raphael, and among the modern painters, Millet. During the program a clarinet solo was rendered by Donald Hyatt, and a piano solo by Marion Koehler.

Room 104 won the girls' field hockey home-room league championship. Room 208 won the consolation tournament.

Room 311 won both rounds of their league schedule, thereby winning the soccer championship of the seventh grade.

Following the conclusion of the home-room league tournaments, varsity and junior varsity soccer squads were picked. In the first game, Weeks Varsity defeated the Alumni 2 to 1. On Thursday, Nov. 7th, both the Varsity and Junior Varsity covered themselves with glory when they defeated the teams from Warren, 3 to 0, and 5 to 1, respectively.

The assembly program on Friday, Nov. 8, was in observance of Armistice Day. A group of ninth grade boys presented a short three-act play entitled "Duty Calls." The cast included: Paul Miller, Sherman Waterman, William Ellingwood, Robert Conlon, John Lovewell, Samuel Ansell, Pierre Stephanian, Richard Kerr and Robert Nichols.

Following the presentation of the play, Phyllis Kaplan introduced His Honor, Mayor Sinclair Weeks, who related some personal experiences during the war. In concluding his talk, Mayor Weeks made a strong plea for peace through the world and for the insurance of peace for the United States through adequate armaments for protection only.

Musical Extravaganza
Heads Paramount Program

The radio, the stage and the screen were scoured in the search for talent to make the new musical extravaganza, "Broadway Melody of 1936" which opens a four day engagement at the Paramount Theatre starting Sunday.

Headed by Jack Benny, number one hero of the air waves, the cast of noted entertainers includes: Eleanor Powell, the world's greatest feminine tap dancer; Robert Taylor, Hollywood's most rapidly rising luminary; popular Una Merkel; June Knight, stage and screen favorite; Nick Long Jr., world famous acrobatic dancer; Vilma and Buddy Ebsen, Broadway stage favorites; Robert Wildhack, the snore specialist, who created a sensation on the stage and repeated his success on radio; Frances Langford, radio's songbird; Henry Stockwell, New York singer, famous on both stage and on the air, and Sis Silvers, king of the stooges. There are five outstanding numbers, "Broadway Rhythm," "You Are My Lucky Star," "Sing Before Breakfast," "I've Got A Feelin' You're Foolin' In" and "On A Sunday Afternoon." The songs are presented in conjunction with elaborate dance routines staged by Dave Gould, who was responsible for the "The Continental" and "The Carioca." On the same program is "The Case of the Lucky Legs" with Warren William and Genevieve Tobin.

Starting Thursday Paramount Theatre presents Bing Crosby in "Two for Tonight" with Joan Bennett. Bing comes to town on a musical wave of romance bringing five hit songs and a gay story of a playwright who made a play for the wrong girl. Those delightful lovers of "Mississippi" are reunited again in one of the season's sweetest actresses, in "The Farmer Takes a Wife" with Henry Fonda Charles Bickford and little Jane Withers.

Bob Mills and his Kiddie Revue in person every Saturday matinee, and also another thrilling chapter of Adventures of Rex and Rinty.

Operatic Tenor Featured On Coolidge Corner Program

Fresh from radio triumphs and a sensational career in opera and concert performances, Nino Martini arrives on the screen of the Coolidge Corner Theatre, Brookline, in "Here's to Romance," which opens a week's run starting Friday, November 15th.

Nino Martini proves that he is not only the greatest tenor in a decade, but a magnetic screen personality whose acting skill, extreme good looks and vital personality bid fair to make him an overnight sensation. "Here's to Romance" is a skillfully written and directed love story full of gorgeous music and exquisite and unusual dancing. In the gala cast which supports Martini are Genevieve Tobin, Anita Louise, Madame Schumann-Heink, Reginald Denny, Maria Gambarelli and Vincente Escudero. Outstanding is Martini's golden voice in selections from "La Tosca," "Cavalleria Rusticana" and innumerable other operatic favorites, as well as two popular numbers. Maria Gambarelli does the "Dying Swan" dance. Vincente Escudero does a gypsy interpretation number, Madame Schumann-Heink does some excellent acting and sings a number, all which helps to make "Here's to Romance" miracle entertainment.

In the excellent co-feature Edmund Lowe returns to the screen as the dapper crime buster of "Thunder in the Night," a fascinating mystery melodrama, featuring Karen Morley and Paul Cavanaugh in the chief supporting roles. The whirlwind action of the film covers a brief six hours in the life of a Budapest detective. From the murder of a man in a hotel during a stormy evening, the trail of clues leads Lowe to the palace of the President of the Cabinet. Here Lowe ingeniously and dramatically reconstructs the killing, finds the murderer and brings the picture to its happy close. Una O'Connor, Gene Lockhart and John Qualen are prominently featured in the cast.

In addition to the two excellent features, there is an interesting travogue called "Tracking the Explorers" and the latest Coolidge Corner Theatre news showing all the current news both foreign and domestic.

Every evening during intermission the management is offering gratis, White House Coffee, Drake Cakes and Old Gold Cigarettes on the comfortable mezzanine.

Of all the miserable victims of 1929, of all the millions idle, many might be reasonably independent today or at least free from misery and care if they had said to themselves,
"A SENSIBLE MAN MUST SAVE SOMETHING," instead of saying to themselves,
"I BELIEVE IN SPENDING IT WHILE I HAVE IT."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Mortals and Immortals" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Nov. 17.

The Golden Text is: "We that are in this tabernacle do groan, being burdened: not for that we would be unclothed, but clothed upon, that mortality might be swallowed up of life" (II Corinthians 5:4).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Brethren, I count not myself to have apprehended; but this one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus. Let us therefore, as many as be perfect, be thus minded" (Philippians 3:13-15).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "When we learn in Science how to be perfect even as our Father in heaven is perfect, thought is turned into new and healthy channels,—towards the contemplation of things immortal and away from materiality to the Principle of the universe, including harmonious man" (p. 276).

Recent Weddings

BECKWITH-ALLEN

Miss Phyllis Mabel Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Allen of 14 Maple ave., Newton was married to Stedman Merrill Beckwith of Framingham on Saturday, November ninth at eight o'clock in the evening at Grace Church, Newton. Rev. Tage Telsen performed the ceremony.

The bride's gown was of cream colored satin and her veil of tulle. She carried a bouquet of bouvardia, gardenias and orchids. Mrs. Glenor Worral of Onset was the matron of honor. She wore a gown of rust velvet and carried a bouquet of chrysanthemums in variegated shades of rust. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Alice Clark of Newton, Miss Bertha Eisner of Middletown, Conn., Miss Margaret Planch of Middlesex, and Miss Edith Kimball of Dedham. They wore gowns of blue velvet and carried red low chrysanthemums. Joan Townsend of Arlington was the flower girl. Marshall Forest of Framingham was the best man. The ushers were Alfred E. Allen, Jr., of Newton, Elmer Derby of Braintree, John Ward and Charles Rideout of Framingham.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents immediately following the ceremony. The couple were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Allen and Mr. and Mrs. Beckwith.

On their return from a wedding trip to Bermuda, Mr. and Mrs. Beckwith will reside at the Kengate, 1209 Boylston st., Boston, where they will be at home after December 1st.

The bride is a graduate of the Leslie Normal School and the groom is a graduate of Boston University.

PATRICK-GATES

Miss Elizabeth Errett Gates, daughter of Dr. Errett Gates and Mrs. Gates was married to Rowland Vernellie Patrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Patrick of 64 Putnam st., West Newton on Monday, November 4 in the Holy Grail Chapel of the University Church of the Disciples of Christ in Chicago. The couple were attended by Miss Anne Patrick and Loomis Patrick, sister and brother of the bride. On their return from a wedding trip to White Sulphur Springs, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick will reside at 100 Chestnut st., Boston.

The Lucy Jackson Chapter D. A. R. met on Monday, Nov. 11. The regent Mrs. J. Walter Allen presided. The chaplain, Mrs. Amos R. Wells, read selections appropriate to the Thanksgiving season, including a hymn by Emerson. Mrs. Allen spoke of recent visits made to the Abigail Adams Chapter in Quincy and to the Jonathan Hatch Chapter in Falmouth, which was founded by Mrs. Liverus H. Howe.

Mrs. Walter H. Sears, who has had experience in teaching in the mountain region of Kentucky, and there acquired a knowledge of the old ballad music, entertained with a group of songs, accompanied with the dulcimer, which she said was played with a goose quill and a piece of sugar cane. These songs had the atmosphere of the primitive cabins where she had heard them. The dulcimer of black walnut was made in Germany in the 17th century.

As it was Conservation and Thrift day, it was fitting that the speaker should be versed in matters relating to the preservation of natural resources and beauties. Mrs. D. M. Goodridge, regent of the Sarah Hull Chapter of D. A. R., is also a member of the New England Division of the U. S. Planning Board and of the Bill-board Committee, and her talk was very informing and suggestive. She said, "To preserve that which is worth while and beautiful should be our aim, not only for ourselves but for those who come after us."

She told of what had been done in the state in acquiring forest land and of the constant care required in the preservation of a stand of trees. 12,000,000 insect pests threaten our plant life and vigilance is the cost of perfection. Mrs. Goodridge paid tribute to the work of the C. C. C. and referred to the establishment of the picnic spots, making possible a greater enjoyment of natural resources. Taking private gardens as a beginning, vision should extend to include towns, state and nation. Highway beautification, making the approach to a town attractive, planting in parks, schools, libraries and factories, careful selection of paint in regard to other public buildings, would greatly enhance the appearance of a place. The marking of rivers, creeks and anything of historic association would interest the strangers passing through.

The Bill-board Committee is making efforts for the elimination of roadside disfigurements and is zealously guarding what has been accomplished. Mrs. Goodridge recommended making greater use of the advice of the Planning Board when changes are being made in a community, as their help in the selection of park land, sites for factories and other buildings, would be very valuable in looking ahead to future growth.

Quilts were displayed in the Regent's and Washington rooms and as draperies elsewhere. Among them a silk quilt of the log cabin design, loaned by Mrs. Charles W. Blood and made by her grandmother, was much admired, also the one of rope and O. Woodward design loaned by Mrs. E. C. Woodward.

Tea was served. Mrs. W. L. Vossburgh, chairman, Mrs. William C. Safford, Mrs. John W. Byers presided at the table. The other hostesses were: Mrs. H. P. Bradford, Mrs. W. S. Slocum, Mrs. H. G. Prophet, Mrs. C. P. Hutchins, Mrs. C. H. Voe, Mrs. G. H. Williams, Mrs. W. C. Schford, Mrs. G. P. Buell, Mrs. E. S. Woodbury, Miss M. G. Webber, Mrs. L. E. G. Green, Miss L. G. Thompson, Mrs. D. R. Bliss, Mrs. E. V. Alley, Mrs. D. V. Phillips, Miss E. H. Freeman, Mrs. E. S. Drowne.

WOMEN'S CLUB ACTIVITIES

Noted Speaker for Community Night

"Community Night" will be observed by the Auburndale Woman's Club on Tuesday evening, November 19th, at 8 p. m., at the Auburndale Club House.

Dr. C. Ray Hansen, a noted lawyer of Chicago, will speak on "Government by Gangland." Attorney Hansen was satisfied to pursue the practice of Law until he found himself a victim of gangland, because he dared to interfere with their control of an election. Since then he has been a militant crusader against criminals.
He was a member of the staff of Hon.
Frank J. Loesch, veteran prosecutor of President Hoover's Crime Commission.

Club members will be interested that Mr. Doric Alviani will be the soloist of the evening, his accompanist being Miss Grace Montgomery.

In deference to the distinguished speaker all business will be postponed until the next Club meeting. The guest fee for the evening will be thirty-five cents.

Problems In Education

"Crime Prevention in the Adolescent" is the subject of the talk which Dr. A. Warren Stearns will give on Tuesday, November 19th, at 2:30 o'clock, before the Newtonville Woman's Club at their Club House. Dr.
Stearns, dean of the Tufts Medical School since 1927, has made a deep study of the adolescents in their relation to crime and criminals, and is an acknowledged authority in psychiatry and criminology. Years of research, as well as the wisdom of tolerance and understanding, enable Dr. Stearns to give to his audience an insight into the problems of those devoting time and effort for the betterment of youth.

After the lecture, tea will be served in Social Hall under the direction of Mrs. Fred M. Blanchard, chairman of Hospitality, who will be assisted by Mrs. Walter E. Brown, Mrs. Ernest
L. Nichols, and Mrs. Carl B. Hudson as hostesses. Mrs. Edwin P. McGill, Mrs. William L. Vosburgh, and Mrs.
Hugh A. McCrea will pour.

Mrs. Howard M. Waybright asks that the annual contributions of jellies, old cotton and linen for the Newton Hospital be brought to this meeting. Any clean, absorbent cloth is suitable for this need.

The first in the series of Conferences on Education will be held at the home of Mrs. Cecil W. Clark, 363
Walnut st., on Wednesday, November 20th, at 2:30 p. m. Mrs. Florence D.
Sloane, supervisor of the Boys' and Girls' Library, will have charge of the meeting. Another speaker will be Miss Miriam Putnam, who supervises the selections of books which are sent from the libraries to the schools, the ages of the children, and the subjects being studied by them, being carefully considered in these selections. The popularity and success of the meetings held last year by the Education committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Paul E. Ellicker, when the phases of the work in the Primary grade, Junior High, and High schools were presented, warrants the continuation of these Educational Conferences. The remaining three are scheduled to be held in a grade, a Junior High, and the High school libraries.

Guest Meeting

On Wednesday, November 20th, at 10 a. m., Prof. Bruce C. Hopper will speak on "The Far East from an American Point of View."

The hostesses will be Mrs. Loren
D. Towle and Mrs. Frederick L. Trowbridge.

Appeals for Toys

The Christmas Party committee of the Newtonville Woman's Club would appreciate donations of new toys or of toys which can be recon-ditioned for the Annual Party to be given for sixty of Newton's less fortunate children. The Firemen at Station 1, Newton, have volunteered again the same kind assistance they have given for several years, to renovate and to paint toys for use at this Party. Toys may be left at the Station opposite the Paramount Theatre, Newton, or notification may be sent to Mrs. Henry E. Johnson, chairman, 133 Lowell Ave., Newtonville, if any clubwomen or others in the Newtons would like to contribute toward the pleasure of these children who come from all sections of the city as guests of this Club.

ning road, for information.

Delightful Novelty Enjoyed

On Tuesday, November 12th, Mrs.
Walter S. Wells, chairman of the Activities committee of the Auburndale Woman's Club, presented her original and unique Bargain Sale Bridge at the Auburndale Club House punctually at 2 o'clock.

Warned to be on time for this event, most of the members were at their tables at 1:30 p. m. Mrs. Wells welcomed members and guests at the hour promised, and was greeted with enthusiastic applause. She introduced "Mr." W. A. Stiles, who gave the directions and instructions, and the at-ternoon's merriment began.

Each member and guest was presented with a most attractive small, antique brocade purse, containing six crisp, new, one-dollar bills of state money, to be spent during the progress of the game. The losers of the bridge were penalized to the extent of one of these new bills, which was paid to the winners. At a given sign from the Time-Keeper, the Traffic Officer, Elsa Appel, blew a shrill whistle, adjusted the "Stop and Go" sign, and the shoppers hurried to the merchandise tables to look for bargains. The winners went to the right side of the Auditorium, and the losers to the left. The bargains were in hats, priced from $1.00 to $3.00. And such hats! Large hats, small hats, tall hats, flat hats, hats trimmed with feathers or quills, or ribbons or buckles, or even with a surprising combination of all. But the losers had the task of selecting the mourners' hats in deep black. All purchases were new goods, and had to be worn. This, naturally, caused much gaiety and laughter as the players returned to their tables, wearing these

After fifteen minutes, the traffic signal registered a Red Stop, and in a few seconds the Green Light showed.
Ready for the second round of bridge, all players hoped to be winners this time. During the play of these hands, dapper Floor-Men marched in with more merchandise, which proved to be Queen Anne Ruffs, in all colors, beautifully trimmed with contrasting ribbons. On the mourners' side, there were again the deep black ones. When it was time to shop again, the shoppers were bedecked not only with hats, but with ruffs as well, and there was much amusement as members compared bargains.

While the third hands were being played, twelve splendid-looking chefs entered, dressed in spotless white suits. They were carrying interesting-looking packages, which were offered at different prices, for the next purchase. These proved to be the refreshments, attractively packed and served in boxes. All players should have had some money left for these boxes, and those who had but one dollar had to be satisfied with a $1.00 luncheon box. Luckily, however, all packages yielded tasty sandwiches, cakes, cookies, peanuts, candies, etc.

While coffee was being served, Mrs.
Alfred A. Becker, representing Monsieur Ponce, presented several ultramodern "Fall and Winter Fashions."
The models were Miss Shirley Williams, Mrs. Charles S. Grover, Mrs.
Ralph Webber, Miss Molly Godfrey, Mrs. Charles E. Valentine, Mrs. Strabo V. Claggett, Mrs. Herbert Farrier, Mrs. Herman Krueger, and Mrs. John F. Wheelock.

Mrs. Harry A. Every was in charge of the purses, hats, and ruffs.
Mrs. V. A. Stiles made a very handsome Floor-Man, in charge of the bridge, and was assisted by Mrs. Walter Van Patten Steiger, Mrs. John I.
Heibek, Mrs. Walter Davis, Mrs. Ernest F. Drew, Mrs. Athar W. Desoe,

Newton Hospital Report Shows Problems to Meet

The report of the executive committee of the Newton Hospital shows an increase of gross income for the period of nine months ending on September 30th, over a corresponding period in 1934 and also an increase in the cost of free treatment. The report also indicates the attention of the committee to various phases of the operation of the hospital as outlined by Mr. Herbert M. Cole, chairman of the executive committee, who presented the report at the meeting of the Hospital Trustees recently. Mr. Cole's report in part follows:

"For the first nine months of this year ended September 30, as shown by the Treasurer's report, the hospital had a gross income of $225,342, an increase of $18,000 over the same period last year; expenses were up $8,000, so that our operating income showed an improvement of $10,000. It should be recalled, however, that $9,000 of this improvement was due to the absence this year of certain rather large capital expenditures which inflated our expenses a year ago.

"Our operating deficit for the nine months was $50,947, against $61,204 in the 1934 period, comparing with an anticipated loss of $66,593. As always, the amount of free treatment for those unable to pay anything for their care was a big expense item. At the ward rate of $3 a day, this free treatment stands on our books as costing $28,259 against a corresponding figure of $26,271 a year ago. On the basis of actual average adult cost to us, however, of $7.13 per day, this free treatment is increased to $10,000. Little wonder is it, therefore, that Newton Hospital is forced into the red ink column. On top of this non-profit service is the great work of the out-patient department which, as you know, does not return to us in income one-half of the cost of its operation. Such are our contributions to the welfare of the community.

"Our mid-summer estimates of the deficit, after endowment income and donations for the year 1935, were fortunately too high. In the middle of the year it looked as if we would be "in the red" after these contributions by the amount of $22,000. This dropped to $13,000 by September and now it looks like a final deficit of $4,263. Against $45,000 allocated to us in 1935, the Community Chest has assigned $56,000 for 1936 if in the forthcoming drive the goal of $186,000 for all agencies is achieved.

"The operating results of the last three months of the year, October, November and December, are always our poorest, and a definite forecast of final results at this time is impossible. We are now negotiating with the banks carrying our $93,000 of notes payable for a still lower rate of interest, and with the assistance of our President, we have reason to believe that the interest cost of a substantial portion of this indebtedness will be reduced to 1½%, an unheard of rate on loans of this character but which will be of material assistance in reducing our operating expenses.

"We are pleased to acknowledge the friendly co-operation of Mayor Weeks and Dr. Choje, the new head of the Newton Board of Health Department. Up to September 30, 1934 we did a gross business for the city's health department of only $1,756; this year to date it amounts to $7,060.

"As you know, we have been greatly concerned over the steady climb in the costs of our nursing service, due to the employment of an increasing number of graduate nurses. Our medical and surgical salaries have jumped in round figures from $35,000 in 1931 to $44,000 in 1932, to $46,600 in 1933, to $62,500 in 1934, and they are still rising. A special committee from members of the Executive Committee was appointed to investigate the whole question. This committee consisted of Messrs. Rogers, Chase and Dr. Keever, and they have submitted their report. They state that the general subject of graduate nursing versus student nursing has been given extensive study for the past five years by experts sponsored and financed by the leading medical and nursing organizations of the country at an expense of over $300,000. The problem, therefore, is not unique with the Newton Hospital, and is one not easily solved, where the best in nursing service is demanded. The committee believes the program adopted by the trustees to employ graduate nurses and reduce the number of student nurses is fundamentally sound, and should be continued, providing the net loss does not exceed the amount we can expect from endowment fund interest, the Newton Community Chest and the citizens of Wellesley.

"The Hospital Aid Association continues its splendid work for our institution and our debt of obligation to that fine group of women continues to grow. Sensing the need of additional X-ray equipment, a department which seems to interest them greatly, they have offered, and we have accepted with deep gratitude, a gift of $1500 toward a $2000 net cost to us of new and greatly needed apparatus.

"Our administrative force will be called upon to face the loss on November 1 of our Superintendent of Nurses, Miss Nell A. Hostettler, who has resigned to take a similar position with the Genesee Hospital at Rochester, N. Y., at a salary higher than we have been paying. Miss Hostettler has served us faithfully for the past six years and we are deeply indebted to her for most conscientious work in one of the most important and difficult departments of our institution. She takes with her our best wishes for the future and we trust as opportunity offers she will now and then pay us a friendly call as she finds herself in this part of the country."

Newton League Of Women Voters

The Newton League of Women Voters, which for the last two years has been a branch of the Boston League, has cut its leading strings and presents itself to the city as an independent League under the presidency of Mrs. Walter Hartstone.

The first meeting was held on Friday, Oct. 25, at the home of Mrs. Hartstone, 350 Centre st. The business of the meeting was the discussion of plans for the coming season. Mrs. Robert L. DeNormandie, President of the Boston League, and a Director of the Massachusetts League, spoke on the Program of Work of the National League. This program, adopted at the National Convention, proposes a two-year campaign for better government personnel. It is the outcome of the report of the Commission of Inquiry on Public Personnel, which states: "There are in the United States 175,000 independent units of government, each the power to raise and spend money, and to furnish its citizens some part of the continually changing services of government. These units range from the federal government with a million employees * * * down to the smallest school district with a single child to the smallest town with 3,250,000 public servants * * * and spend in salaries some four and a half billion dollars a year. * * * It was to study the problem of governmental man-power * * * of securing competent men and women to fill the non-elective positions and perform the day-to-day work of government that the Commission of Inquiry * * * was appointed late in December, 1933, by the Social Research Council, to study the broad problems of public personnel within the United States, to outline a program for future action, and to present its findings and recommendations to the American people early in 1935."

The program of work of the National League of Women Voters involves a study of the personnel of each town in which there is a League. To aid in this study a pamphlet entitled "Know Your Town" has been issued with questions and suggestions for local study. There is such a diversity in the subject that it gives scope for activity of all the different depart-

Holden Defines His Issues

Sydney B. Holden, candidate for Mayor, outlines his plans for the future welfare of the City of Newton in the following platform:

First, he believes more investigations are necessary in the Welfare Department in order to give the most economical and efficient service in that branch of the city government.

Second, in his opinion, because of the extent of the city's growth, it is necessary to spend more time in administering city affairs than has been the custom of former Mayors.

He believes that constant supervision is the only way to lower or to keep taxes at the present rate. He stated that he had a street and sidewalk program which, over a period of years, would not only furnish employment for Newton men, but would give Newton the finest street and sidewalk system in the Commonwealth.

The Column of July

The Column of July is a fluted column of bronze on the place de la Bastille in Paris, dedicated on July 28, 1840, to the "French citizens who fought for the defense of the public liberties on the memorable days of the 27th, 28th and 29th of July, 1830." The column rests on a round base of white marble. Four bands encircle it, bearing the names of the 615 who fell in the revolution and whose remains, together with those of the victims of the revolution of 1848, are contained in the vaults underneath.

Busses Shifted At Newton Corner

Because of the resurfacing work in progress at Centre st., Newton Corner, it has been necessary to temporarily shift the terminus of the Waltham and Framingham busses from in front of the Stevens Building near Nonantum Square about 150 feet southerly on Centre st. in front of the Whitman and Sumner blocks. The Middlesex & Boston Company has had a uniformed employee at the regular terminus from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. informing patrons of the shift. Despite this, a letter in a Boston newspaper on Thursday misstated that the bus company had not taken this precaution to prevent confusion.

Burglary At Newton Centre

Burglars entered the home of Walter Muldoon, 260 Langley rd., Newton Centre, on Wednesday and stole jewelry and other articles valued at $300. Entrance was made by forcing a rear window while members of the family were away from the house.

Newton Lower Falls

A very successful Townsend Club meeting was held on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Porter of Pierpont rd.

Miss Ellen Knight of Gove st. passed away suddenly on Saturday, Nov. 2, at the home of her sister, Mrs. Edward Cooper with whom she made her home. Burial was in Troy, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lurvey entertained their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Carlyle Lurvey of Rochester, N. H., and their nephew and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Somer of Hardwick, Vermont, over the week end.

Newton Man Asks Millen Reward

Charles W. Davidson, owner of the West Newton Battery Station at 981 Watertown st. has made a claim for part of the $25,000 reward to be paid by the State for the apprehension of the Needham Bank robbery murderers, the Millens and Faber. Davidson contends that following the arrest of a Newton resident as a suspect, one of his battery checks was found, and when the car used by the murderers and abandoned at Norwood was discovered, Davidson was asked by a Needham policeman to examine the battery in the car. It was not the battery which he had repaired, but he claims he gave valuable information to the police.

(Cut out and mail to PUZZLO EDITOR, NEWTON GRAPHIC)

PUZZLO DIRECTIONS

Starting with any letter or number on the chart, draw a continuous line connecting Sixty Squares, containing as many letters representing advertisers and as many of the largest numbers as possible. Your line must not connect more than four squares or less than three squares in any one direction and must not include the same square twice. The line must not cross itself and must change from horizontal to vertical or vice versa as in sample chart. Draw a circle at each end of the line when completed. The sample chart below illustrates all of the above rules clearly. Only one solution may be worked out on a chart.

PUZZLO SOLUTION

To figure out your solution add all the figures in the squares connected by your line. To this sum add 99 for each letter the line passes through representing an advertiser. From this last total subtract 99 for each letter the line passes through which does not represent an advertiser. Convert this final result to dollars and cents. This is your solution to the puzzle and should be inserted in the space provided directly under the chart you have completed.

Send your chart to the Graphic Office with the blank properly filled out. Make a purchase at the store of one of the advertisers and obtain his signature in order to be eligible for a double value prize.

READ CAREFULLY

The object of Puzzle is to work out a solution showing the largest amount of money you can save during an imaginary shopping tour, calling on as many of the advertisers as you can. Each advertiser on this page is represented on the chart by a different letter, which is duplicated in their advertisement for identification. All other letters on the chart should be avoided to obtain the best solution. LOOK FOR THE LETTER IN EACH ADVERTISEMENT!

AWARDS FOR BEST SOLUTIONS

Each week the Graphic will pay the following prizes to the contestants who submit the three highest totals as a solution to Puzzle:

First Prize $5.00 in Cash
Second Prize 2.50 in Cash
Third Prize 1.00 in Cash

Contestants will be eligible to receive double value prize if the blank accompanying the solution bears the signature of one of the advertisers upon this page. Contestants should make a purchase at one of these stores and request the advertiser's signature before submitting their solution. If the solution is one of the three highest submitted, the prize award will be doubled by the award of a merchandise order equal to the amount of the cash prize.

In case of ties, neatness and the amount of the purchase will be the basis of determining prize awards.

IMPORTANT

All entries will be judged by The Graphic Editors and awards so made will be considered final. Each week's contest will close on Friday of the week after publication and entries must be left at the Graphic office or mailed not later than midnight of that day.

Next week—Puzzle No. 3, containing a different combination of letters and figures.

Winners of Puzzle No. 1 will be announced next week.

BUICK

Four new lines of cars for 1936 are being offered by Buick. The new cars range in price from $765 to $1945; reductions from last year's prices of $40 to $385. The Series 40 Special can be purchased at a price enabling thousands of motorists to realize a long, unfulfilled dream of Buick ownership. It offers the full range of Buick features—oil-cushioned, Valve-in-Head straight eight engine, tip-toe hydraulic brakes, turret top body by Fisher, built-in knee action, sealed chassis and many other improvements. Thrilling performance, dazzling beauty, luxurious comfort; the Series 40 Buick Special has them all. Easy on gasoline and oil, it fits easily into the modest budget.

The Buick Century, Series 60, flashed from 10 to 60 miles an hour in less than 21 seconds. It stops instantly with Buick tip-toe hydraulic brakes, and it whisks around curves with safety. It has every feature that assures long life even under modern driving conditions. The Buick Roadmaster with its 120 horsepower motor sets the road pace. Its masterly proportions permit six passengers to ride with comfort. The magnificent Buick Limited, 135-inch wheelbase, regal in its spacious luxury, is as light to handle as a small car. The Newton Buick Company at 371 Washington st., Newton, will be pleased to give demonstrations of these four lines, and convince you that Buick's the Buy for 1936.

PACKARD

Four series of Packards, ranging in price from $1000 to $5000 and beyond, are presented by the company for the new season. Altogether, 43 body types are included, all retaining the characteristic appearance of their predecessors.

The leader of the lines is the 120, lowest priced Packard first introduced at the automobile show last year, which served to boost the company's production to the highest mark in its history. In addition there are an eight, super-eight and twelve.

Various improvements are said to have been incorporated in the new 120. Horsepower has been raised from 110 to 120 by lengthening the piston stroke, this giving improved acceleration and reducing engine speed, it is claimed.

A cooling and shielding arrangement for the fuel pump is said to lessen the possibility of gasoline vapor lock, of particular benefit to persons on long trips in hot weather who pick up different grades of fuel as they speed along the road.

Unusual agility in performance and acceleration are claimed for the new engines.

The new Packards are being shown and demonstrated by Newton Auto Sales, Inc.

PONTIAC

For 1936 Pontiac brings out three lines—a deluxe Eight, a Master Six and a deluxe Six. A large number of improvements is said to be incorporated in the new cars, but there are no radical mechanical changes.

With the "silver streak" radiator and grille introduced last year, nineteen body types are included. Six models are mounted on each of the deluxe Eight and the deluxe Six chassis, and seven models on the Master Six. In all lines there are two-door and four-door touring sedans with built-in trunks, standard coupe for two passengers and sport coupe for four passengers. In addition there is a four-passenger cabriolet on the Six chassis. The bodies are by Fisher and safety glass is standard equipment.

Various alterations have been made in appearance. The chromium grille has been crowned, the front and rear fenders made deeper, and lamps mounted on the rear fenders. Wheelbases remain at 117 inches on the Eight and 112 inches on the Sixes. Interiors have been thoroughly redesigned, especially as to the cushions and upholstery.

Frank Battles located at 26 Peabody st., Newton Corner, has recently been appointed Newton dealer for Pontiacs. Mr. Battles has been associated with Pontiac cars for many years, and will gladly demonstrate this "most beautiful thing on wheels."

Sons of Veterans Place Flags on G. A. R. Graves

On Sunday, Nov. 10, in honor of Armistice Day Mr. Sanderson of Camp 31, S. of V., placed flags on comrades of Post 62, G. A. R. graves in Evergreen Cemetery, Newton Highlands and St. Mary's in Needham. Edward A. Cauldwell of Camp 31, S. of V., placed flags on G. A. FORD

New lines of beauty that accentuate length and give the car new grace in motion distinguish the Ford V-8 for 1936. Newly designed fenders and wheels further improve the appearance. A longer hood and more pointed grille make the car appear longer. The bodies have the same dimensions as the 1935 cars except for greater width in the four-door sedans. The steering ratio has been raised from 15 to 1 to 17 to 1, reducing the effort necessary to turn the car by 25%. Helical gears are now used in low and reverse speeds as well as in high and second, thus giving quiet shifting in all speeds.

The Ford stands out because it gives the finest type of eight-cylinder engine—the V-8. The car that led all others in 1935 has been made still better for the new year. The Ford is in a class by itself. It has outstanding power, speed, acceleration. The V-8 has been tried and proved in actual experience by over 2,000,000 motorists; more than 1,000,000 in the past year. It combines fine-car performance with low cost; $510 and up F. O. B. The Ford V-8 is sold in this city by the Newton Motor Sales Company, 71 Washington st., Newtonville.

PLYMOUTH

The new Plymouths, with a number of design changes and mechanical developments are offered in three regular and seven de luxe body types, all built on wheelbase of 115 inches.

One of the main improvements is in steering, which is said to be practically "shockless." Front springs are pivoted at the rear instead of the front, and there is a new steering shock eliminator to absorb road irregularities. In addition, the ride stabilizer used in last season's car has been perfected, and is now mounted on the shock absorbers instead of attached to the front axle.

The frame has been completely redesigned, and is said to be twice as resistant to stresses and twisting motion as heretofore.

Considerable changes are incorporated in the bodies, which are longer, lower and wider.

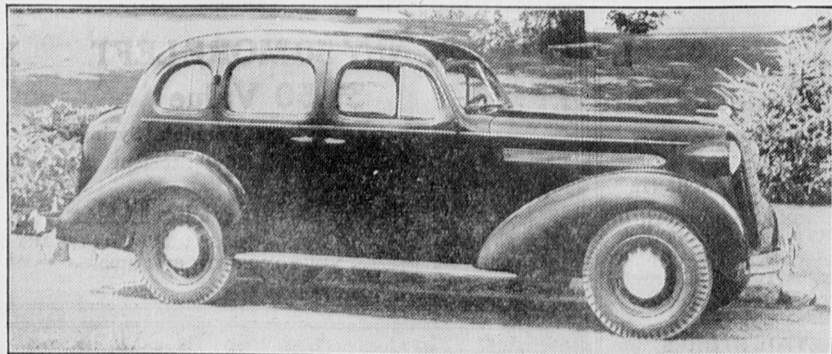

Instead of lacquer, a newly developed high-color enamel paint is now used for the bodies. For demonstration, just call Mr. Steeves at the Geo. E. Wrye Motors, Newton Highlands. Mr. Steeves has been in the automobile business for the past 15 years, and it may be said that he knows his cars. Mr. Wrye is head of the Geo. E. Wrye Insurance Co., 110 Milk st., Boston. CADILLAC

Cadillac is presenting four lines of cars—a lower-priced V-8 on a shorter wheelbase named the Series 60, with Fisher bodies, and new series of V-8, V-12 and V-16 with Fleetwood bodies.

The newly created Series 60, with base list price of $1,645 has been designed for those who wish a smaller car embodying luxury features yet easy to manoeuvre through traffic. With a motor of 125 horsepower, these cars are said to have a top speed of 90 to 100 miles an hour. The high power ratio—1 horsepower to 33 pounds car weight—minimizes the need for shifting and gives rapid acceleration even at high speed.

Bodies of this model are two-passenger coupe with opera seat for an extra passenger, two-passenger convertible coupe with rumble seat, and five-passenger four-door touring sedan with rear trunk.

The Cadillac-Fleetwood series is presented in thirty body types on five chassis, all the models being custom built. These cars have all-steel tops, and the sides and even the rear floors are also of steel, thus adding to safety. Particular attention has been paid to insulating interiors against sound and extremes of temperature. The compartments are said to provide more passenger room, and the seats, with variable rate springs, are padded with wool. The interiors are said to be luxuriously appointed.

A similar number of models are offered on the V-12, which has 150 horsepower. A number of ready-built bodies are provided for the 185 horsepower V-16, in addition to a wide variety of special custom types. This car is built on a wheel-base of 154 inches.

OLDSMOBILE

With some changes in design which, however, retain the characteristic style popular last season, the new Oldsmobiles are offered in a series of sixes in the low-price field and of eights in the medium range.

Among the developments included are "super" hydraulic brakes, knee-action wheels, solid-steel top and "centre control" steering, claimed to give unusually easy handling.

Various improvements have been made in the new engines, which are now mounted in rubber at three points in such a way as to absorb vibration.

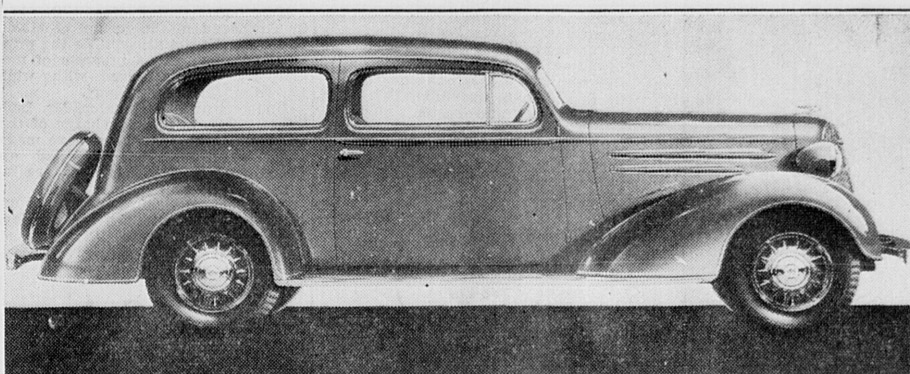

The front end of the car has been redesigned, headlamps now being mounted high and the hood extending all the way to the grille. On the eight-cylinder cars parking lights are mounted on the front fenders. The six-cylinder car has larger tires, which add both to comfort and safety, and both series have V-type windshield.

Both models are said to be unusually roomy, with wide seats having more durable upholstery. There is no ridge or tunnel on the floor of the rear compartment, so that the passenger sitting in the centre of the seat has ample leg room.

Frost Motors, Inc., are the Newton Dealers and are showing and demonstrating the new Oldsmobile as well as the two members of the Royal Family of Motordom, the Cadillac and LaSalle.

CHEVROLET

The new Chevrolet Standard and Master Deluxe models for 1935 have met with the enthusiastic approval of the motoring public. On November 2nd, the first day these models were displayed, the Silver Lake Chevrolet Company, 44 Watertown st., Newton, sold 5 of these new cars and took orders for 9 more. Both models have the same engineering and style features as last year, but a number of improvements have been made.

These include hydraulic brakes, higher compression motors, improved carburation and steel turret tops on Standard as well as Master models. The Standard models are now similar in appearance to the Master models and have the same motor. The Master models may be had either with knee-action or conventional springs. Already offering the most economical power plant in its field, the new Chevrolet models have been improved to give even 6 percent greater economy in operation than last year. The Standard models delivery prices in Newton range from $630.15 up, according to body type; the Master models delivery prices in Newton are from $724.30 up. The Silver Lake Chevrolet Company invites you to have demonstrations of these remarkable new models, and offers for your convenience its service department with complete modern equipment.

LA SALLE

Four models, offered at the lowest prices since LaSalle was first introduced eight years ago, are presented by the company for the new season.

The new cars are said to emphasize streamlining, and the distinctive narrow radiator is continued but with a slightly convex effect.

Bodies, by Fisher, include closed coupe with extra opera seat, convertible coupe with rumble seat, two-door five-passenger touring sedan and four-door five-passenger touring sedan. Both five-passenger models carry built-in trunks. The doors are now hinged forward instead of at the rear and the wheels are of the steel disk type.

For the 1935 models a new instrument panel has been designed. The motor, of 248 cubic-inch displacement, with a cylinder head of special design which is said not to require the use of high-test gasoline, incorporates various features of carburetion, valve and distribution system making for rapid acceleration. Lightweight pistons, of anodized aluminum, are declared to have a much harder surface than those in last year's cars. The massive frame is also said to be much stronger than heretofore. Synchro-mesh mechanism is said to make gear shifting unusually effortless.

Call at Frost Motors, Inc., at 399 Washington st., Newton for a demonstration.

Bailey of New York City will give an illustrated lecture on the subject, "The Contribution of Art to Religion." For many years he has conducted groups of college students to the famous art centers of Europe. He has made over twenty trips to the Mediterranean countries in his search for a deeper and more significant interpretation of the art treasures of that part of the world.

Next Wednesday evening, Professor Bailey will use colored slides to illustrate his lecture. His library of hand-colored slides is one of the finest in the entire country. Rotary Club

The holiday postponed the weekly luncheon of the Newton Rotary Club to Tuesday and afforded an opportunity for Newton to be host to seven other clubs in the vicinity. Consequently the Brae Burn dining room was overflowing when some 130 members from Concord, Natick, Waltham, Needham, Watertown, Cambridge and Lexington sat down with the Newton group, a total of about 180 Rotarians. The speaker was Ernest Dunbar, President of the Cambridge Rubber Co., who has held various offices in Rotary from the Presidency of his own Cambridge club up to his present position of Director of Rotary International. His theme was the place of Rotary and other Service Clubs in the life of the community, nation, and world. While granting that all, including Rotarians, emphasize strongly the more fundamental issues brought out in the four objectives of Rotary and insisted on the right—as well as the duty—of every Rotarian to know the underlying principles and to have a share, a very active share, in working out these principles through membership on committees.

Asks Letters Be Sent Against Moderate Drinking

Speaking before the presidents and directors of the Unions of Middlesex County Woman's Christian Temperance Organizations assembled at the Woburn Baptist Church Friday, Mrs. Mabelle Groves of Newton Centre called on those present to send a letter to the Council of Moderation, New York City, now running a campaign for moderate drinking. The letter asks if they have seen the account of experiments made at the meeting of the National Safety Council at Louisville, Ky., Oct. 14-15, by Dr. Herman A. Heise of Milwaukee. Dr. Heise conducted experiments on the spot with volunteers as to their respective efficiency before and after taking small quantities of alcohol, approximating little more than a single drink. The tests included threading needles, operating typewriters, shifting gears and applying brakes. The Council report showed a 13 to 56% decrease in efficiency in hand-eye coordination by those who had consumed small amounts of whiskey as compared by the records made by the same individuals before drinking. There is little doubt, said the Council, that even small amounts of alcohol produce demonstrable, deleterious changes which tend to increase driving hazards.

Tuesday, Nov. 5th, marked the end of a five-week project when Girl Scout Troop 27 held a Fall Flower Show at their meeting place in Trinity Church, Newton Centre. Tea was served to the girls' mothers while the judging was going on in another room.

Blue, and red ribbons with a gold Girl Scout seal on them were awarded in each class. A Special Prize purple ribbon was awarded for the most interesting exhibit and this was won by Joanne Dierdorff's patrol. Her patrol showed great ingenuity in landscaping a Doll House. There were window boxes of tiny berries, cut out in small sections made the lawn, a hedge of pine, and a sedum twined around the pillars of the house. Miniature fall flowers formed a garden. There was even a gravel walk in front of which stood a small automobile, and a smiling doll stood hospitably in the doorway.

The second prize in the Ingenuity Class won by Barbara Houghton's patrol was a tall pumpkin jar filled with wax berries. White candles in silver holders stood on either side and the background was silver.

The judging was done by Mrs. Ernest J. Weaver of Newton Highlands, and Mrs. W. Herbert Stetson of Newton Centre.

The entire show indicated great promise and interest on the part of the girls.

The winners in the five classes were as follows:

1. Seed pods and autumn foliage or evergreen spray—First Place, Barbara Dunston; Second Place, Jean MacKinon.
2. Fruit in bowls—First Place, Barbara Peabody; Second Place, Sybil Martinez.
3. Vegetables in baskets—First Place, Joan Hart; Second Place, Phyllis Greene.

wedding and beautiful home in Sorrento was fascinating. He wrote one novel a year to maintain this home.

A Charter member of the club, Mr. W. H. Blood, had Claude Monet and His Garden, by S. Gwynn to review. She told how this artist loved darkness and loved light, described his beautiful garden with its lily pond, water-lilies of many colors, trees, and wisteria vines making a fine sanctuary for birds.

A new Club member, Miss Cora MacKenzie, heard the "Romance of Leonardo da Vinci," by Merejkowski. She gave a vivid word picture of this artist who was an outstanding figure of the Renaissance, intellectually a giant. He wrote one hundred and twenty books on nature; had an extensive knowledge of air machines; always wanted to fly on wings in the air. He was an artist of marvelous powers and profoundly religious. It took him three years to paint "The Last Supper." His "Mona Lisa" is the most celebrated portrait in the world.

"To a Water Lily," by MacDowell; "In My Neighbor's Garden," by Nevin; "The Reapers," by Francois Couperin; and "Pastorale," by Domenico Scarlatti were the appropriate piano solos, which added much beauty to the program, rendered by Mrs. Nelson Freeman, also a Club member.

After the meeting Professor Frank Lombard, of the International Travel Bureau, gave a very interesting talk on China and Japan, and the rise of Japanese influence in the Orient. Margaret Davock, President; Valentine Ayvazian, Treasurer, and Marie Callahan, Secretary, of the 4-H Clothing Club of the West Newton Community Centre, Inc., attended the Officers Training Course held at the Banks School, Waltham, on Saturday, November 2. This course was under the supervision of the Middlesex County Extension Service.

Edward Delaney, Stevens Ruane, John Flaherty, Gino Gastoldi, Thomas Dugan, Norman Cronin, Charles Merillo, James Mathews, Russell Milligan, George Connolly, John Murphy, John Roche and Salvatore Yerardi comprised the cast of the West Newton Community Centre episode in the Community Chest Pageant at the West Newton Armory, Monday, November 4. The West Newton Community Centre, Inc. is a Charter Member of the Chest.

This year's production will be "The Perfect Getaway" by J. C. McMullen and coached by Mrs. George Pratt Maxim of Ricker rd. Heading the "all-star cast" are Miss Dorothy E. Chubb and Mr. William J. Robinson. Following the play there will be dancing to the music of a well-known orchestra.

Benefit Shop To Hold "Treasure Sale"

The Hospital Aid Benefit Shop at 795 Washington st., Newtonville, will hold its annual "Treasure Sale" on Thursday, Nov. 21st, from 10 to 5. During the year interesting things of all kinds are collected and placed on sale at the Benefit on a day apart from the regular business days. It is a good time to visit this activity of the Hospital Aid Association and see what it is doing not only to raise money for the unusually up to date equipment of the Hospital, but to learn how the shop serves on three days a week some of our self-respecting neighbors who profit by its bargains instead of asking relief without paying.

District Nursing Ass'n Conducts Well-Baby Station

Three hundred and five new babies were admitted to the Well-Baby stations of the Newton District Nursing Association during the past year. The total attendance figure reached 3315. Four stations are maintained by the association, each under supervision of a district nurse and a physician. Volunteer help is used to take charge of the record work. The accompanying illustration shows one of the stations in session.

Mothers bring their babies from the time they are a few weeks old until they reach two years. Upon admittance and every six months each baby is given a thorough examination. In case of especial need more frequent examinations are given. A mother has the privilege of consulting the physician about feeding and general care and when she can afford it is asked to pay twenty-five cents for such consultation. If the baby shows signs of disease the mother is referred to her family physician as no sick babies are tended at these stations.

Each baby is weighed upon each visit to the station and a record kept as well as a weight book which is kept by the mother as a family record. The nurse, in cases of need, secures supplementary aid if the mother is unable to provide the necessities for a growing baby. If the regular visits are missed the nurse visits the home to learn the reason and to check upon the baby. When necessary home visits are made by the nurses to instruct the mother how to bathe, dress and prepare any necessary food formulas for the baby. In the spring the babies under care of the station are provided with protection against diphtheria. During last April 225 babies received toxoid treatment for this purpose.

It is hoped at some future time to provide similar conferences for children of preschool age (2 to 6 years) but at the present time the necessary funds for such work are not available.

Needham Files Nearly 10,000 Nomination Signatures As Campaign Resumes Activity

Gen. Daniel Needham Filing Nomination Papers At City Hall on Wednesday

General Daniel Needham's campaign for Mayor picked up speed during the past week when he personally filed nomination papers for the office at City Hall and also opened his general campaign headquarters in the Orr Building in Newtonville. When the Community Chest drive came to an end he gave word to all his Ward leaders and Precinct Captains to resume activity.

Needham appeared at the office of the City Clerk on Wednesday morning with his arms loaded with nomination papers and turned over to Frank M. Grant nearly 300 nomination papers bearing signatures of 9,257 citizens of Newton. To supporters who accompanied him he declared that there will be no let-up in securing additional signatures by his campaign workers and that several hundred other nomination papers still in the hands of workers will not be called in until December first. He expects when this part of his campaign is concluded to have in excess of 15,000 names.

Public rallies, he declared, will be started immediately after the first of December and conducted daily until the close of the campaign. (Continued on page 12)

Chest Goal In Sight As Campaign Ends

Incomplete Returns Show Over 85 Per Cent Pledged

The 1935 Campaign Committee of the Newton Community Chest, Inc., reports that 85% of the goal of $186,347.20 is definitely in sight. Campaign Director Maynard Hutchinson states that "the energy and determination of the entire campaign organization gives every assurance of a successful campaign and that the goal will be reached." Lower Falls was the first to exceed its quota of $500.00, going over by $121.00. Chairman Thomas F. Donahue and his village group were fully responsible for this success.

Upper Falls, under Village Chairman Adrian Matthews, was the second to exceed its quota of $1,000.00 by $183.00. Waban, under Village Chairman Donald G. Robbins and Village Special Gifts Chairman Lawrence Allen was the third to exceed its quota of $13,000.00 by $490.75. To these men and their respective organizations all credit is due. Other villages are turning in pledges every day and three which are already over the top have not yet completed their returns. The Campaign headquarters announces that five boys of the Cabot School in Newton gave a "movie show" and raised the sum of $1.30, which they turned in to the Campaign as their gift. The boys are Derek Beard, Eugene T. Maloney, John Connors, Billy B. McKenna, and Alan J. McNinis.

Another boy, nine years old, gave his all as his pledge to the Campaign. The sum was only three cents, but that represented "real" money to him.

Needham rally at the State Armory, West Newton. On Saturday night, December 7th a Childs' rally will be held in the State Armory, West Newton. (Continued on page 12)

SHALL WE GO FORWARD?

During the past ten months we have watched the development of the mayoralty campaign in Newton. And during these months we have weighed carefully the facts and have set aside the fancy which is always a part of politics. It is commonly known that the Needham campaign actually began with the announcement of General Needham's candidacy early in the year and that it has quietly, yet effectively, been preparing for election day on December 10th. Little had been said, however, regarding the candidacy of Ex-Mayor Edwin O. Childs until announcement was made some weeks ago that he would enter the field. We have no hesitation, however, in expressing our belief that the genial ex-mayor's candidacy dates back to the day in 1928 when he announced that he would not oppose Sinclair Weeks for the office. It has been quite apparent ever since then that when Mayor Weeks retired as chief executive of the city Mr. Childs would again enter the field. Meanwhile, in his characteristic way, he has undoubtedly retained much of his personal popularity, his chief asset in the coming campaign. While there are other candidates in the field chief interest is centered around these two well-known and well-liked men, and it would be a major upset if any of the others ran close for top honors.

Both of the leading candidates are well-liked personally, with the ex-mayor having a substantial advantage over his chief opponent because of his longer association with local affairs. Thus it was evident that the only way the Needham forces could convince Newton voters of their leader's ability to fill the office was through active, organized effort. We have heard "machine politics" in Newton criticized severely, yet "machine methods can acquaint the thousands of voters in such a city as Newton with the qualifications of candidates far more accurately than can any amount of newspaper publicity, platform oratory or individual effort. We are positive that forces which stand for the best interests of the city, call it "machine," "organization" or what you will, is more beneficial than detrimental. The harm comes from improper use of such methods, not from the method itself.

In any consideration of the mayoralty contest we must recall that Mayor Childs held office for sixteen years through the pre-war and post-war periods leading to the prosperous era of the late twenties. During the growth of the city at that time the administration of government was vastly different and less complex than today. It was a natural growth in accordance with the times. Unfortunately, in many ways, these times came to an end. Fortunately for Newton residents a business executive then went into office and began the task of putting business methods into our local administration. Many of the most difficult places in the rough, hard road have been passed, but, by no manner of means, have we yet emerged upon a smooth, untrammelled way. There are many obstacles in the administration of government to be met—many problems which must be closely studied by a keen, capable executive. There is no question in our minds that if it were our sole responsibility to select an executive for a five million dollar business from the available candidates that we would unhesitatingly select General Daniel Needham. The city of Newton is nearly a five million dollar business—and General Needham has demonstrated his capacity as an executive. During the past six years we have not only stood the test of the times, but have progressed—we can and should continue.

It would be a progressive and forward step to entrust the responsibilities of Mayor of Newton to General Daniel Needham.

THE MORALE OF DEMOCRACY

In the consideration of potential candidates for state offices for some years we have frequently deplored the attitude of many candidates toward wealth and inheritance. In speaking of his candidacy for Governor at the meeting of the Republican Club on Monday night Speaker Leverett Saltonstall did his party and politics a real service when he met the issue openly and squarely. There is nothing derogatory in wealth, social prestige, or family background. In fact, throughout the history of our state we can readily find persons of such a type are the ones who have thus far maintained the better government, and that in the future it is these candidates who will eventually save and perpetuate democracy. We have in general become prone to bring into our state politics class distinction as well as racial and religious prejudice. In openly throwing down the gauntlet to those in the Republican party who aver that because a man has inherited wealth and social background that he cannot win the confidence of the average voter, Speaker Saltonstall has once again demonstrated his sincerity and conscientious devotion to duty. The more frankness and honesty of this kind that we can have the sooner will the morale of democracy be restored to its proper balance.

Did you know that in 1934 automobile taxes of various forms, such as license fees, gasoline and excise taxes totaled over $53,000,000 more than the $1,147,000,000 received by the manufacturers from automobile dealers?

What father would like most to get out of his new car is the rest of the family.

A few weeks ago Patrolman Jack Austin of the Metropolitan Police at the Riverside station at Auburndale observed that three of the ducks which were in the flock at the cove adjoining Weston bridge near Norumbega Park, had been banded. Austin caught one of the ducks and jotted down the numbers on the band. He communicated with officials at Washington and this week received word that the duck had been banded in Yarmouth County, Nova Scotia. Many of the ducks which have been making their home near the Weston bridge in late years are descendants of the wild ducks which first became tame at this location sometime ago. But, each year the flock receives accessions from wild ducks, which happen along in their migrations, and decide to join the well fed group near Norumbega.

The heavy gale of Sunday did considerable damage to trees and wires in this city. Many limbs were broken off and wires were blown down at Willow and Centre sts., Beacon st. and Langley rd., Waltham and Webster sts. A pole was blown over at Elliot ter., Newton Upper Falls, and another pole damaged on Commonwealth ave. near East Boulevard rd.

The interest that Newton parents show in the scholastic work of their children was well evidenced on Wednesday evening at the annual Parents' night at the Newton High School. More than fifteen hundred parents conferred with the teachers of subjects taught there. Following these conferences during which each teacher held interviews with an average of fifty parents a demonstration of the new electric organ installed early in the school year was given in the assembly hall. During the evening members of the educational committees and officers and directors of the various Women's clubs of the city served as hostesses.

Announcement has recently been received from President Livingston Farrand of Cornell University of the award of a scholarship to Clark T. Case, a graduate of the class of 1935 at the Newton High School. This scholarship is one of five known as the Lefevre Scholarships and to receive it upon the basis of competitive examination is considered an outstanding achievement. Of the five scholarships this award to Case is the only one granted to a New England candidate. They are the most valuable scholarships given at Cornell, carrying a stipend of $400 each year as long as the student remains in Cornell University, through the regular four year course and into graduate courses.

Clark Case is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Clarke Case, missionaries to India. Mr. Case is a graduate of Newton High with the class of 1906. Young Case has resided at the Home for Missionary Families in Auburndale while his parents have been in India and during his high school career had not seen either until his mother came on to attend his graduation last June. During his high school days young Case was president of the Newton High School Associates, president of the Drama Club, treasurer of the English Club, a member of the National Honor Society and otherwise prominent. At the graduation exercises he was awarded the Charles D. Meserve scholarship presented upon the basis of scholastic ability and activity.

The Newton Symphony Orchestra, composed of many excellent amateur musicians, as well as teachers of various instruments, has started rehearsals for its 10th season, under the able conductorship of D. Ralph MacLean. A great many Newton residents will recall with pleasure the delightful concerts given by the orchestra in past years.

Several Vesper concerts have been included each season; last year, in addition, the orchestra assisted at the Gypsy Revels of the Newton Centre Women's Club, at the Boy Scouts' Pageant and on other occasions. It is the intention of the orchestra to continue to assist in affairs of civic interest, making it a truly community group of music lovers.

The orchestra has been presented with a generous collection of scores, to be designated as the Ralph MacLean Memorial Library. This, with other sources from which the orchestra is privileged to draw, will furnish every program need, from the better light music to the well-known symphonies.

Owing to the lack of players of certain instruments, it has been necessary, in the past, to employ at considerable expense several non-member musicians for concerts. However, it would seem that, in a city the size of Newton, there should be enough musicians, both amateur and professional, who play the various instruments needed to make the orchestra a complete and well-balanced unit, without the expense of engaging outside talent.

At present the orchestra consists of about 50 members. It is hoped that this number will be increased materially through the men and women of Newton who are interested in playing with an orchestra which, over a period of years, has proved itself a musical organization of marked ability.

Those desiring to join are invited to write to the Secretary, Newton Symphony Orchestra, 32 Bowen st., Newton Centre, who will gladly give any information desired.

GIFTS FOR CHILDREN'S BOOKSHELVES

We quote from the booklet prepared by the Section for Library Work with Children of the American Library Association. These booklets are being distributed at the Boys' and Girls' Library.

"The Book that is 'just a child's book' is not good enough for the child. Real books for children, as for adults, have vitality, charm of style, saving humor or a sense of warm human understanding whether told realistically or fancifully. They have a way of giving the heart a change of mood."

Picture Books

"Does it matter what picture books are given a child? He so quickly destroys them." A delight in real pictures, a sensitiveness to line, color and decorative quality are developed usually with exposure to good art through one's years."

Newton Republican, Nov. 25, 1876

Some of our citizens are quite dissatisfied with the rules adopted by the City Council to enforce the payment of taxes the present year. They think the plan of charging 12% interest on all assessments remaining unpaid after November 1st is exorbitant. As the city can borrow all the money it wants at a very low rate, they claim that by charging this large interest to the taxpayers the city is against the interest of the tax paying citizens who furnish the where-with for propelling the wheels of government.

The School Committee held its regular meeting on Wednesday evening. The committee on accounts reported expenditures for the month—for salaries, $6588.01; incidentals, $441.22; total, $7029.23. Supt. Johnson spoke in high terms of the conditions of the schools and the liberal appropriations. He suggested that the city furnish all text books free to the scholars, and that the percentage for promotions be fixed at 50 and 60 for each study instead of 70, as now.

Burglars are prowling about our streets. Wednesday night an attempt was made to enter the house of Mr. Humphrey, corner of Walnut and Washington sts., and Thursday night three men were observed in the vicinity of Hovey st., evidently reconnoitering. About 12:45 next morning J. W. Bailey of Jewett st. was awakened by someone tampering with the lock of his door. He aroused his son who went out one door and Mr. Bailey went out the other door. They fired three shots after the robbers who escaped good time with their legs and escaped.

The first offering for the current expenses of the hospital has been made by Rev. Michael Dolan, pastor of the Church of Our Lady. It is a check for $50.

The new rustic bridge at Farlow Park begins to take shape. If the work can only be finished before winter and the water turned on, there will be a good and safe place to skate for many young children who otherwise must go to dangerous ponds, a considerable distance from their homes.

Hon. Seth Davis of West Newton drove to Watertown last Friday in his chaise and called on Mr. Lennox. Mr. Davis was 98 years old last September.

Albert Ward's stable on Ward st. was broken into on Wednesday night and a set of harness stolen. Ten large spring chickens were also stolen from his place this week.

The house of A. W. Rice on Church st. was entered by a burglar about 10:15 Thursday night and about $500 taken, including a gold watch and chain and a gold necklace. Burglars entered the home of R. A. Ballou, Woodbine st., Auburndale on Monday night and stole $75 from his clothing in the chamber.

25 YEARS AGO

Newton Graphic, Nov. 25, 1910

One of the most important meetings of the year was held on Monday night by the Aldermen. The principal feature was the passage of the annual appropriation order for 1911 carrying a total amount for $1,249,570.98 which is $5500 less than the present budget. The Board clearly violated the spirit of the City Charter which provides that all meetings of the Aldermen "shall be in public," by attending a "committee" meeting held behind closed doors. The meeting lasted over two hours, and the only hint of what happened in the committee room was the objection by Alderman Lyons when called upon to vote on the budget. He was recorded as voting "no," and was the only Alderman to vote in opposition.

At a meeting of gentlemen interested in boys work held in the Newton Y. M. C. A. on Tuesday evening, a local council of the Boy Scouts of America was organized. Representatives were present from the various churches, public and private schools and playground organizations. Rev. Harrie Chamberlin, pastor of Immanuel Baptist Church was chosen chairman, Paul E. Everett, secretary, and J. W. Farley, treasurer.

By order of Mayor Hatfield the Highway Department has placed wire screening across each side of the footbridge over the railroad tracks from Central ave. to the Newtonville depot. Recently a small child fell off the bridge to the tracks below.

In commemoration of his 50 years of practice at the Massachusetts bar, Hon. Samuel L. Powers was tendered a reception and dinner at the Copley Plaza Hotel, Boston on Monday night by some 400 of his friends, mostly members of the bench and the bar, but including, also, a number of his friends outside the legal profession. The after dinner exercises were opened by Sherman Whipple who said it was a remarkable demonstration by people all of whom were bound together by a common bond of affection for "Sam" Powers.

Edward H.

Powers' Paragraphs

Only 27 persons killed by automobiles in Massachusetts last week—16 of these pedestrians. More speeding, more ignoring of traffic lights, more drunken driving, more disregard for parking and other traffic laws, more "fixing" of complaints against those who violate automobile laws, and more deaths. Most of these fatalities cannot be called accidents. They are the result of deliberate, reckless operation of motor vehicles and disregard for the lives and safety of the public. They will continue and increase in number until this nation starts to have some regard for law and order—and for human life.

On the same day that "sanctions" went in force against Italy by countries which are members of the League of Nations it is announced that Japan will take control of five more large provinces in China. But, we don't hear that England, France and their satellites in the League of Nations are going to place sanctions on Japan.

Real campaigns are on in the Aldermanic contests in several wards. In Ward 3, Alfred R. Guzzi, the colorful young man who has served as Ward Alderman for West Newton during the past year, is making a determined fight against the opposition of the administration forces. Guzzi is one of the youngest men ever elected to the Board, has the impetuosity of youth and is no shrinking violet. Accused by some of his political enemies of tooting his own horn too much, Guzzi replies that other political lights in Newton, including those who criticize him, have received plenty of publicity, even though they do not disseminate it personally. One thing cannot be denied; Guzzi has obtained more improvements for his Ward than any other Alderman who has represented it in recent years. His latest accomplishment—having the Aldermen pass a regulation restricting heavy trucking on Watertown st.—certainly will help his chances for reelection. We don't agree with Guzzi in all his political activities, but a few aggressive members of his type are much needed on Newton Boards of Aldermen. There have been too many "Yes men" serving as Aldermen. Nice fellows whose knowledge of Newton is scanty, whose opportunities to travel about the city and observe conditions are few, whose proclivity to vote in favor of anything recommended by the administration indicated many times lack of backbone. We need Aldermen who have the time and inclination to investigate personally all important matters on which they vote. For instance—recently an order came before the Board asking for the appropriation of nearly $11,000 to improve a certain street at the expense of taxpayers. This order was finally defeated. But, some of the Aldermen, who had expressed the intention of favoring the appropriation, candidly stated they had never visited the street in question.

Boston newspapers last Sunday printed photographic reproductions of seven "prize" residences recently erected by a large Boston department store. One of these houses is on Woodchester Drive in the Waban Hill section of this city. This house, like most of the seven, has an attached garage projecting out into the yard in front of the residence. The Licenses Committee of the Newton Board of Aldermen demurred at granting a permit for this garage. Newton Aldermen in past years have not approved garages located too conspicuously. The automobile shelters have been relegated to the rear of yards, or in some position on lots where they don't loom up. In the case of the garage at the Woodchester Drive locus, the Aldermen voted against their judgment because the structure is a "prize house," because the architect had come up from Connecticut to be present at the meeting that night, because the foundation for the garage had already been built and much of the work on the residence itself had been done.

It seems that the modernistic trend is toward placing garages in front of the house for the sake of convenience. One does not have to shovel so much snow in the winter. It is also the vogue to have living rooms at the rear of residences. Personally, we still favor having garages as much out of sight as possible. We would prefer to shovel more snow once or twice each winter than to have a utilitarian garage jutting out in a front yard like a sore thumb. And unless we lived on a large estate, we would favor a living room with an outlook at the front of the house rather than a living room which would have a vista of our neighbors' back yards, including clothes lines and garbage containers. We are old-fashioned.

The past six or seven years have tried the souls of millions who were reduced from prosperity to poverty. Many of the victims, losing courage and yielding to despondency committed suicide. Newspapers which go into minute details of cases of suicide, including painless, easy ways of self destruction, are only suggesting to unfortunate men and women that they commit self murder. Such newspapers could and should use their space to better advantage.

Three Rousing Cheers

With grateful spirit and rising hopes, this column hastens to applaud the two bicyclists seen on night recently call Newton Corner. They were actually riding in the street and not on the sidewalk. One was on Vernon st. and the other on Park st. Furthermore, their machines were equipped with brilliant headlamps, trimmed and burning.

Not for a moment should I assume that sermonizing for years in "One Thing and Another" on the terrors of sidewalk bicycle riding has brought this most welcome situation. Rather, I like to feel that respect for the law inspired both wheelmen and that others, let us say many others, will delight to follow this example.

Fitting Punishment

Violators of the law, when found guilty, are liable to fine or imprisonment. Sometimes, however, it occurs to us they might better be made to suffer that which seems more appropriate but it is not prescribed by the court, a horse-whipping, thrashing or spanking, depending upon the circumstances. In short, we say, "let the punishment fit the crime."

I personally know of a man who refused the demand of a street beggar and promptly received a punch in the jaw. A policeman stepped up and said to the outraged citizen, "Come to the station and make a complaint and we'll send this fellow to jail!" "No," the injured party replied emphatically, "I wouldn't have him sent to jail to live in comfort all winter at the expense of the taxpayers. Let him go on bumming his living if he won't work."

Not Asking Much

Even if permitted to attain an overripe old age I doubt if I shall ever comprehend why some people insist upon employing so much elbow room when making a bank deposit slip. It cannot be inexperience for no doubt they frequently perform that gratifying task much more frequently than I. Nevertheless, you will find them approaching the polished glass-top desk provided for customers with an air of proprietorship that is most inclusive. They toss their gloves, pocketbook (in case of a woman) and whatever packages they may be burdened with on the desk-top thereby claiming, temporarily at least, three-fourths of the space. The person behind them may have the remaining quarter but if discreet will choose to wait. If not, he may expect a sharp look, questioning his presence and asking, in effect, "What business is this of yours?" Not that I would set-up a system of manners for bank depositors. The subject is as far above me as the stratosphere. On the other hand the banks seem to offer every convenience for customers. It is therefore the little fellows like myself for whom I plead. Could we have small booths, something like those at polling places, wherein to transact our tiny affairs and let those who are "in the big money" spread out as widely as they wish in another and more commodious space?

One at a Time

Even now it may be that somebody is ahead of me in getting off a letter to Santa Claus before our city election. If so, I am glad because I have no copyright on the idea. It merely struck me as a matter which might better be attended to this month rather than the earlier part of next. I haven't the least advance information as to who is to be victor in any of the contests but shall give the subject close study from this moment.

Expressing my preference as to possible gifts from Santa Claus is one thing and must not be confused with choosing the holder of a municipal office. Let me explain that if I had both matters on my mind at the same time I might when voting day comes round, inadvertently, of course, write on the ballot, "Please send me some shirts (size 16, sleeve length 33) a few neckties, handkerchiefs and socks" and later embarrass Santa Claus with a letter containing nothing but a column of cross-marks.

No, the two matters are distinct and separate, so I am mailing my Santa Claus letter now as I step out of the GRAPHIC office.

Tip to Sight-Seeers

Repressing a desire to actually know how many Newton people have visited our State House for a study of its many interesting historical points, I proceed to speak of those who actually have done so. Officials tell me that the largest throngs are those found in that period described as "the last three months of school." It appears that teachers are disposed at that time to do a little entertaining, including a trip to the State capitol. This Summer the number of strangers was the largest recorded in years. As a matter of fact no record is kept but the guides are keen and can tell. Furthermore, they know because it means more walking through the marble corridors.

The present time is the slackest from the viewpoint of those designated to show people through the building. Not as many visitors enter but the welcome they receive is as cordial. To those who have never "seen the State House" from the inside this suggestion is offered.

Newton Nurses In Auto Crash

Two Newton Hospital nurses were injured Saturday night on Route 128 near Washington st., Dedham, when they stopped their car to render assistance to persons injured in collisions between other automobiles. Helen Doloff, 15 Northgate rd., West Newton received a severe injury to her neck, it having been first feared that a vertebra was fractured. Edith Duncan, Adena rd., West Newton, also received an injury to her neck. Both nurses were taken to the Newton Hospital where Miss Doloff was held for treatment.

A car going toward Needham cut out of line and forced a car driven by Russell Clark of West Medford into a car driven by Frank Johnson of Burlington. The Newton nurses stopped their car to give aid and it was hit in the rear by a car driven by David Carver of Duxbury. A fifth car driven by Herman Rohe of Belmont then crashed into the Clark car. Route 128 has been the scene of several bad accidents the past year largely due to the excessive speed at which cars are operated on it.

Jefferson Club Not Endorsing

The Newton Jefferson Club which is holding an open rally at F. A. Day School, Walnut st., Newtonville on Tuesday night, November 26th, has announced through its President, James P. Akins that it will live up to the spirit of the non-partisan form of elections in Newton by not endorsing any candidates at the coming election.

Highland Glee Club In First Concert of Season

The Lincoln Park Christian Endeavor Society has the privilege of presenting to the music loving public of Newton the Highland Glee Club of Newton in their first concert of the 1935-36 season on Tuesday, Nov. 26, 1935, at Lincoln Park Baptist Church, West Newton.

The glee club enjoys the distinction of having won first place for the past two years in competition with other glee clubs from all over New England in the annual contest which took place at Hartford, Conn.

Salvation Army Appeals For $5000

The Citizens' Sponsoring Committee of the Salvation Army begins Monday its annual appeal to the people of the Newtons to contribute $5,000 to the maintenance of the Salvation Army's humanitarian work. Letters urging such assistance will be mailed on that date, signed by J. Leonard Johnson, 29 Merrill rd., Newton Centre, Chairman.

Mr. Johnson, who is president of the Metropolitan Coal Company, is closely identified with support of the Salvation Army in its Boston campaign for funds. Early this year he was appointed to the Greater Boston Advisory Board, where he is associated with J. Weston Allen of Newton Highlands, Maxwell P. Gaddis of West Newton, and Andrew S. Seiler and the Rev. Edward T. Sullivan, D.D., of Newton Centre. Among other members of this advisory board are Theron A. Appollonio, Adolph Ehrlich, Rev. Samuel A. Elliot, D.D., Allan Forbes, State Treasurer, Charles F. Hurley, Louis E. Kirstein, and Richard Mitton.

Arrest Men With Still on Truck

Serg. Chisholm and Patrolmen Rodley and Walsh of the Metropolitan police observed a truck on Grove st., Lower Falls on Saturday night without a rear number plate. Stopping the vehicle they found it was carrying parts of a large still. They arrested the two men who were on the truck—Giuseppe Gracaffa, 96 Chestnut st., Waltham and Patrick Haggerty, Brookside rd., Wellesley. Federal Agent Dennis Lorden was notified. He seized the parts of the still and charged the arrested men with violation of the internal revenue law. They claimed that they had obtained the equipment in Dover, but when Lorden and the Metropolitan police went with Gracaffa and Haggerty to that town on Sunday the pair could not locate the place where they supposedly had obtained the still.

City Employees Select Officers

Newton City Employees Local at its meeting last Friday night nominated the following list for election as officers at the annual election to be held at its next meeting—President, A. Leslie Moriarty; Vice-President, Albert B. Morse; Recording Secretary, John B. Yerardi; Financial Secretary, John Russo; Treasurer, Michael Morris; Conductor, George Devereux; Trustees, Daniel Fitzgerald, Antonio Forte, Charles Fagan, John Shannon, George Saunders, George Lynch; Finance Committee, Robert Ganley, Ralph Corsetti, Joseph Landry. Delegates to State Convention—A. L. Moriarty, A. B. Morse, M. J. Morris, J. Yerardi, C. Collela, J. D. Russo, G. B. Saunders, D. Fitzgerald, R. J. Ganley. It was the 22nd time Moriarty had been nominated for president of the Local.

Watertown Dump A Nuisance

At the meeting of the Watertown selectmen on last Friday night a protest was received from Fred Alexander of the Newtonville Improvement Association against the nuisance created by the dump used by the Town of Watertown at Pleasant st., Bemis. Prevailing winds cause odors emanating from burning rubbish at this dump to waft a mile and a half across Newtonville. The Watertown selectmen raised the argument that the odors might come from the dump on Farwell st., Newtonville, used by Newton. But, as no rubbish has been burned at Farwell st., since the incinerator was started at Newton Highlands, this contention of the Watertown officials does not hold, especially since one can go to the Bemis dump and observe smoke from it being blown toward Newtonville.

Zonta Club Is Hostess To Rotary at Luncheon

The Newton Zonta Club officiated as hostess to the Rotary Club of Newton on Monday noon at a luncheon at the Brae Burn Country Club. After brief remarks by Miss Caroline Freeman, president of Newton Zonta, James B. Melcher, president of Newton Rotary, and Miss Cora E. MacKenzie, recent past president of Zonta International, Miss Doris Lovell introduced the guest speaker, Rev. Vaughan Dabney of the Andover-Newton Theological School.

HUNNEWELL CLUB

A mixed contract bridge party was held Wednesday evening at the Hunnewell Club, Newton, under the direction of Dr. Harold L. Higgins, chairman of the Bridge Committee. Mrs. Harold Moore was hostess. Prizes were won by Dr. and Mrs. Edward J. Sawyer and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Emery.

Charged With Duping Aged Woman

Samuel Freeman, alias Charles Brent, 35, of Boston was arraigned in the Newton court on Saturday for alleged larceny of $5500 from Miss Alice Wormwood formerly of Melrose st., Auburndale and now a resident of Waltham. Miss Wormwood, an aged woman, for many years taught school in the Franklin, Davis and Barnard Schools and was retired on a pension some years ago. It is alleged that Freeman took $5500 from her while she was a resident of this city, and $7400 after she moved to Waltham, supposedly to purchase stocks for her. Former charges against Freeman were not pressed after about $2750 restitution had been made. Recently Freeman was assaulted in Boston by some enemies and severely slashed. He has been bound over to the Grand Jury and is held in bail totalling $11,000.

Public Requests By Newton Men

Wills of two Newton men were filed on Monday at Middlesex probate court. That of the late Charles P. Hutchins of 330 Waverley ave., Newton includes bequests to three employees and to 15 charities. To his secretary, Maud Quimby of Lynn, and his chauffeur, Ralph Keith of Watertown, Mr. Hutchins left $5000 each. To purchase an annuity for Margaret G. McDonald, $1000 was set aside. The residue of the estate was bequeathed to the following organizations—American Board of Foreign Missions, American Missionary Association, Newton Hospital, American Sunday School Union and Congregational Church Building Society in Newton, one-tenth each; Boston Seamen's Friends Society, Newton Y. M. C. A., Morgan Memorial, Boston Y. M. C. A., Boston Y. W. C. A., Rutland Hospital, Rutland, Vt., Florence Crittenton League, Massachusetts S. P. C. C., Children's Hospital, Roxbury, and Congregational Board of Ministerial Relief, one-twentieth each. The will made no provision for Mr. Hutchins' widow and son because they had been provided for in trust funds.

The will of Fred H. Tucker of 206 Church st., Newton, left $1000 each to Newton Y. M. C. A., Appalachian Mountain Club, John Howard Industrial Home for Discharged Prisoners, Volunteers of America, Immanuel Baptist Church of Newton, Newton Hospital; and $500 to the Green Mountain Club of Vermont. The balance of the estate was left to his two daughters—Katherine K. Tucker of Falmouth, Pa., and Mrs. Margaret T. Saunders of Cambridge.

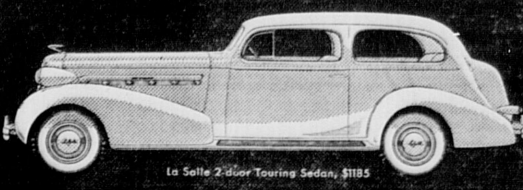

LASELL JUNIOR COLLEGE

At the assembly this morning Stella Marek Cushing gave a dramatic presentation of her "other homeland", Czechoslovakia. In native costume, by dance, song, story-telling and playing of her violin she portrayed the rich history, culture and interesting life of her native land. Mrs. Cushing also met the classes in physical education to illustrate and interpret more fully the folk dances of various countries.

NEWTON REAL ESTATE SHOWS ACTIVITY

Doris Carley's office reports for the quarter ending Oct. 1, 1935, Newton transactions signed, sealed and delivered involving property valued at $313,150, bringing the total for the first three quarters of 1935 to $843,400, which compares with the similar period for 1934 with a total of $745,450, clearly showing the substantial upward trend of the Newton real estate market as mirrored by the activities of the Carley office.

PUZZLO DIRECTIONS

Starting with any letter or number on the chart, draw a continuous line connecting Sixty Squares, containing as many letters representing advertisers and as many of the largest numbers as possible. Your line must not connect more than four squares or less than three squares in any one direction and must not include the same square twice. The line must not cross itself and must change from horizontal to vertical or vice versa as in sample chart. Draw a circle at each end of the line when completed. The sample chart below illustrates all of the above rules clearly. Only one solution may be worked out on a chart.

PUZZLO SOLUTION

To figure out your solution add all the figures in the squares connected by your line. To this sum add 99 for each letter the line passes through representing an advertiser. From this last total subtract 99 for each letter the line passes through which does not represent an advertiser. Convert this final result to dollars and cents. This is your solution to the puzzle and should be inserted in the space provided directly under the chart you have completed.

Send your chart to the Graphic Office with the blank properly filled out. Make a purchase at the store of one of the advertisers and obtain his signature in order to be eligible for a double value prize.

READ CAREFULLY EXPLANATION

The object of Puzzle is to work out a solution showing the largest amount of money you can save during an imaginary shopping tour, calling on as many of the advertisers as you can. Each advertiser on this page is represented on the chart by a different letter, which is duplicated in their advertisement for identification. All other letters on the chart should be avoided to obtain the best solution. LOOK FOR THE LETTER IN EACH ADVERTISEMENT!

WALTHAM SWAMPS
AND KELLY ROMP

A rugged, powerful, and smoothly working Waltham High School eleven steamrollered its way over the Newton High football team last Saturday at Dickinson Stadium, Newtonville, to the tune of 53 to 0. It was the 29th meeting of the two teams and marked the Watch City's first victory on a Newton field in thirteen years. Curiously enough the visitors tallied 13 points in both the first and second periods to end this 13-year defeat jinx. Not content with its first-half lead the visitors glided through the misty air for three more tallies in the third session and a final marker in the closing chapter. Five of the eight attempts for points after touchdowns were successful. The one Dickinson Stadium record that remained in Newton's possession at the conclusion of the game is the high scoring record as the Watch City total did not exceed the 66-0 trouncing Newton administered to Brookline four years ago.

Although there was little question of the superiority of the Watch City outfit over the orange and black it would not be amiss to remark upon the low quality of officiating. On the numerous occasions that legal shifts and offside by the visitors went unpunished by the officials and perhaps may account for the fact that fewer penalties were imposed in the entire game than in any Newton-Waltham affair for many years. Newton drew one offside penalty of 5 yards while Waltham drew two offside penalties and two 15-yard setbacks for a total of 40 yards. A few other penalties were refused when a gain proved more advantageous than the acceptance of the penalty yardage.

With Waltham continually in Newton territory and with Johnny Krol and Howard Kelly giving a dazzling display of football prowess the locals had little opportunity to get within even scoring distance. Newton's best offensive thrust came in the second period when an advance starting at the Newton 15 yard line penetrated to the Watch City 23 where Newton eventually lost the ball on downs. Forte supplied the fireworks in this march with an opening gain of 15 yards. Daniels hit tackle for nine yards and Thompson centre for three more. Forte then reeled off a pretty 30-yard jaunt around end to the Waltham 28 for a third first down. Here the attack stalled despite a Waltham offside and Newton yielded the ball on downs on the Waltham 25, one play before the end of the half.

The story of Waltham's touchdowns, while largely Krol and Kelley, was aided materially by effective blocking upon the part of the Waltham interference and the quicker charging Waltham line. The first score came midway of the first period after Newton had successfully repulsed the initial effort and the following scores came in rather rapid succession.

Winning the toss Newton elected to defend the east goal with a fair wind at their backs. Waltham chose to kick-off and Zeno's loft to McLeod was returned from the goal line to the Newton 11. On second down Callanan punted to midfield and Lando carried back 6 yards. One rush was stopped dead but Krol then tossed a long pass down the sideline to Kelly who was hemmed in near the sideline. As he was tackled he lateraled to McManus who tore down the sideline to the nine yard line before Packard pulled him down from behind. Newton stiffened here and held for four downs. When the referee uncovered the ball on the last thrust it was but three inches from the last white line. Callanan punted from behind the goal but got the ball away poorly and it went out of bounds at the 23. Two line plays failed to gain materially and Krol again took to the air. Kelly received and was downed on the 6 yard line. A four yard gain at tackle by Kelly preceded Krol's end-run into the corner of the field for the initial score. Zeno kicked the goal by placement.

Pass interceptions by Krol and Packard offset each other after the ensuing kick-off with Newton regaining the ball on its 28-yard line. A sleeping end pass was incomplete and Callanan punted to midfield. Two runs by Krol interspersed with a number of other plays put Waltham on the 5-yard stripe. MacDonald ploughed through right tackle for the second tally and Zeno's try for point was wide making it 13 to 0. Two plays after the kick-off by Waltham the period ended.

McLeod's 10-yard end run jaunt opened the second quarter but Newton's passes and lateral failed to elick. Callanan punted to the Waltham 30 where another advance started. Krol ran right end and was almost in the clear with Woodward

Aldermen Vote Bond Issues for New Schools

The meeting of the Aldermen on Monday night was started at 8:15 by President Gordon. Aldermen Cronin, Floyd and Grebenstein were absent. The meeting continued in session for 10 minutes and at 8:25 one of the regular "short" recesses was taken. About 9 o'clock it appeared that the open meeting might be resumed, but Alderman Guzzi corralled the Traffic Committee and the Claims and Rules Committee and after nearly an hour of discussion persuaded them to bring in reports recommending the restriction of heavy trucking on Watertown st. between the hours of 6 p. m. and 7 a. m. The Board resumed the meeting a few minutes before 10 o'clock, continued in session for about 40 minutes, took another short recess to clear up some technicalities in connection with the taking of land at Oak Hill for the proposed new school and playground there, and after resuming the meeting for a few minutes, adjourned about 11 o'clock.

As a result of Mayor Weeks' successful mission to Washington a couple of weeks ago, when he obtained three PWA grants, the Aldermen authorized bond issues of $175,000 for the new school at Oak Hill, $60,000 for an addition to the Angier School in Waban and $50,000 for a garage at the Crafts street yard of the Street Department. The estimated costs of these three projects are $223,750, $82,900 and $63,300 respectively. On this basis the Federal grants will be $89,000 for the Oak Hill school, $32,670 for the Angier addition and $23,400 for the garage.

Alderman Akins chided several Aldermen who have been wearing the red, white and blue buttons of the American Liberty League.

Akins commented that members of this league condemn President Roosevelt for alleged extravagance in spending money on PWA and WPA projects, and so they could not consistently vote to accept the grants which Mayor Weeks had obtained. The anti-Roosevelt Aldermen, however, voted for the bond issues and the accompanying donations received through the Roosevelt program.

The first matter to come up before the meeting was the hearing on the petition of the New England Concrete Pipe Company for a permit to alter its storage building at 99 Needham st., Upper Falls, so that it can be used as a garage to house 14 trucks. P. B. Rutherford, speaking for the petitioner, said it is now necessary to keep the trucks outdoors and the company is anxious to garage the trucks before the cold weather comes.

No opposition appeared against the petition of Frank Battles to conduct an automobile service station at 26 Peabody st., Newton, and to keep and sell gasoline, using a 1000-gallon tank and pumps within the building.

The Board sustained the unanimous report of the Licenses Committee giving leave to withdraw on the petition of Robert M. Smith of Auburndale for a gasoline station at 449 Watertown st., Auburndale. Alderman Hill said that much opposition had been registered against this proposed station, including protests from the Newtonville Improvement Association, Newton Citizens Club and owners of nearby properties. He said there are now three gasoline stations in the immediate vicinity, and that the future development of the locus involved, part of the large property formerly owned by the Silver Lake Cordage Co., should also be considered.

Appropriations made by the Aldermen included—$2750 for taking of land at Oak Hill for school purposes, $5000 for old age assistance, $8000 for poor outside of city home, $60 for welfare department office expense; $2250 additional award to Boston College for damages in connection with the widening of Beacon st.; $1250 to Water Department for mains; $275.50 pension for Herbert W. Boothby.

Newton Murderer Seeks Pardon

A hearing was held at the State House yesterday before the Advisory Board on Pardons on the petition of Nicholas Caruso, who was sentenced on Nov. 8, 1920, to life imprisonment for the murder of John Cuniff, 60, at West Newton. Cuniff, who lived alone in an old structure off River st., West Newton, was killed by Caruso, robbed of $308 and then Caruso set the building afire to cover up the murder. He was arrested while walking on the B. & A. tracks by Serg. Veduccio and Patrolman Mahoney, now captain and lieutenant. Instead of getting the chair for this heinous crime, the then district attorney of Middlesex county permitted a plea of second degree murder. Now Caruso is asking for a pardon and no member of the district attorney's staff or anyone else was present yesterday to oppose the petition.

Delaney Gets St. Dept. Job

Joseph A. Delaney of 356 California st., Nonantum was appointed on Wednesday by Supt. of Streets Mahoney to the recently created position of superintendent of equipment in the Street Department. The position will carry a yearly salary of $2500. It has been filled for the past several months temporarily by David Noonan, 297 Derby st., West Newton. Delaney was one of those who took the examination for the job and at first he was not certified on the list of eligibles. He took an appeal to the State Civil Service Commission on marks he had received in answers to practical questions and his appeal was granted. As he has the status of a disabled veteran, his name had to be placed at the head of the list, topping that of Noonan, Albert B. Morse of Waban ave. and John Cole of Broadway ter, who had been previously certified as the three first names on the list of eligibles for the job. Delaney was born in Newton 39 years ago and has been engaged in the automobile repair business.

WOMEN'S CLUB ACTIVITIES

Many Speakers At Conference

The Twelfth District Conference, held at the Newton Centre Woman's Club House on Wednesday, November 13th, was welcomed at 10:30 a. m. by Mrs. George Willard Smith, president of the Newton Centre Woman's Club. Mrs. John F. Capron, District director, responded, expressing her pleasure in meeting all visiting club members at her own Club House, which had been decorated so beautifully by Mrs. Austin Benton and the Garden and Conservation committee.

Mrs. Frank P. Bennett, General Federation director, extended greetings and stated she was pleased to report that almost all of the women's clubs were represented in the General Federation, and she hoped that soon the remaining few would be long.

Mrs. John W. Hildreth, second vice-president of the State Federation, asked that all attending the Conference visit the State Headquarters, and also urged the purchase of the History of the Federation, a most interesting book for all clubwomen to read.

Mrs. David A. Westcott, third vice-president and also editor of Federation Topics, the magazine published monthly by the State Federation, said she hoped that all who had not subscribed already to this magazine would do so, and that there was news in it for all clubwomen.

Mrs. Burr J. Merriam, recording secretary, then spoke of the interesting radio programs sponsored by the State Federation in which well-known speakers are heard over Station WBZ, under the direction of Mrs. Edgar Richardson, at the Hotel Bradford, Boston.

Mrs. William J. McDonald, treasurer, said that the member-clubs of the State Federation were almost 100 per cent in payment of their dues.

Mrs. Moses H. Gulesian, music chairman, gave a most interesting talk on the joys of music and of the old masters. A community is helped by music, she said. She advised every club to have a study group and its own chorus. Mrs. Gulesian then told how she had sponsored the chorus in the Newton Centre Woman's Club and how very fortunate they were in having Mme. Apolline Blair as conductor for five years.

The Art chairman, Mrs. Herbert Stephens, congratulated the Newton Centre Woman's Club on its attractive Club House and spoke of the Penny Art Fund, a plan whereby every club member may contribute one cent a year for a prize fund, directed by the State chairman, Mrs. Stephens also spoke of the Federation Art Scholarship and gave a notice of an Exhibition of Veterans' Handiwork to be held at Wellesley, on November 22nd.

Mrs. Edgar P. Hay, State chairman of Correction, asked club members to help toward making happier conditions for the underprivileged children of each community. This can be accomplished by having playground supervision, no gangster movies, and by urging boys to become Scouts; and an excellent way to help the less fortunate would be for clubwomen to pay the entrance fees for them at the Y. M. C. A., she stated.

The Federation Extension chairman, Mrs. William S. Taggart, said that twenty women's clubs were represented at the Conference. She felt that the women of today were most fortunate in being able to attend club meetings and thereby enjoy interesting and educational programs.

Mrs. Herbert Blair, chairman of Education, said that education is a friend of democracy. The General Federation's aim is to train leaders for government. Mrs. Blair gave a notice of the Newton Community Forum, a series of seven lectures, to be held in the Newton High School Auditorium on Sundays.

Mrs. John F. Capron then spoke of the great pleasure in having 35 club members at the session and extended thanks to Mrs. George Willard Smith for arranging the Round-Table Conferences which were to take place after luncheon.

Mrs. Mabel Barstow then led the Conference in the singing of two American folk songs.

The meeting adjourned at 12:30 p. m. for an excellent luncheon which was served by Mrs. Arthur H. Brooks and her committee.

The afternoon session opened with Round-Table Discussions in every State department. Mrs. Capron then introduced Mrs. Apolline Blair, conductor of the Newton Centre Woman's Club Chorus, who led this group in the following numbers: "Love's Dream," by Franz Liszt; "Dream Hours," by Mrs. Moses H. Gulesian; "Sarita," by Lucile Burton; and "Auf Wiedersehen," (Blue Paradise) by S. Romberg, J. Marlowe.

Mrs. Carl F. Schrader, chairman of Program for the Detroit Triennial, spoke on the "High Lights of that Convention." Mrs. Schrader paid tribute to Mrs. Gulesian who had been so generous in giving her time and talents toward making the musical part of the program successful.

The chairman of Industry, Mrs. Hazel H. Albertson, discussed the mining situation, and milk control, and also told of an interesting booklet, entitled "The Consumer's Guide," which is a free service given by the Government.

Mrs. Arthur G. Sonnett, Legislation chairman, advised the assembly to be alert to what is going on in legislation, and to plan to attend a conference explaining laws, etc., to be held in Newton Highlands on February 13th.

Mrs. J. Verity Smith, chairman of Child Welfare, discussed school lunches, good food, and ample accommodations for the children.

Miss Martha Post Wright read Miss Ruth Lothrop's report on the State Junior Membership. The Juniors are preparing themselves for women's work and making plans for the coming season. Miss Wright also read an alphabetical jingle which was presented to the Juniors at the Detroit Convention.

Mrs. Thomas J. Walker, president of the State Federation, spoke of the splendid reports of each chairman, and said that each was a superlative man. She also stressed the importance of clubwomen being good neighbors in all their contacts, and she believes that they should strive to know each other and to become better acquainted. Mrs. Walker's brief and inspiring message was especially enjoyed by the club members.

Beautiful Wreaths Are Exhibited

An Exhibition of Wreaths and Decorative Arrangements of Christmas Greens made by members of the Newton Highlands Garden Club was held at the Workshop on Friday, November 15th.

Laurel, holly, and all ground evergreens less than a foot high were not allowed in their making and the scoring stressed durability as well as originality and beauty.

The Blue Ribbon went to Mrs. Ernest Weaver for her garland of evergreens, grasses and cones.

Wreaths made by Mrs. B. Walter Godsoe, Mrs. G. H. R. Gosman, Mrs. Donald McKay, and Mrs. Edward Wallace, using native greens, grasses, berries, and cones were very much admired, and a more formal wreath of rhododendron leaves, with fruits, made by Mrs. Herbert Stetson, was very lovely.

The prize winning garland was sent to the autumn Flower Show at Horticultural Hall, to enter the Christmas Greens Competition being held there, under the auspices of the New England Wild Flower Preservation Society.

Various Events

Newton Federation

The Executive Board Meeting of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs will be held on Monday, November 25th, at 10 a. m., in the Workshop, on Columbus street, Newton Highlands.

West Newton Women's Educational Club

On Friday, November 8th, the members of the West Newton Women's Educational Club were given a Demonstration in the "Preparation, Cooking, and Refrigeration of Food," by Miss Mahady and Miss Coughlin, of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company. The superior qualities of the new Electrolux ice-chest and the latest gas range were explained while interested Club members took notes. After this a demonstration of the making of cakes, breads, and salads was given. At the conclusion of the lecture, the articles of food made and displayed were awarded by lot to the following lucky recipients: Mrs. Raymond R. Forte, Mrs. Harold Fiske, Mrs. A. E. Martel, Mrs. Herbert C. Mayer, Mrs. M. Louise Reed, and Mrs. Ernest F. Robinson.

The Garden Club of the West Newton Women's Educational Club held a meeting at the home of Mrs. Gilbert R. Jones, 27 Eddy street, West Newton, on Monday, November 18th. Mrs. Frederick A. Cole was the assisting hostess. The topic of the afternoon was "Home Aquariums and Terrariums" and the speakers were from the Wellesley Flower Shop.

The Junior Group of the West Newton Women's Educational Club spent a "work evening," Tuesday, November 19th, at the home of one of its members, sewing for a needy family in West Newton. Miss Harriet Parsons, executive secretary of the Newton Welfare Bureau, talked informally to the group as they sewed. The members also started work on the Scrap Books which they have planned as gifts for the children confined in the Newton Hospital.

The Travel Class of the West Newton Women's Educational Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Justin D. Starkie, 125 Woodward street, Newton Highlands, on Monday, November 25th. Mrs. Charles E. Quinn will be the assisting hostess. A paper on the "Dutch Fisheries" will be read by Mrs. Harry S. Wells, and Mrs. Arthur M. Tenlon will present her subject, "Rotterdam."

Newton Community Club

Mr. Robert Lincoln O'Brien spoke to a large audience of members of the Newton Community Club and their guests on Thursday, November 14th. He announced that he would talk on "Prunes," a very clever introduction to the large and controversial subject of "Reciprocal Tariffs," which was a timely one since the United States is about to conclude such a treaty with Canada. As Mr. O'Brien has a keen sense of humor, his lecture was most enjoyable. He paid a high tribute to Adam Smith's book, "Wealth of Nations," as being just as applicable now in world questions as it was after the American Revolution in adjusting tariff difficulties between States.

Ice cream and cake were served during the social hour. Mrs. C. Berton Cotting, Mrs. Le Roy P. Guion, Mrs. Clarence H. Spike and Mrs. Pauline H. Stevenson being the hostesses.

Mrs. A. H. Handley announced that $153.75 was realized from the recent Rummage Sale, and $23.00 from the Food Sale held at the last Club meeting. Mrs. David Black and her committee netted $43.00 at the Card Party, recently held at the Hollis, this amount to be used to purchase wool for sweaters and socks.

Newton Highlands C. L. S. C.

On Monday, November 25th, the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. will meet with Miss Harriet M. Ward of 1080 Walnut street. The subject "British Possessions" will be continued by Mrs. Sanford E. Thompson and Mrs. Ernest G. Hapgood. Current Events will be conducted by Miss Marion B. Morse.

Bar Trucks Off Watertown St.

Following a persistent effort by Alderman Guzzi of Ward 3 on Monday night, the Board of Aldermen unanimously voted to prohibit the operation of heavy trucks on Watertown st. between the hours of 7 p. m. and 6 a. m. Guzzi is a member of the Traffic Committee of the Aldermen and he first succeeded in convincing his fellow members on this committee, Aldermen Colby and Goddard, that the pleas of residents along Watertown st. and nearby streets for relief from the nuisance of all night truck traffic should be heeded. Then, for nearly three-quarters of a hour Guzzi argued his cause before the Claims & Rules Committee and persuaded its members to favor the traffic restriction on Watertown st. This is another big feather in Guzzi's political war-bonnet.

The restricting ordinance states that no trucks of more than 2½ tons capacity shall be operated on the street during the hours specified, except in case of emergency, or street department trucks. The amendment to the traffic ordinance must be approved by the State Department of Public Works before it can become effective. The petition received by the Aldermen several weeks ago from residents of Watertown st. specified that the trucks be prohibited on that street only between Walnut st., Newtonville and West Newton sq. The Aldermen included the entire length of Watertown st. from the Watertown line to West Newton. The intent is—that the big trucks will be operated nights on Galen and Centre sts. between Watertown and Newton Corner, and thence along Washington st. to West Newton, or vice versa. Should they use California and other streets to travel between Watertown and West Newton complications will ensue.

Lodge To Run For Ward Alderman

W. Clarence Lodge of 375 Cabot st., Newtonville, will be a candidate for Ward Alderman from Ward 2 at the coming election. Mr. Lodge is a native and long-time resident of Newtonville and has been active in social and civic affairs in that village.

McCarthy Makes Statement

Algernon W. McCarthy, candidate for Ward Alderman in Ward 3, began his active campaign today to retire the "Ballyhoo Boy of the Board," as he terms his opponent, by working in a dignified manner for the best interests of West Newton and the whole of Newton. He declared that his candidacy is founded on a sincere plan to give proper representation to all the voters of the ward, with no desire for personal advantage.

"Scores of the best citizens of West Newton have urged me to be a candidate and are supporting me," declared Mr. McCarthy, "because they feel that our ward should be directly represented in the Board of Aldermen by a man who will not attempt to claim credit for the construction of sidewalks, drains, ERA projects, and every other routine activity of various city departments. These minor improvements are being done and will continue to be done at the request of any citizen to the proper department head or in the ordinary routine of municipal operation. Only a publicity seeking Alderman would attempt to claim credit for them."

Mr. McCarthy has accepted an invitation to address a meeting of citizens of Precinct One of West Newton at a rally on Friday evening, Nov. 29, at Odd Fellows Hall, Northgate Park. General Daniel Needham, candidate for Mayor, will be the principal speaker.

Holden Files Nomination

Sydney B. Holden today filed nomination papers at City Hall. With this action on Mr. Holden's part, it definitely puts him in the race for Mayor and sets aside for all time rumors to the contrary.

At his headquarters, 118 Institution ave., Newton Centre, hundreds of papers have been returned, filled with signatures of people from all walks of life.

Large Number of New Voters

Much work on the part of supporters of some of the candidates for Mayor and by aspirants for aldermanic offices added about 1500 to the total number of registered voters in this city despite the fact that around 1000 names were dropped from the list. Approximately 2500 new names have been added. Wednesday was the last day for registering and about 200 came to City Hall on that day and evening.

Burns To Run In Ward 6

Gilbert C. Burns of 28 Daniel st., Newton Centre, well known market proprietor of that section, has filed nomination papers as a candidate for Ward Alderman from that Ward. He will oppose Harold R. Keller of 47 Oxford rd. who also seeks this office. Mr. Burns was born in Somerville 42 years ago and has resided in Newton Centre for 14 years. He formerly conducted the Bond Market on Langley rd. and is now associated with Frank A. Frost & Company of Newton Centre. He is married and has two sons who attend the Mason and Weeks Schools.

Newton Dramateurs December 12-13

On Thursday and Friday evenings, Dec. 12 and 13, the Newton Dramateurs, one of the most active dramatic organizations in the Newtons, will present "The Devil Is Host" a mysterious three-act play by Carl Glick. This play is one which has aroused unusual interest among the members of the Little Theatre League of Greater Boston because of its subtle portrayal of well known types of human character and also because of its biting satire. It has a real romantic plot which only reaches its disclosure at the end of the third act.

The work of production is being directed by Mr. William C. Grabbe, who is an active member of the Little Theatre League and who has directed several of the heavier plays which have recently been produced by the Dramateurs. The leading part will be taken by Mr. George H. Rand, well known playwright, amateur actor and radio artist. Louise Adamo, who was a member of the company recently producing "The Last Wife" by the Little Theatre League, will also be a member of the cast.

"The Devil Is Host" gives an opportunity for a high quality of acting and should attract those in the community interested in dramatic art.

E. Ellicker, chairman, announces the second in the series of Literature Afternoons to be held on Monday, November 25th, at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Miss Marian I. Prescott, 271 Crafts street. The leaders of this course of enjoyable programs have procured as speaker Miss Alice Nelson, who, by special request, will talk on "Rural New England." All Club members are invited and tea will be served at the close of the program.

The Armistice Bazaar held by the Newtonville Woman's Club on Wednesday and Thursday, November 13th and 14th, at the Club House on Washington park, under the direction of Mrs. Raymond Tucker, chairman of the Ways and Means committee, proved a big success and provided occasion for a most social and informal gathering.

The hall was decorated with red, white, and blue, and many attractive and useful articles were offered for sale.

The Club Cook Book, which is filled with excellent recipes contributed by Club members, was "a big seller."

A delicious luncheon and dinner were served on both days by Mrs. George H. Tracy and her committee.

The Style Show, which was sponsored by The I. H. Stearns company on Wednesday evening, was attended by a large audience. Club members modeling the many beautiful gowns and hats were Mrs. H. Clayton Pearson, the president of the Club, Mrs. Edwin P. Crave, a past president, Mrs. Randolph S. Merrill, Mrs. Edwin P. McGill, Mrs. Lewis E. Moor, Mrs. Wallace H. Jose, Mrs. Ralph W. Cowant, Mrs. Roger B. Salinger, Mrs. Howard C. Thomas, and Mrs. Raymond Hunting.

Members' daughters modeling were Miss Woodward, Miss Merrill, Miss Pratt, Miss Horton, Miss Nickerson, Miss Jaffar and Miss Peterson.

Gene Zedren, Polly Lishon, Carol Linquist, and Joanne Grammer, four tots, modelled the lovely frocks and coats, and received much applause.

Miss Marjory Shepard, Reader; Mrs. Sylvia Church Petty, Soprano; and nine-year-old Anne Marie Avantaggio, Pianist, gave a most delightful program on Thursday evening.

At the close of the evening all articles that were unsold were auctioned off by Dr. Cecil W. Clark, a feature which provided a great deal of entertainment and amusement.

At the regular meeting of the Club held on Tuesday, November 19th, in the Auditorium of the Club House, Mrs. H. Clayton Pearson, president, spoke briefly concerning the coming Christmas Party, and asked for the generous co-operation of the Club members.

Mrs. Raymond Tucker, chairman of the recent Bazaar, in her report, stated that she wished all praise to go to the chairmen of the various tables for their great success.

Mrs. Edgar P. Hay of West Newton, chairman of the division of Correction in the State Federation, was a guest of honor at the meeting.

Some splendid information on the duties of those elected mayor, Aldermen and School Committee members, in the form of dialogue, was given by Mrs. Lisett F. Henderson, Legislative chairman, assisted by Mrs. Robert Bruce and Mrs. Reynold A. Grammer, members of her committee.

Mrs. Pearson introduced the speaker, Dr. A. Warren Stearns, who gave an interesting talk on "Evolution of Punishment." Dr. Stearns is dean of Tufts Medical School, and has made a thorough study of the adolescent in his relation to crime and criminals. There was a very fine Exhibition of Oils, in the Gallery, by Miss Florence M. Alexander.

There was a generous contribution of jellies for the Newton Hospital brought by Club members in response to the request. Tea was served following the program.

Newton Centre Woman's Club

Dr. Samuel Macauley Lindsay will come again this year to the Newton Centre Woman's Club for his series of evening lectures on World Affairs, the first lecture to be given at the Club House on Monday, the 25th of November, at 8 p. m. In all he has had 82 of these village rallies since the start of the campaign. Moreover, he announced that the Veteran's League for Needham and the Women's Committee of his campaign are especially active in his behalf and producing splendid results.

The Needham campaign gave other outward evidence of activities during the week by the display of large banners across the streets in various sections of the city and the distribution of attractive campaign cards in windows and on billboards while workers at various meetings distributed campaign buttons and other literature.

Charles B. Floyd, Campaign Manager for General Needham, also issued the following statement: "Detailed reports which have come to me from every one of the 28 precincts in the city," declared Mr. Floyd, "indicate without doubt that General Needham will be elected. We have found an unexpectedly strong sentiment on the part of property owners in favor of Needham who is endorsed by Mayor Weeks. The voters realize that Needham is especially well qualified as an executive and administrator to carry on the affairs of the City of Newton in the same business-like manner which characterized the Weeks administration during the past six years, resulting in low taxes and efficient city management. The people want to go forward and not backward. They want to continue the Weeks type as Newton's chief executive and in Daniel Needham they have found the man best qualified to guard their interests."

On Tuesday evening, Nov. 26, at 8:30, a Turkey Beano party will be held in St. Jean's Hall, 253 Watertown st., Nonantum. In addition to other valuable prizes a large turkey will be awarded as a door prize.

V-8 LEADERSHIP

ON OCTOBER 31 of last year, Henry Ford announced his intention to build a million Ford V-8s in 1935. We are pleased to report that this goal was reached in exactly ten months instead of a full year.

One million cars and trucks is an impressive total. But figures by themselves mean nothing. It is what they represent that counts. Selling a V-8 at a low price has brought a new kind of automobile within reach of the people. Producing it has provided steady work for hundreds of thousands of men in the Ford plants, in associated industries and on the farm.

These million Ford V-8 cars and trucks have helped to make things better all around. In the first ten months of 1935 the Ford Motor Company paid out in the United States alone, $140,119,326.00 in wages and $523,111,389.00 for materials.

Rival Elevens Stage Scoreless Battle In Mud

Goal Posts Wrecked, League Title Won

Playing mediocre football in mediocre weather, the football teams of Newton High and Brookline High battled up and down the sod of the Brookline field yesterday morning to a scoreless tie. Brookline, aided by a wet and slippery ball halted the orange and black on several threatening occasions. The game was one of the longest in the memory of Thanksgiving Day fans, since it took the better part of three hours to determine the fact that Newton could not win the ball game outright, although it might come close to scoring once in a while.

The Newton goalpost team, that galling band who came to life at the Waltham game, had practically no opposition yesterday, and rattled the Brookline uprights into souvenir-size fragments before the football players had left the field. It was said that the goal posts were after the Yale record for the event, and before anybody could say "Captain Savignoni" three times, the goalposts at both ends of the field were in small pieces. And, incidentally, Newton came away with the Suburban League football championship as a tie game was all that was necessary to assure this title.

Red Cross Memberships

Two Thirds Of Quota Nearly Reached

The Annual Roll Call of the American Red Cross began Armistice Day and enrollments are being received daily. The Newton Chapter has a quota of 6000 for its city of 70,000. It has now nearly 4000 members enrolled.

The war time work of the Red Cross needs no explanation but the peace time work here in Newton is less well known. The Chapter uses its share of the fund for local purposes (part of membership fees goes to Washington for national disasters, part stays in the Chapter for local use) to take care of work that supplements but does not duplicate what is being done by other organizations of the city.

Veterans are helped with advice about guardianship and hospitalization; the Volunteer Motor Corps donates services and cars for the lame or the sick to go to hospitals; sewers and knitters make garments through the churches (one old lady of over 90 makes beautiful sweaters and there are many other elderly knitters); the Home Hygiene and First Aid instructor teaches Boy and Girl Scouts and the women of Americanization classes; the Nutritionist helps with special diets and budgeting; the Life Saving instructor teaches life saving and swimming; books are brailled by one kind lady; three workers make life less dreary for veterans at the Bedford Veterans Hospital; the Junior Red Cross completes the Chapter work with milk lunches in the schools, favors for Chelsea Hospital on holidays, and garments in the sewing classes.

These activities need the support of the public, and it is hoped that anyone who has not yet become a member will join now.

Biennial Sessions Debated Before Rotary Club

"Shall Massachusetts Have Biennial Sessions of its General Court?" was debated at Monday's Rotary luncheon by two of Newton's Representatives in the Legislature, William Baker and Clarence Luitwieler. In favor of the biennial plan, Rep. Baker pointed out that the main reason the annual session ever started was through the suspicion the forefathers had of their rulers. Consequently, they instituted annual sessions that they might always be on guard. At the present time, however, 43 states have biennial sessions and only five—New York, New Jersey, Rhode Island, South Carolina, and Massachusetts—cling to the annual meeting.

Mr. Baker considers that there are two main reasons for favoring less frequent meetings:

- (1) The reduction that would be effected in the cost of government and
- (2) the even more important reduction that would be effected in the changing and amending and tinkering of our laws. The present sessions of the Court cost about $900,000 annually and while some of this expense would continue under the biennial plan another large part, including salaries, would be conserved every other year. As to the actual business conducted each year, about 2500 bills were introduced and had to be considered although only about 500 finally emerged as laws. Business and the community in general cannot keep pace with all the changes—even the State's own printer has not gotten out the bound volume of last year's acts although it is nearly time for the Court to start all over again. As for voting money every two years, with the consequent forecasting of conditions for 24 months, Massachusetts ought to be

Mayoralty Fight Grows Warm At Rally In N'ville

Large Attendance At Jefferson Club Meeting

About 500 citizens filled the hall of the F. A. Day School at Newtonville on Tuesday night to listen to the various candidates for offices at the coming city election tell why they should receive the support of Newton's voters. Eleanor Mulcahy, vice-president of the Jefferson Club, which conducted the rally, introduced Edward O. Proctor as the presiding officer.

Ex-Mayor Edwin O. Childs attacked the propaganda against him which has been disseminated at parlor rallies held in the interest of Gen. Needham Childs characterized as silly and small the actions of those who say things against him at little parlor gatherings that they would not dare say on a public platform. He said he has not been pulling door bells and procuring signatures. He said it was an insult to the people of Newton who eight times elected him Mayor to claim that he does not possess executive ability.

He referred to a statement which has been made that "Ned Childs is a fine fellow and a good citizen, but he has no executive ability, should not be Mayor, but could fit perfectly as President of the Y. M. C. A. or some boys' club!" Childs said that such a statement might make an impression on those below par mentally, but to the average citizen it does not register so strongly.

He said: "I appreciate the tribute paid by my opponents to my character and am inclined to consider the rest of the statement a compliment also. An 'executive' is one active and skillful in execution, one able to get things done, one qualified for the execution of the laws or the conduct of public affairs. THE MAJOR OBJECTIONS DISCUSSED

Last week we expressed our belief that with the conditions of government materially and in some respects even fundamentally changed from the pre-depression days, that General Needham was the candidate to whom we would entrust the responsibilities as Mayor of Newton for the next two years. There are several phases of the situation with which many voters may not be familiar and which might well have further consideration. The Needham candidacy is assailed principally for three reasons—that he is a "hand-picked" candidate because of undue publicity received when serving as State Commissioner of Public Safety, that he has lived in Newton but eleven years, and that having held no local political office he is not as familiar with municipal government as he should be. The opponents of General Needham are employing these reasons as objections to his candidacy, yet overlooking the many factors which are present in the situation. In any political contest where the candidate has previously held public positions of trust the record of that candidate is open to scrutiny, comment or criticism.

General Needham was asked to assume the commissionership of Public Safety at a time when the morale of that department was at a low ebb and at a time when conditions were entirely unsatisfactory. He accomplished the task of reorganization and of improving the morale of the department with little fuss or furor, but with noticeable results. And it is important to remember that in connection with this task he was dealing with individuals in subordinate positions. This portion of his duties carried with it little notice from the public. It was his lot, however, to find himself faced with a number of problems in which the public found exceptional and spectacular interest, and as the head of the department he found himself very much in the public eye. However, General Needham, in his natural and modest manner, has repeatedly and openly given credit for the successful solution of these problems to those to whom it belongs. He has spoken often of the fact that success could never have been achieved but for the conferences with subordinates, the carrying out of many of their suggestions, and the co-operation of all of those assigned to the various aspects of particular cases. It is the ability to get results from subordinates which commends General Needham to us and not, by any manner of means, the fact that he frequently "made the headlines" because at the time he was the head of the department. And it is this ability that caused him to be sought as a mayoralty candidate by those who desire to see business principles continued in the government of Newton. It is also interesting to recall that General Needham did not become an avowed mayoralty candidate until he was convinced that many voters of Newton really desired to have him serve as chief executive.

It is true that General Needham has lived in Newton for eleven years and that he has held no local political office. Among the former mayors of Newton it is extremely interesting to note that very few advanced from an aldermanic seat or other official position to the mayor's office. Mayor Childs, Mayor Hatfield, and others, did not serve on the Board of Aldermen and it is not essential that General Needham should. As a matter of fact there are a number of valid reasons why it is better that the mayor should be chosen from outside of the membership of the Board of Aldermen. And by similar tokens is there any specific length of time longer than that stated by law in which a candidate must be a resident before he is permitted to become a candidate for mayor? In the eleven years General Needham has been a resident he has manifested his interest in many ways and knows more about Newton than some others who have resided here even a considerably longer time, yet have taken no interest in the community in which they have chosen to live.

The coming election, centering chiefly around the two outstanding mayoralty candidates, transcends politics in the sense which many people have come to regard it and raises but one fundamental question. Under whose administration will the city benefit to the greater extent?

WILL YOU BE ONE WHO DOES?

Today approximately twenty-two hundred appeal letters for the sale of Christmas Health Seals are being distributed to Newton residents. With each letter are enclosed one hundred seals for which the Health Committee of the Welfare Bureau and the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs is asking the small sum of one dollar. This sale of Christmas Health Seals should have especial interest to Newton Citizens as the entire receipts from the sale are used to protect and care for the little folk of Newton whose lives and health are endangered by tuberculosis. If even one-half of the recipients of the appeal letters respond a great deal of wonderful work can be accomplished toward relieving the distress caused by this ravaging disease. We are confident that many are acquainted with the needs of this community in this direction and that many will respond. Will you be among those who do?

The twenty-fifth annual meeting of the National Council of Teachers of English is being held this week in Indianapolis, Indiana, with Professor Charles Swain Thomas of Highland Avenue, West Newton, president, delivering an address at the opening session last evening. Professor Thomas of the Graduate School of Education of Harvard University, will preside at several of the sessions. Mr. Samuel Thurber, head of the English department of the Newton High School, will speak at a sectional meeting of senior high school teachers tomorrow morning. Mrs. Mayo Dyer Harney, formerly Miss Frances Lester Warner, who for a number of years was a teacher in the Newton High School, will be one of the after-dinner speakers at the banquet this evening. During the convention an invitation to hold the meeting next year in Boston will be extended.

Dr. Warren K. Lewis of Lombard Street, Newton, will be honored next January at a meeting of the Chemical Club in New York when he will be awarded the Perkins Medal for 1934. The medal, founded in 1906 in honor of Sir William Perkins and one of the highest honors in chemistry is presented by the American Society of the Society of Chemical Industry. Those who have received it in the past include Willis R. Whitney, the late Arthur D. Little, E. C. Aheson, and Leo H. Baekeland. Dr. Lewis will present a paper on the "Application of Physical Data to High-Pressure Processes." Dr. Lewis is professor of chemical engineering at M. I. T. and is further distinguished for his contributions to research in industry, particularly in the fields of petroleum and leather manufacture. He is an honorary member of the British Institution of Chemical Engineers and has been active in the American Chemical Society.

A census of business comparable to those made by the U. S. Census Bureau for the years 1929 and 1933 will be taken in 1936 covering business activity for the year 1935 was announced this week by the Newton Chamber of Commerce. This third census will be started on January 2nd and while covering all lines of business it is particularly valuable as it covers retailing. The census will make possible the presentation of data on the volume of business, expenses, personnel and payroll on a geographic basis of cities, counties and states. Additional statistics on specialized trades will also be obtained. The scope of the 1935 census is wide including retailing, wholesaling, financing, construction, transportation, communication, office buildings, and service establishments. It is expected that results of the survey will be released by states as promptly as possible beginning about July first of next year.

A news release showing the effect, according to the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, of the Government's farm program and other recovery measures upon the carlot shipments of industrial and manufactured products in interstate commerce from Newton to points on the southeast was received this week. The statistics show that where there were no carlot shipments during the year ending June 30, 1933, a total of 47,100 pounds was shipped in the twelve months ending June 30, 1934. The survey further shows that these shipments were comprised entirely of steel and iron products. As only carlot shipments were covered it was impossible to determine the amount shipped in lesser quantities. For Newton Upper Falls carlot shipments of 11,500 pounds, all paper and products, in the first year increased to 30,000 pounds, all rubber and products, in the second year. This increase was 160.9 per cent. The statement is made that the increased farm purchasing power had increased the farmers' demand for industrial goods and thus the additional dollars which the agricultural program has provided, in some measure, find their way back to industrial centers. At the same time the possibility of competitive business shifts, different routing or using different methods of transportation or distribution the statement, however, does not take into consideration in any way the fact that Newton manufacturers are receiving an increased business probably only an infinitesimal part or portion of the AAA funds they contribute in taxation.

Letters To The Editor

MODERATION LEAGUE

To the Editor:

A new organization has been formed in New York under the auspices of John D. Rockefeller, Jr. called the Moderation League. No one doubts Mr. Rockefeller's sincerity and desire to find a magic middle ground in this thus-far unsolved problem.

We do, however, doubt his judgment in consideration of the findings of science as to the tragic potency of a "few drinks" and the many tragic incidents related in the press where the man or woman in the case had had "only a few drinks."

One big argument against the rightness of the League's conclusions is the fact the liquor industry wholly approves of it, while most outstanding educators, ministers and socially-minded women are opposed to it. Says Mary E. E. Woolley, president of Mount Holyoke College, "I am not in favor of education for moderate drinking, as I am convinced total abstinence is the only safe position."

Says Albert W. Heaven, D.D., President Colgate-Rochester Divinity School, "The only people I see who will gain by the widespread propaganda for the use of liquor in moderation are those who want to sell it. I do not look upon it as any solution of the problem of liquor in American life."

Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, Mass. beloved former president of General Federation of Women's Clubs says, "Moderation is a much-abused word in the English language. There is a place for it, but not, I believe, in the fight against alcoholic liquors."

Hon. Arthur Capper, U. S. Senator from Kansas says, "I am unqualifiedly opposed to the movement inaugurated by the 'Council for Moderation.' I think any campaign to promote the use of all alcoholic liquors will be harmful rather than helpful to the temperance cause."

And so say hundreds of other notable people. And so say I. As some have so heartily said, "Even a moderate use of bad eggs is obnoxious."

CLARA E. BIRDSALL.

ENDORSEMENT UNAUTHORIZED

To the Editor,
Dear Sir:

I am very desirous of correcting a misunderstanding.

On account of my personal and very friendly relations existing between the two principal candidates for the mayoralty and myself, I positively declined to take any active part in the promotion of either's interest.

I spent most of last week in our New York Office and in my absence a letter was sent to my house by one of Mr. Childs's enthusiastic workers to the effect that a circular was to be sent out in his interests, and wanted to use my name and in case he did not hear from me, he would consider that I was willing to have my name placed thereon. On my arrival home, I immediately got in touch with the party and learned that the circular had gone out, he believing that my no response meant my approval.

I write this in justice to Mr. Childs whom I believe know nothing about this, to General Needham and particularly to myself.

Yours respectfully,
FRANK L. NAGLE.

One hundred and fifty-five tramps have been lodged and fed at Police Station 1, Newton during the months of October and November.

First Sociable of the Horticultural Society next Thursday evening in Cole's Hall. Topic: Review of the year and what it suggests for the future, to be discussed by J. F. C. Hyde and Henry Ross. The ladies will be welcome at the sociables this winter.

About 500 applications for water are on file in the office of the Water Commissioner. They are putting in service pipes as rapidly as possible.

Burglars are in vogue in this city as much as ever, and it is quite remarkable that the villains have not been caught. Probably they are not professional house-breakers, but if they continue in this trade much longer we will warrant them to be professional in the end. Early rising has been encouraged by the burglaries and study of front-door locks is increasing.

The band of burglars was about its nefarious work in Auburndale on Monday morning. At S. E. Ashenshon's house on Maple st. the thieves took $13 in money. At C. H. Whitman's House on Lexington st. they took $50 from his sleeping room. W. D. La-throp's house was entered and a valuable silver watch stolen. At N. W. Parley's house on Maple st. an overcoat and a pocketbook containing $15 were taken.

Alderman Petree was seen last week surveying that dangerous corner at Lincoln and Woodward sts. We trust that something will be done. If the Highway Committee is not competent to handle it, then put the matter in to some special committee's hands. It is quite time this point of danger is acted upon.

Darkness prevailed on Wednesday evening in Newton Highlands square. Horses could not see to drink from the fountain, and pedestrians had no choice but paddle through mud and water. Bad enough to have walks which are not in perfect order, but to have no lights makes the matter worse.

The overseers, second-hands and all men with families of the Nonantum Worst Company were made happy the day before Thanksgiving by the donation of nice, large turkeys by the company.

Never before in the history of Newton was there such an exciting convention as the one held at City Hall on Tuesday evening. For 111 ballots the contending parties struggled, midnight came and went, and still the contest waged. At 2:30 a. m., weary and worn, but still in good temper, the plucky hosts separated under express stipulations to meet again Friday night and renew the fight. During all the contest, our candidate was in the van, lacking only 3 votes of the necessary majority. His competitors had only 10 each to his 15, but they refused to yield him the needed three votes, and so the nomination could not be made. On Wednesday Mr. Powers having heard of the all-night contest, at once sent to Mr. Thomas Weston, Jr. the following letter—"My Dear Mr. Weston:—I have just heard of the protracted contest at City Hall last evening in which my name was urged by my friends as a candidate for Mayor of Newton. It seems to me that the time has come when personal ambition should be put aside for the sake of peace and harmony in our municipal politics, and I therefore request you to withdraw my name from the convention as a candidate. Thanking you and all the delegates who have labored so cordially in behalf of my candidacy, and trusting that the convention may now be able to make a satisfactory and early nomination, I remain sincerely yours, Samuel L. Powers."

The School Committee met last Wednesday with Mr. Bethford in the chair. The school census report showed a net increase of 153 over 1909, with a total of 6768. The distribution by wards follows—Ward 1, 1628; Ward 2, 1275; Ward 3, 1134; Ward 4, 716; Ward 5, 1269; Ward 6, 947; Ward 7, 359.

A horse attached to a heavy wagon owned by the C. F. Eddy Coal Company created much excitement on Saturday evening by running away on Border st. The driver, Thomas Hughes, was unable to control the animal which turned into Elm st., and ended its dash by dropping dead. Both driver and wagon escaped injury.

Powers' Paragraphs

The writer will vote for Edwin O. Childs for Mayor because he has known Mr. Childs for nearly a half century and during that long period observed the latter as a boy, youth and man zealously working for civic betterment in Newton, giving his time to improve the condition of others at the expense of his own material advancement. Edwin O. Childs not only preaches the Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of Man. He has always practiced it.

We will vote for Edwin O. Childs because during the long term he efficiently served as Mayor of Newton he was absent only 9 days, altogether from his office in City Hall. He did not largely delegate his duties to others; he was on the job; he was available to citizens.

We will vote for Edwin O. Childs because during the years of his administration the population of Newton increased nearly 50%; in the last 10 years it increased 41%, and valuation in real estate increased 100%. People were attracted to this city because of its low tax rates; because of the character of its city government—headed by Edwin O. Childs. Although Government restrictions prevented the erection of new school buildings during several war years, the following new schools were built during Mr. Childs' administration—Angier, Hamilton, Underwood, Davis, Day Junior high, Warren Junior high, High School administration building, and the land for the Weeks school purchased. Playgrounds were purchased and developed at Nonantum, Lower Falls, Newtonville; and Cladfin Field was developed. New fire stations were erected at Auburndale, Lower Falls and Newton, and a fire-alarm headquarters building at Newton Centre. New buildings for the Crafts st. and Newton Highlands, and a new police signal system was established.

During the Childs administration (in 1926) a special committee of Aldermen was created on his recommendation to devise plans for the improvement of Newton's water supply and system. A new well was sunk at the water reservation and a conduit built to the pumping station, increasing the water supply 2½ million gallons per day; many acres of land at the water reservation were reforested, the larger water mains were cleaned, extended, and a 20 inch main built along Commonwealth ave. The writer was a member of the Board of Aldermen during some of these years and can refute the propaganda being spread to the effect —"that Childs neglected Newton's water system." In 1922, during his administration, Newton was one of the first cities in this State to adopt a zoning ordinance.

We will vote for Childs notwithstanding that some of his political critics contend he does not possess executive or business ability, because the facts are—that during his administration Newton's tax rates were among the lowest of any city in this Commonwealth, though based largely on "pay-as-you-go" and not bonded expenditures; because its bonds were sold at high prices and were always in demand. We will vote for Childs because he entered the office of Mayor without being possessed of wealth, and left it with his personal finances in the same condition—and there was a surplus of over half a million dollars in the city treasury.

Were Edwin O. Childs not a candidate for Mayor, we would vote for Sydney Holden, an intelligent, efficient, young man whose long residence in Newton and six years' service on the Board of Aldermen qualify him to serve the city capably as Mayor. We credit Mr. Holden with having moral courage enough to run for this office instead of yielding to pressure, as did some others who have Mayorality aspirations, and meekly agreeing they were not of Mayorality calibre.

One should not count chickens before they are hatched. And candidates for political offices should not be too sure that all persons who have signed pledges to vote will keep such pledges when they go into voting booths. Inasmuch as those who so solicit such pledges are openly violating the spirit of the secret ballot, which was instituted to allow citizens to vote free of economic or social influence, and as their consciences dictate, none should feel qualms of conscience if he or she exercises the right to vote for a candidate other than one in whose interest a written pledge was obtained.

According to Associated Press reports from Eritrea, the aviation forces of the Italian army strafing the Ethiopians consist of Count Galeazzo Ciano (Mussolini's son-in-law), Vittorio Mussolini, Bruno Mussolini, and some other fellows.

Generous at Small Cost

In the matter of Christmas purchases a report of progress is here submitted. I have not made out a list of people I would like to remember because it would be too long and furthermore is entirely unnecessary. They are always in my mind, a bit of tender sentiment which really means something.

Well, as I started to say I am progressing, for I have been reading the advertisements. If that doesn't show an awakened interest I'd like to know what does. In justice to those on whom I would bestow gifts I read of nothing but the highest-priced presents. My reason is this: when a miser comes and I have no token to offer, I can truthfully say, "I wanted to give you a present but it was so costly I could not afford it." Thus I have paid them a compliment which no doubt they'll appreciate as much or more than a trifling remembrance. In short, financial resources may be exhausted but the supply of flattery never shrinks.

Anyway, They Look Grand

Husbands who honor me with their smiles and smiles which make their wives slip up occasionally when buying articles they hope may make hubby happy. The latest instance, and they're likely to be more numerous around Christmas, is that of a friend with a swank pair of blue slippers. The uppers are of a fine grade of soft leather, or maybe it's kid, but at any rate they're marvelous. But they differ from the every-day slipper in that there is no back to the heel. Sort of Chinese effect, if you get what I mean. Nice-looking "scuffs," that's all I have no idea what the idea is of doing away with the back wall but nevertheless some of the best on display are fashioned thus.

"How do you like them?" I asked the grateful husband.

"All right if you keep going, but you can't back up in 'em," he replied.

No Grounds for Alarm

It disturbed me to read in a high-priced magazine that the custom of urging children to learn music is passing out, largely due, the article declared, to the radio. More particularly was I distressed when the writer told of the fading of that always pleasant family picture of parents and children gathered in the living room, mother playing the piano, father singing, the son with his saxophone, the daughter with her violin and the youngest boy with his drum, etc. Maybe I've got too much noise, but at least my purpose is plain enough for purposes of illustration. Neighbors speak of them as "musically inclined" and it always meets my approval.

Naturally, when the writer of the lament said that the radio had driven that out or was driving it out of our homes, my contempt for the loud-speaker increased. Now, however, I am glad to report the calamitous prophecy is not supported by facts and figures. On the contrary, more pupils than ever are enrolled for music courses in the public schools. Especially true is this of Newton, I am assured. Furthermore, teachers of piano have said the idea of a family circle of musicians is more widely recognized than ever. All good news and I delight to pass it on. May I add that I am glad that the magazine in which I read the doleful tale was borrowed. Had I paid 50 cents and became all haired-up for nothing I would have been sore.

Don't Drop Any

Looking back on yesterday, and many other Thanksgiving Days I wonder—not how many people had their fill of victuals but how many did their share of dish-washing. If you are disposed to envy those who had servants to perform such tasks you do not impress me. The old-fashioned way of all the women turning-out and washing, wiping and putting away dishes, knives, forks and spoons, having ordered the men to clear-out and go off and smoke, isn't as far out-of-date as you may think. It is still the rule in some of the most modern homes because it's a custom rather than a necessity. In fact, it's as New Englandy as the great turkey festival and homes wherein it is done are almost certain to produce the most marvelous cooks.

Always Welcome

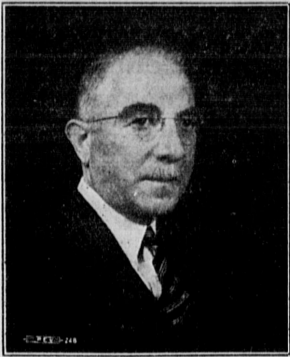

Few homes, as far as I have been able to determine, fail to extend a warm welcome to the letter carrier. Even on such days as he may be expected to deposit a cluster of monthly statements from various creditors is his arrival looked forward to with pleasure. Although mail boxes and door sills are provided, many a householder prefers to open the door and receive the mail in person.

"You might think this daily happening would lessen the letter carrier's popularity because of its monotony. On the contrary, I am informed, that very obliging public servant has more friends than ever. Without reflection on his efficiency and genial manner I think I know one of the reasons. He is now about the only regular caller to keep the household in touch with neighborhood or village affairs. The iceman doesn't call at as great a number of homes as formerly because there is a mechanical device supplying ice-cubes. The process of manufacture cannot produce neighborhood gossip where formerly the iceman always had plenty of fresh news with every 60 pounds of frozen water. Then the family shopping is frequently done by car and there is no store delivery boy to retail what he may have picked up on the route.

I might go on and show how science has changed the mode of living in many homes. It would all prove that the letter carrier is the one stand-by and will so remain until that remote day when mail will be shot at us by tube-guns direct from the post-office.

Oxford Student To Speak
At Meeting of The SEC

A graduate of Oxford University, now carrying on chemical research at Harvard on a fellowship, will present the viewpoint of British youth on the world of today at the regular meeting of the SEC next Sunday evening. This marks somewhat of an innovation, the usual speakers being older, more specialists talking on their fields of study. Mr. R. V. Williams will be no expert, but his interpretation of the sentiment of the college students in England will be authoritative. Those who have never had a chance to meet a young Englishman will want to make the most of this opportunity to get first-hand information on the opinions of the younger generation of a country whose public sentiment is playing such an important part in current events. The subject, "As British Youth Sees It"; the place, Central Congregational Church in Newtonville; the time, 8 p. m., Sunday, Dec. 1.

The SEC is planning an informal dance for Friday, Dec. 6, at the Central Congregational Church Social Hall. Libby Adams is in charge.

The evening was spent in music and dancing after which Mrs. MacInnis cut the large anniversary cake.

They received many gifts from friends including a sum of money, flowers, and candy. A large number of friends gathered to wish both Mr. and Mrs. MacInnis many more years of wedded life.

Salvation Army
Issues Warning
Of Imposters

Warning has been issued of imposters seeking to trade upon the good repute of The Salvation Army by wrongfully soliciting contributions during that organization's local Appeal for $5000.

In a statement issued from The Salvation Army's New England Headquarters, Colonel Joseph Atkinson commanding, it was declared that such fraudulent solicitation of funds is, unfortunately, to be anticipated.

"In every community in New England, including Newton, where The Salvation Army makes a house-to-house canvass for contributions," the statement said, "the canvasser is invariably dressed in full regulation Salvation Army uniform; he carries a Credential Letter signed by the Chairman of the Citizens' Appeal Committee, and he also has an Authorized Pass, signed by Colonel Joseph Atkinson, commanding the New England Forces."

The statement stressed the fact that "the uniform alone is insufficient to protect the would-be giver of charity from being misled. As a matter of fact, authorized canvassers are instructed to display their credentials without being asked."

PUZZLO DIRECTIONS

Starting with any letter or number on the chart, draw a continuous line connecting Sixty Squares, containing as many letters representing advertisers and as many of the largest numbers as possible. Your line must not connect more than four squares or less than three squares in any one direction and must not include the same square twice. The line must not cross itself and must change from horizontal to vertical or vice versa as in sample chart. Draw a circle at each end of the line when completed. The sample chart below illustrates all of the above rules clearly. Only one solution may be worked out on a chart.

PUZZLO SOLUTION

To figure out your solution add all the figures in the squares connected by your line. To this sum add 99 for each letter the line passes through representing an advertiser. From this last total subtract 99 for each letter the line passes through which does not represent an advertiser. Convert this final result to dollars and cents. This is your solution to the puzzle and should be inserted in the space provided directly under the chart you have completed.

Send your chart to the Graphic Office with the blank properly filled out. Make a purchase at the store of one of the advertisers and obtain his signature in order to be eligible for a double value prize.

The object of Puzzle is to work out a solution showing the largest amount of money you can save during an imaginary shopping tour, calling on as many of the advertisers as you can. Each advertiser on this page is represented on the chart by a different letter, which is duplicated in their advertisement for identification. All other letters on the chart should be avoided to obtain the best solution. LOOK FOR THE LETTER IN EACH ADVERTISEMENT!

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

NEWTON-BROOKLINE IN SCORELESS TIE

Newton started at the east end, Brookline kicking off, both teams having dropped about evenly by the strong south wind. Ernie MacLeod took the kickoff at the five-yard line and carried straight up to the thirty-yard line before he was hit by Tom Sullivan. Captain Savignano went through at right tackle for a first down. Jack Herrick and Savvy advanced the ball seven yards in two attempts, and Savignano dropped back to kick from the Newton 40-yard line. Peraner receiving for Brookline and going outside at the ten-yard line.

A Brookline end run made a couple of yards, but Tom Sullivan was hurt on the play and was replaced by George Lawler, the triple threat who started most of the Brookline pass plays during the rest of the game. Four successive plays were called back on penalties, Brookline gaining ten yards and losing fifteen. Lawler kicked out well from the twenty-yard line, but offside play gave Brookline a first down on the play. The clipping penalty set Brookline back, and Lawler again kicked, only to have the play called back for offside play again. Landry regained some of the lost yardage with a ten-yard end sweep, but Lawler kicked on fourth down, MacLeod receiving at the Newton 32-yard line.

MacLeod ran the left end wide and well for a ten-yard gain before being dropped by Peraner. Savignano was stopped by Mawhinney, but went through for another first down on the following play behind some superb blocking. Al Thompson and Savvy hit the line for three-yard bucks, and Thompson bored through for a third first down, placing the ball on the Brookline 30-yard line. Ernie MacLeod circled the left end and cut back cleverly, reaching the Brookline 15-yard line before Peraner cut him down. A Newton touchdown seemed to be a matter of moments. Newton had come 52 yards in seven plays. Savignano fumbled, but both teams were ahead of the ball. Savignano shook off three tacklers before Paul Robey missed Savvy's next pass. The third was intercepted by Killman at Brookline's 18-yard line.

Peraner at once skirted the right end and got down to the 30-yard mark before he was caught and thrown. Two short penalties set the Red and Blue back, but Landry came back to the 35-yard line on a single lateral pass play that circled the Newton right end. Lawler punted, and the ball was grounded by Brookline on the Newton 35-yard line.

Savignano hit the right side for nine yards, and Al Thompson went almost to the 50-yard line for a first down, making it easy for the officials, since this was the last play of the first quarter. Savvy lost ground at the center of the line, threw a bad forward pass, then kicked to Peraner at the Brookline 35-yard line. An exchange of kicks put Brookline on its own 40. Peraner circled the Newton left end for a 23-yard gain, bringing the ball to the Newton 37. Two plays made no gain, so Lawler tossed a thirty-yard forward pass over Bill Daniels' head, but the receiver obligingly dropped the ball. Lawler kicked to MacLeod at the Newton 20, and Allan Smith kicked outside at midline shortly after. Red Dolan and Paul Forte replaced MacLeod and Smith in the Newton backfield. The remainder of the period was spent inside Newton's 35-yard line and the half ended with the ball at the two 25-yard lines. Ralph "Sax" Salvucci, first string end, was carried off the field just before the half ended.

Newton Misses Scoring Chances

Koffman kicked off for Newton from the west end of the field, his short kick coming back to the Brookline 45-yard line. Several punts interspersed with a number of incomplete laterals, passes and fumbles gave Brookline the ball near midfield after several minutes of play. Peraner was stopped by Packard for no gain. Newton got a line break as Savignano gathered in Lawler's forward pass at midfield and galloped twenty yards before he was thrown by Peraner. Savignano made a first down in three tries at the line, carrying to the 18-yard line. At this point the Newton attack lost whatever imagination it had, losing the ball on downs as Red Dolan and Savvy hacked at the Brookline tackles. But a brace of end runs failed to gain for Brookline, and Lawler kicked out to the Brookline 40, where Newton again took possession. Forte was stopped on an end run, and the teams reversed fields for the start of the fourth quarter. Cotting, Whelden, Johnson, Herrick and Duane went into the game.

Newton again struck inside the Brookline 20-yard line. Savignano and MacLeod executed a pretty running pass for first down on the Brookline 27. Savvy and Al Thompson hit three times inside the tackle for another first down at the 15-yard line. On the next play the ball came back from center and rolled free until Tom Sullivan fell on it for Brookline, and Newton had missed another great chance to score.

Lawler made five yards off tackle, but Ox Wilson felled Peraner, and Lawler kicked to MacLeod at the Newton 30-yard line. Savignano ran the left end, setting the stage for a sleeper pass to George Duane, who stood quietly at the Newton side of the field while referee Mitchell held up the game for a talk to the boys. Finally the play came off, but Savignano's pass was yards short, and Lawler intercepted.

Brookline gained nothing in two plays. Lawler fumbled in attempting to kick, and Brookline was penalized 15 yards for clipping. An end run picked up thirteen yards, and Brookline was advanced five yards for first down when roughing was called on Wilson. Oxie was in the mood, however, and slammed Lawler with a good tackle on the next play. Peraner gained twelve yards on a lateral, making it third down, four to go. Peraner passed and Ernie MacLeod intercepted on his 40-yard line, running the ball back to the Brookline 43. Savignano's pass to McEwen was good for twelve yards and first down. Another Savignano pass, to MacLeod, gained eight yards, and Savvy carried the ball for a first down at the Brookline 23-yard line. Savvy passed to Gruber for an eight-yard gain, and Brookline took the ball on the fifteen-yard line.

Debate On Biennial Sessions

able to do this as well as other states are now doing it.

Mr. Luitwieler decried the idea that there would be a saving in the cost of government; for instance, members of the court would be quick to raise their salary for the biennial session enough to approximate the same income as they now receive. Of greater importance, however, would be the abridgement of the ancient right of full and free petition, which is now preserved in Massachusetts alone. Here no bill can be pocketed by an official or a committee; every one must be considered. In this way, our State government is truly representative and close to the people. A more practical way of reducing the amount of legislation under consideration would be to require the deposit of a small fee with every bill introduced, thereby eliminating some of the more frivolous. The argument about the cost of government is not always a sincere one; for example, one of the tax-payers associations is strongly favoring biennial sessions on the economy basis, but this same group refused to take any stand against the recent "48-Hour" bill which shortened the hours of employees in state institutions and added to the numbers on the payrolls by some 100 persons. The association appeared to feel that the number of employees involved in this bill was so great that they could not afford to risk the alienation of some of that support even to save the State about $1,800,000 a year. As a matter of fact, the cost of government in Massachusetts is not so high after all; the percent of increase is among the smallest; and we, as a State, have already burdened ourselves with many improvements in the protection of life and property, in better transportation, better education, etc., which other states are just now approaching.

In rebuttal, Mr. Baker pointed out that while our expenses are mounting more slowly than those of other states, our per capita expenses for government—at about $17—is higher than that of most states. He did not feel that the public would stand for further salary increases in the Court; and while he is as loyal as anyone to the principle of freedom of petition, he considers that once every two years would answer all requirements and would eliminate some of the trivial and purely political matters that are now presented.

In his rebuttal, Mr. Luitwieler pointed out that 23 of the famous 43 biennial session states last year introduced extra sessions. He then related instances indicating the lack of consideration which much of the electorate has for political matters and showing how the tax-payers are continually outvoted by those who think they are getting something for nothing because they pay no property taxes.

The speakers were introduced by Rep. Warren K. Brimblecom, a member of the club.

Protest Against Junk Yard

About 40 Nonantum residents appeared at City Hall on Monday night to protest at a hearing before the Licenses Committee on the revoking of a license held by William Shriberg to conduct a junk yard at 77 West st., Nonantum. Shriberg has had a junk business at the address for many years, and has also dealt in old automobiles. Large quantities of junk have been piled high at the place. John Finelli and Louis DeRubeis, president of the Newton Citizens Club, led the protests. The aldermen were told that Shriberg has been using West st. to disassemble old automobiles, not only impeding traffic, but also smearing the street with grease and oil. It was also stated that old cars were dragged along the street without tires on the wheels, that much noise came from the yard, and that eight fires have occurred there in recent months.

Newton-Brookline Football Films at Coolidge Corner

The Coolidge Corner Theatre, Brookline, has acquired a newsreel scoop in showing exclusively, all this week, starting Thanksgiving evening, November 28th, pictures of the Brookline High School vs Newton High School football game.

Pictures were taken at Brookline Field during the morning game and through speedy development and processing, the film of this yearly classic was on view to the audiences, that same evening. All of the highlight plays of the game are clearly shown in this picture. If you were one of the patrons at this game, you may see yourself on the screen in the pictures taken of the crowd in attendance.

Be sure to attend the Coolidge Corner Theatre during this week, and see the exciting plays of the game.

WELLESLEY COLLEGE CLUB TEA

Invitations have been issued to all former graduates and others who attended Wellesley College and are residents of West Newton or Auburndale to attend a tea to be given at the home of Mrs. William D. Ireland, 70 Temple st., West Newton on Wednesday afternoon, December 4 at 3:30, to meet Mrs. Robert T. Munroe, president of the Wellesley Club of Boston and Mrs. Gordon W. Cameron, class of 1919, who will speak.

Newton Dentists To Examine School Pupils

The Newton Dental Club has unanimously voted to co-operate with the Newton Health Department and the School Department in making a survey of the conditions of the teeth of the Newton school children.

It is expected that all the dentists practicing in Newton will participate in this examination, each man examining the children attending the schools in his district.

This inspection is to be done by the dentists for one year only and is necessary because of the fact that the Newton Health Department has no personnel available specially trained in dental work to make such a survey.

It has been definitely shown in other cities that improvement in dental conditions has increased attendance as much as fifteen percent over a period of years.

It is hoped that from the information obtained by this survey that much can be done to lessen the percentage of dental defects in the teeth of Newton school children.

Colored Citizens Hear Candidates

A political rally was held on Tuesday night in the vestry of the Myrtle Baptist Church, West Newton, by the W. Newton Improvement Club, composed of colored citizens. Walter Cooper, president of the club, introduced Alderman Floyd, who acted as master of ceremonies. Among those who addressed the gathering were: Wilton Johnson, Eugene Lomax, Maynard Hutchinson, Algernon McCarthy, Mrs. Charles Floyd, Mayor Weeks and General Needham. After the rally a collation was served by the Women's Auxiliary of the club in charge of Ruth Meekins, Elizabeth Hopkins and Mrs. J. P. Davis. Allen Hardon of Boston gave solos.

Recent Engagements

Mrs. Frank D. Warren of Newton Highlands announces the engagement of her daughter Miss Ruthena Frances Warren, to Chester Anthoine Tudbury, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester W. Tudbury, also of Newton Highlands.

Miss Warren is a graduate of Mt. Holyoke College and Mr. Tudbury is a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He is now associated with the New England Power Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl G. Manning of 61 Chester rd., Newton Highlands, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Jeannie Manning, to Edward E. Wendall, son of Mrs. George B. Wendall of Milton. Miss Manning is a graduate of Smith College, 1933, and studied for two years at the Ecole des Beaux Arts in Fontainebleau, France. She also studied at the Breckenridge School of Painting in Gloucester during one summer. Mr. Wendall studied at Milton Academy and graduated from Harvard in 1932, where he was a member of the Phoenix S. K. Hasty Pudding, Institute of 1770 and Varsity Clubs. He is a member of the Harvard Club of Boston and the Holland Society of New York.

Weeks Jr. High

A great deal of campaigning has been going on during the past two weeks in anticipation of the ninth grade elections held on Tuesday. Six parties, the Ninth Grade Leaders, the Headliners, Star, E.R.A. (Efficient, Reliable, Accurate), Navenacs, and the S. P. C. (Students' Progressive Campaign), held rallies and hosted their respective candidates. As a result of the voting the following were elected: President, Vincent Manchester—Ninth Grade Leaders; vice-president, Henry de Rucha—Ninth Grade Leaders; secretary, Carolyn Cooke—E.R.A.; and treasurer, Herbert Bernard—Ninth Grade Leaders.

A Science Assembly was presented on Friday, Nov. 15. A radio broadcast was announced by Marie Harper and given by Henry de Rucha over Station WERE. The subject was "Believe It or Not Facts of Science." A short play entitled "Raising the Wreck" showed the scientific principle used in raising a sunken boat. The following pupils took part: William Ellingwood, Christine Cameron, William Brittain, Victor Leober, and Pierre Stenman. Jean Roberts and Helen Meserve performed several interesting experiments with dry ice, while Ida Kelloway explained them to the audience. The concluding number on the program was a cartesian diver experiment, conducted by William Ellingwood.

The boys' soccer season came to a close when the Weeks Varsity defeated the Day Varsity 1 to 0 in a hotly contested game at the Cabot Playground on Wednesday, Nov. 20. During the entire season, 400 boys, or about 90 percent of all the boys in school, took part in the home-room games. This represents the largest total that have ever turned out for the intramural sports.

In the finals of the girls' field hockey tournaments, Room 212 won the seventh grade and Room 304 the eighth grade championship.

After the Thanksgiving holiday, both boys and girls will start the home-room basketball league schedules. The "Hollywood Mimics," an eighth grade drama club directed by Miss Sanborn, presented a one-act play, entitled "Turkey Red," at the Nov. 22 assembly. The program was announced by Rosalie Grow, and those taking part included Louise Peratsakis, Mary Higgins, Jacqueline Smith, Mary Louise Hermanns, Eleanor Greene and Rosalie Cohen.

Community Forum Meetings Open Sunday

Other well-known speakers, including Smedley Butler, Christopher Morley, Margaret Slattery, Ralph Edward Israel, Julius Hecker, and Dr. Clarence Cook Little, will be heard at the six other Sunday afternoon forums to be held during the winter.

John Haynes Holmes is chairman of the City Affairs Committee of New York and is widely recognized as a forceful speaker upon political and social conditions. He is editor of the magazine "Unity" and associate editor of "The World Tomorrow," and is the author of numerous magazine articles and pamphlets upon questions of the day. Glee Club To Feature Operatic Singer

Soprano To Be Guest At Concert Dec. 16th

It is with the keenest interest that Newton residents receive the news that Rachel Morton, the well known operatic soprano, has accepted the invitation to appear as soloist with the Highland Glee Club of Newton, Dec. 16, at the Newton High School Auditorium at 8:15 p. m.

While a pupil of Jean de Reszke, in Europe, who taught her gratuitously for three years, Miss Morton endeavored herself to the hearts of her countrymen everywhere, but more particularly to Newton residents.

Morning newspapers in Europe and America flashed the news of the terrible disaster to a party of touring Americans when the omnibus in which they were sightseeing crashed off the road with the appalling casualties of nine killed and many horribly injured. Their first concert moments were blest by the sight of choice and fragrant flowers from this pupil of the great de Reszke. She had read of the accident, and was first to respond with the tokens of sympathy and Americanism. Newton remembers particularly among the victims of the accident Rev. Mr. Person and Mrs. Person.

The appearance of Miss Morton as soprano soloist at this first concert of the season, on Dec. 16, at the Newton High School Auditorium, will add much to the attractive program. Director Ralph Maclean has chosen several numbers for the program that show the qualities and merits which have won for two years in succession the first prize at The New England Conference of Men's Singing Clubs. At the meeting last Monday evening the matter of furthering a scholarship for musical education was enthusiastically considered, and has become a growing project of the organization.

The audience will hear the club at its best in this program of Dec. 16th. At rehearsals attendance has reached a total of seventy-two enthusiastic singers under an inspiring leadership.

NORUMBEGA DISTRICT COUNCIL OF RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

"The Sunday School is the mightiest organization in the world for good," says Judge Fawcett of the Supreme Court of New York. This and similar statements made from time to time by statesmen and students of social welfare give added appreciation of the efforts to improve the church and Sunday School, such as those carried on by the Norumbega District.

Assembly periods at the Norumbega District Training School have been used this year as opportunities for guest speakers to bring appropriate messages. Two recent speakers have been Dr. Albert C. Diefenbach of Newton Centre, Editor of Religion for the Boston Transcript, and Dr. Erwin L. Shaver, secretary of Leadership Training in the Congregational Education Society.

Dr. Diefenbach emphasized the need for making all our work head up into one great goal, to quicken the spiritual understanding, so that we may all appreciate that God is real and is the centre of all living. The quality of the teacher's personality is a great factor; the teacher may radiate such a spirit of faith and religious feeling that the pupil catches that spirit.

Mr. Shaver listed many concrete methods of pupil activity that a teacher may use in helping pupils to think and develop an interest in religious things. Some of these methods are: prepare thought-provoking questions, use "true-false" tests, collect quotations and incidents that bear on religion and life, have class work out a code of action embodying the ideas in a lesson, bring into class occasionally some "guest speaker" who can make a contribution to the subject under discussion, have pupils interview or write to authorities on some subject to get their opinions or to get facts needed, go with pupils to investigate some museum or settlement activity, and to use pictures, models, cartoons, and other methods of illustration.

FRANKLIN WAS AMERICA'S FIRST CARTOONIST. HIS FAMOUS CARTOON "JOIN OR DIE" WAS PRINTED IN THE PENNSYLVANIA GAZETTE OF MAY 9, 1754.

Obituary
The body of Benjamin Franklin (like the cover of an old book) its contents worn out and stripped of its lettering and gilding lies here, cold and lifeless. But the work itself shall not be lost. For it will, as he believed, appear once more in a new and more beautiful edition. Corrected and amended by its author.
THE OBITUARY OF "HIMSELF" BUT NEVER USED.

TO BENJAMIN FRANKLIN IS ACCREDITED MANY PRINTING FIRSTS, THE MOST UNUSUAL ONE BEING THE PRINTING OF THE FIRST GERMAN NEWSPAPER, "DIE PHILADELPHISCHE ZEITUNG." IT WAS PRINTED IN GERMAN BUT WITH ENGLISH TYPES AS GERMAN TYPES WERE NOT AVAILABLE. THE PAPER WAS ISSUED ON MAY 6, 1732. FRANKLIN WAS THE FIRST OWNER OF A NEWSPAPER CHAIN AND THE FIRST TO USE NEWS PLATE IN HIS "PENNSYLVANIA GAZETTE."

Newton School Committee Meets

At the meeting of the Newton School Committee on Monday night, Sup't. of Schools Warren gave the information that all teachers in the Newton Public Schools have signed the oath pledging allegiance to the Constitution, as required by act of the last Legislature. Some of the members of the committee stated their homes had been visited by members of the "Witnesses of Jehovah" sect and leaflets left which contain articles defending the refusal of this sect's adherents to salute the flag and take oaths.

A sabbatical leave from Sept. 1936 to Feb. 1937 was granted to F. J. Hussey, a teacher in Newton High School, so that he can study in a western college. Leaves of absence from Jan. 1 to June 30, 1936 were granted to Genevieve Doran of the Franklin School and Susan Doran of the Day School, sisters.

Sup't. Warren told the committee that all teachers and other employees in the Newton public school contributed promptly to the Newton Community Chest; the per capita contribution averaged $11.18, the highest average for teachers in New England. Director Forbes of the Newton Trade School said that 60% of recent graduates of the school have obtained permanent positions.

The Salvation Army does not contribute any funds for use in England.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

In accordance with established custom to express annually on Thanksgiving Day gratitude for divine protection and blessings experienced throughout the year, First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Newton, held a Thanksgiving service on Thursday morning in its edifice on Walnut and Otis streets.

The service, differing somewhat from the form followed at Sunday services, included the reading of the Thanksgiving Proclamation written by the President of the United States. The congregation united in prayer and in the singing of appropriate hymns from the Christian Science Hymnal.

The Golden Text of the Lesson-Sermon on "Thanksgiving" was as follows: "Offer unto God thanksgiving; and pay thy vows unto the most High" (Psalms 50:14).

One of the Scriptural passages was from the thirteenth chapter of Hebrews: "Jesus Christ, the same yesterday, and today, and for ever."

By him therefore let us offer the sacrifice of praise to God continually, that is, the fruit of our lips giving thanks to his name. But to do good and to communicate forget not: for with such sacrifices God is well pleased."

—The Doyle family of Floral st. are moving to Walnut st.

Albert E. Robinson is spending the holidays at his home on Lakewood rd.

Miss N. W. Reed of Hartford st. spent Thanksgiving with her sister at Norfolk.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Reidy of Chester st. recently spent a few days at Holbrook.

Mrs. Seward Johnson of Harrison st. is in the Newton Hospital with a broken leg.

Union Thanksgiving Day services were held at 9 o'clock in St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

Miss Helen Hoffman of Centre st. is recovering from the effects of her recent accident.

There will be a Union Service on Thanksgiving morning at St. Paul's Church at nine o'clock.

Mr. Albert Hutchinson of Allerton rd. has been transferred to a position at Springfield, Mass.

The reading from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, included the following citation: "Outward worship is not of itself sufficient to express loyal and heartfelt gratitude, since he has said: 'If ye love me, keep my commandments.' The habitual struggle to be always good is unceasing prayer. Its motives are made manifest in the blessings they bring,—blessings which, even if not acknowledged in audible words, attest our worthiness to be partakers of Love" (p. 4).

After the reading of the Lesson-Sermon, the soloist sang "Songs of Gladness" by Antonin Dvorak.

Before the close of the service the First Reader announced that a brief opportunity would be given for testimonies by Christian Scientists appropriate for the occasion, and many present expressed gratitude for healings and benefits received through Christian Science.

The service ended with the benediction from II Cor. 9:15: "Thanks be unto God for his unspeakable gift."

Much Interest In Visit Of Amelia Earhart Here

When Amelia Earhart comes to Channing Church, Newton on December 13 to talk of her "Adventures in the Air," there will be no lack of interest in her record in the air which contains a dozen "firsts" in the performance of many dangerous aerial navigation attempts.

Neither will there be any lack of the warm social welcome which her wonderful record deserves. Already more than twenty of Newton's distinguished social leaders have signified their eagerness and interest in Miss Earhart's coming here, and these patronesses form the nucleus of a large group of Newtonians which will welcome the noted woman flyer.

Nash Motors Head Gives Views

Now, if ever, steady hands are needed on the industrial and financial reins of this country to consolidate the gains already made in our return to better times.

In my opinion, there is nothing in today's general economic conditions, nor in the outlook for tomorrow, that should slow down the inspiring industrial march that has marked the past eight months of this year.

It is natural, perhaps, for most of us engaged in the automobile industry to take pride in the part we have played toward restoring some degree of prosperity to the land and courage to other industries. We cannot overlook, however, the fact that an ever-increasing potential market for automobiles, built up during the depression years, has received a tremendous stimulus from the general betterment of agricultural and business conditions, a stimulus which will make itself felt to an even greater degree in 1936.

This year, as always, the automobile manufacturer who achieves the greatest actual value in his product is going to receive the maximum of public support. The automobile market is becoming more stabilized each year and honest value in his product is the determining factor in a manufacturer's success or failure. There may be fewer companies in the field when 1936 ends, but these companies will prosper by virtue of the actual service they render motorists in this country and abroad.

The Nash Motors Company expects to build 75 per cent more automobiles in 1936 than it did during 1935 and that statement expresses the confidence with which we view the future. If American business men will operate their various enterprises along sane, economical lines and will continue to build to the high standards of value that always have been characteristic of American merchandising, they will continue to recognize its vital responsibility in keeping business on an even keel, than we are bound to enjoy increasing success in the year to come.

Nash Film and Comedy Head Paramount Programs—Morning Show Tomorrow

The thrill and romance of naval officers in the making, men who in peace or in war, heroically brave death for their country in their line of duty, is colorfully depicted in the new Warner Bros. Cosmopolitan drama-with-music, "Shipmates Forever," which is scheduled as the feature attraction at the Paramount Theatre for four days starting Sunday.

It is an intimate and revealing story of the lives of the midshipmen in their study rooms at Annapolis, on the parade grounds and their cruises at sea. It pictures them at work and at play; their loves and their laughter; their loyalty and their courage "under fire."

Dick Powell and Ruby Keeler head the cast supported by Lewis Stone, Ross Alexander, Eddie Acuff. On the same program is the big little star Jane Withers in "This is the Life," Jane Withers, nine-year old motion picture actress, makes her debut as a singing and dancing personality in a story of a child performer who sacrifices fame and wealth for happiness.

Miss Lombard and Fred MacMurray are featured in "Hands Across the Table," a sprightly fun fest of a working girl's everyday life, picturing the adventures that befall an attractive, ambitious manicurist when she sets out to marry for money, on the theory that a rich husband is worth more than a loving one. Many amusing situations develop when she meets a wealthy man but falls in love with a handsome, but penniless, socialite, "Hands Across the Table" will be shown at the Paramount Theatre starting Thursday, December 5th, and on the same program will be a return engagement of "Smilin' Through" with Norma Shearer and Leslie Howard and Fredric March.

On Saturday matinees December 7th and 14th every boy or girl who brings in the top of a "Whetena Package" will be presented with a "Popeye Pin."

On Saturday morning, Nov. 30th, at 10 o'clock there will be a special show for young people of any age sponsored by the Newton Community Club in aid of its philanthropic work. The films to be shown are "Mickey Mouse in the Pet Store"; a Popeye Cartoon entitled "The Man on the Flying Trapeze"; "Like a Beaver"; "Little Dutch Tulip Girl"; "Queen of Hearts"; and "South Sea Adventures" by Zane Grey. COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS

LAND COURT

Middlesex, ss.
To the Honorable the Judges of the Land Court for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Respectfully represents William Kiley and Maurice F. Kiley of Newton, in the County of Middlesex, and said Commonwealth; that they are owners of a certain lot of land with the buildings thereon, situate in Newton, in the County of Middlesex in said Commonwealth, bounded and described as follows:

Commencing at a bound on the westerly side of a private way leading from River Street, northeasterly by land of John Fanning, and running northeasterly by said Fanning's land 167 feet to a bound by a Proprietors Way; thence Southwesterly by said Proprietors Way 132 feet to a bound; thence South 47 1/2 degrees, East by land of said Adolphus Smith 185 feet more or less to bound on said private way; and thence northeasterly by said private way 132 feet to point of beginning.

That the record title to said lot of land is clouded by a mortgage given by John Kiley, to Adolphus Smith, dated February 3, 1935, and duly recorded Book 893, Page 407, Middlesex South District Deeds, purporting to secure a note for $80.00, payable Forty dollars the first day of June next and forty dollars during the month of August next, with interest annually, which mortgage appears to be undischarged, unassigned and unrecorded on the record—or not properly or legally discharged of record.

That for more than twenty years after the expiration of the time limited for the full performance of said condition no payment has been made and no other act done in recognition of said mortgage; and

That the mortgagor named in said mortgage and those claiming under him have been in uninterrupted possession of said land for more than twenty years after the expiration of the time limited in said mortgage for the full performance of the condition thereof.

WHEREFORE your petitioners pray that after appropriate notices a decree may be entered on the foregoing allegations as authorized by Section 15, Chapter 240 of the General Laws as amended by Chapter 20 of the Acts of 1924.

MAURICE F. KILEY,
WILLIAM KILEY.

REAL ESTATE NEWS

Homes, Inc., of Newton has sold four properties recently completed at Cabot Parkway, Newtonville.

The old house at 122 Eastside Parkway, remodelled, rebuilt with two baths, oil heat, and new type kitchen, has been sold to Mr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Pattison of Newton.

126 Eastside Parkway has been sold to Mr. and Mrs. Hammond M. Perkins of Brookline.

43 Winchester rd. has been sold to Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Fitzgerald of Kingston and Newtonville.

47 Winchester rd. has been sold to Mr. and Mrs. J. Renwick MacDonald of Newton.

The brokers in these sales were Mahlon W. Hill, Theodore F. Weber, Miss Stella M. Bradford, and Sydney B. Holden.

These three latter houses of quality construction have just been completed with slate roofs, solid brick garages, marble fireplaces, recreation rooms with fireplaces, and insulation. The kitchens are unusual—containing Electrolux silent gas refrigerators, 1936 model Glenwood gas ranges, electric fans, Mello chime bells, G. E. clocks, and built-in radios!

These houses were built by Homes, Inc., by its maintenance crew created for its apartment houses located in Newton, Brookline, and Cambridge. Peter Turchon, President of Homes, Inc., reports that all their buildings are 100% leased and that all of the properties repainted and rebuilt in 1934 and 1935 are now sold.

"Newspaper advertising," he stated, "was responsible for large numbers of people visiting these properties. The public generally now appreciates that higher prices seem inevitable."

Mayorality Fight Grows Warm at Rally In N'ville

ness the growth of Newton from 1914-1929. From 1918-1928 valuations due to new construction doubled and yet the tax rate remained continuously among the lowest of all the cities in Massachusetts. It was, moreover, an absolutely honest rate reflecting at all times the expenditures, as any tax rate should do.

"As for Boys' Club leadership, it is the best training for an understanding of human nature. All kinds, creeds and colors, congregate there; young men of different antecedents, environment, and upbringing—yet fused into what we call American citizenship with the same aims, hopes and ambitions. Knowing such a cross-section of community life leads one to understand that the hyphen is not something that separates, but something that connects and that 'E Pluribus Unum' really means of many one. Such understanding better fits a Mayor to serve intelligently all the people and maintain a government of the people, by the people and for the people rather than for the few by the few."

Answering the charge that he did not show interest in Newton schools, Childs referred to the many new schools which were built during his administration. He also said he had not attempted to inject politics into Newton schools. He commented that the sewers built during his term did not collapse as did a sewer built recently in Newton. He also said that when he retired from office Newton had a surplus of over $500,000.

Alderman Sydney Holden said he is qualified to serve as Mayor after six years' experience as an Alderman during depression years in which he was a factor in reducing Newton's tax rates. Holden said if elected Mayor he will endeavor to give the Welfare Department sufficient investigators so that deserving persons in need will receive proper assistance, and those who are not deserving can be culled out. He asserted that whoever is elected Mayor will face the probability of an increased tax rate because of the fact that last year the city borrowed $150,000 on tax titles so that the tax rate could be reduced 90 cents; this loan must be repaid during the coming year. He favors more improvements on streets and sidewalks in the city; needed parking spaces in our business districts; the giving of city jobs to Newton men and women instead of outsiders getting these positions; playground supervision after the schools open in September, and regular employment for city laborers. Mr. Holden told of his successful fight against the expenditure of $11,000 of the taxpayers' money to improve Rutherford avenue, a street near the Waltham line on which there are no houses.

General Needham was given a laudatory introduction by Mr. Proctor, who referred to the candidate's excellent war record. Mr. Needham told of the fact that as a poor boy he had to start from scratch to obtain his education at Harvard College and Law School. Commenting on the criticism that he is a comparative newcomer to Newton, Mr. Needham said he has lived in this city for 12 years, and he is a comparative newcomer to Newton, Mr. Needham said he has lived in this city for 12 years, and he is a comparative newcomer to Newton, Mr. Needham said he has lived in this city for 12 years, and he is a comparative newcomer to Newton.

its spirit and community feeling. He said he has become a thorough Newtonite, knows Newton and intends to live here the rest of his life. Answering the charge that he has no previous experience in municipal government, Mr. Needham said that this same criticism could have been applied to Mr. Childs when he first became Mayor. He referred to his service as Commissioner of Public Safety, when he had to assume control of a department torn by lack of morale and hostile. He said the experience he has acquired in handling large numbers of men and big budgets qualify him to serve as the executive of the city of Newton.

General Needham said he has no intention of turning the police and fire departments upside down, as has been rumored. He commented that he has had large forces of men under him in the army, militia and State Police, and he can refer anyone to them for testimony as to how he treated them. He also said that he can expect from him. He said he realizes that the welfare and unemployment problems will continue to be with us for sometime to come, and he gave assurance that he will meet these problems with sympathy and with fairness toward all.

Fashion Show At Newton Catholic Club Dec. 5

Plans are fast being completed for the Fashion Show and Pop Concert sponsored by St. Bernard's Women's Club and featured by Scott Purriers of Boston, to be held December 5th at 8:30 p. m. at the Newton Catholic Club, West Newton. A very interesting musical program is being arranged by the talented members of the club. The Club Orchestra under the direction of Miss Barbara Ryan, pianist, assisted by her sister, Miss Claire Ryan, cellist, Miss Mary Pucarelli, violin, Miss Mary Curran, violin, Miss Bertha Moore, violin, Miss Catherine Shea, violin and Miss Helen Butler will furnish music for the evening.

Vocal selections under the direction of Miss Esther Costello, will be rendered by Mrs. Irene Cain Currie, Mrs. Katherine McDermott Purcell, Mrs. Mary Quinn, and Miss Katherine Donahue, with Miss Costello at the piano. Miss Katherine Hogan, a graduate of the Mary Frances Rooney School will entertain with readings. Four charming members who will act as models are Miss Betty O'Brien, Miss Katherine Hogan, Miss Gertrude Linnehan and Miss Alice Fay, assisted by a group of lovely young women from Scott Purriers.

The committee working to make the affair a most successful one consists of Mrs. Frances L. Conley, Chairman, Mrs. Margaret L. Boyce, Mrs. Florence Wheeler, Mrs. Theodore Bernhardt, Mrs. Esther Hurley, Mrs. Christina Thompson, Miss Agnes Jordan, Mrs. Agnes Vahey, Miss Nora O'Sullivan, the club president, and Miss Esther Hannan, the club secretary. Table reservations may be made in advance. Several attractive junior members will serve on the refreshment committee.

The next event of interest to be held by St. Bernard's Women's Club will be a concert and lecture by the Rev. John O'Connell, S.J., Sunday, Dec. 8th at 8:15 p. m. at the Newton Catholic Club, West Newton.

Orb Weaver Spiders

Orb Weaver spiders are common about buildings. Spiders are feared by most people from a belief that they are poisonous. It is true they have biting jaws provided with poison glands, and their bite may be fatal to birds and insects, but most spiders cannot bite human skin and the largest forms seem to inflict but a slight wound. The males of the Orb Weavers are smaller than the females, but the legs are relatively larger and stronger. The males are often killed and eaten by the females, but if the male can overcome the female she may become his victim. The webs of the Orb Weavers are beautifully constructed.

Needham Rallies Planned Next Week

Fifteen thousand signatures and assurances of victory for General Daniel Needham is the goal set for Dec. 2 by workers in the Needham campaign for Mayor. Scores of papers, filled with names of men and women voters of all wards of the city, are being turned in daily at the headquarters, 259 Walnut st., at the corner of Washington st. in Newtonville.

Moreover, it was announced at Needham headquarters that for the first time since the campaign started the fight is being carried right into Newton, the home sector of General Needham's principal opponent. A committee of 50 men who have pledged to work for the election of Daniel Needham are making arrangements for a monster family rally in Stearns School hall on Saturday evening, Dec. 7.

Final week public rallies already arranged will provide a busy week for General Needham. During the past few months he has spoken at more than 80 village rallies and house meetings in kitchens as well as parlors and has made thousands of friends. His public rally schedule for next week is as follows:

Ski Class

Under the auspices of the Hiking Club, "Stan" Brown, ski expert with the Iver Johnson Sporting Goods Company, and ski instructor of the Appalachian Mountain Club, has held the first two classes in skiing at the Y. M. C. A. The first session consisted of a very interesting talk by Stanley Brown, which he illustrated by means of a chart. He touched upon the history of skiing and its various methods and technique. His second class covered the first of important physical exercises necessary for correct muscular development before actual ski work can be attempted. These exercises have been recommended by Dr. Jacques Robillard of Berne, Switzerland, as the most valuable training in balance and sure-footedness for any individual whether or not he intends to use skis. The Ski Class has thus far consisted of ten members of the Hiking Club and several more have expressed a desire to take advantage of Stan's expert instruction and skill.

Hiking Club

The Y. M. C. A. Hiking Club, which continues to climb mountains under the favoring hand of fortune, accomplished its most serious and enjoyable hikes over the Armistice Day holidays. Five of its members climbed Mount Washington by way of the Tuckerman Ravine, in three and one-half hours. Since fifteen minutes were lost in filling canteens in the brook at the foot of Tuckerman Headwall, the climbers can conservatively claim three hours and fifteen minutes for this climb. They found loose ice on Tuckerman Headwall, very little snow, and a summit temperature of twenty-seven above zero, with a sixty-five mile wind velocity. They descended by way of the Wagon and Old Jackson roads.

They also climbed Mount Kearsarge near North Conway and were rewarded by one of those rare cloud effects that many mountain climbers have spent a life-time to find. Leaving rainy oppressive weather at the foot of the mountain they climbed through the soupy clouds, getting above them to where they found sunshine and balmy summer breezes, in which they basked as they gazed down and away over the vast sea of snow-white clouds breaking like ocean waves against the sides of nearby and distant mountains.

Use "Courtesy Titles"

The custom is for the eldest son of a peer, of the rank of duke, marquess, earl, or viscount, to use a "courtesy title," one of his father's inferior titles. In the case of a duke, second and other sons are also known by their courtesy title of "Lord," followed by their Christian name and surname. "Courtesy titles" are not hereditary.

Various Events

West Newton Women's Educational Club

The West Newton Women's Educational Club was entertained on Friday, November 22nd, by Roselth Knapp Breed, of Boston, a gifted character impersonator, who made up in full view of the audience for the parts she portrayed.

One of the most amusing monologues by Miss Breed was that in which she took the part of Mrs. Hogan gossiping over the back fence about her adventures in a face clinic, called "being cliniced."

Tea was served in the Parlor at the conclusion of the meeting. Mrs. Chauncey A. Stimets and Mrs. Percival Waters presided at the tea tables.

The Junior Group of the West Newton Women's Educational Club will meet on Tuesday, December 3rd, at 7:30 p. m., at the home of Miss Charlotte Steinacker, 46 Wauwinet road, West Newton. Miss Ruth Worcester and Miss Alice Drury will be the assistingesses. Work will be continued on Snap books started at the meeting of November 19th.

The American Home Class of the West Newton Women's Educational Club will meet on Wednesday, December 4th, at the home of Mrs. Ernest F. Robinson, 36 Oakland ave., Auburndale, with Mrs. Malcolm A. Warren the assisting hostess.

Luncheon will be served at 12:30 o'clock. An Exhibit of Wedgewood China will be held.

The speaker of the afternoon will be Miss Marie Driscoll, from the Federal Housing Bureau.

Newtonville Woman's Club

The conferences on Education, a feature sponsored last year by the Education committee of the Newtonville Woman's Club, were so successful and so helpful to those attending that the committee will continue the series this year. The new series will show the influence of library work in the development of the child's education. The first meeting was held on Wednesday, November 20th, at the home of Mrs. Cecil W. Clark, when representatives of the Boys' and Girls' Library in Newton spoke of the work that is carried on in connection with the schools.

Mrs. Florence D. Sloane, supervisor, had charge of the meeting. Mrs. Sloane gave a very interesting and vivid word picture of the facilities and benefits of the Library for the Boys and Girls in Newton. Miss Miriam Putnam, assistant supervisor, explained the methods of selection of books that are sent from the library to the various schools for use in study and recreation. After these instructive and enjoyable talks, an most delightful program of stories were told by Mr. and Mrs. John J. Cronan in the same manner in which they are told to the boys and girls.

Three more meetings will follow: one which will deal with library education in the grades, one in connection with the High School work, and the final one, to be held in the Senior High School library, will show the development of that phase of library work. These meetings held in the schools will be in charge of the teacher librarians. All club members and friends are invited to attend any or all of the series.

A large number of members of the Newtonville Woman's Club and their friends attended the second in the series of Literature Afternoons on Monday, November 25th, at the home of Miss Marian I. Prescott.

Mrs. Wallace C. Boyden outlined the plans for this group for the rest of the season, and then presented Miss Alice Nelson who delighted her audience with her talk on "Authors of Rural New England."

Miss Nelson chose as representative women authors Dorothy Canfield Fisher whose home is in Vermont; Alice Brown as representative of New Hampshire, Sara Orne Jewett of Maine, and Mary Willard of Massachusetts, although in Newton. Different stories of these authors were used to illustrate the characteristics with which Miss Nelson has been impressed, and her entertaining way of relating the stories or anecdotes was most refreshing, as well as instructive and pleasing.

At the tea following, Miss Prescott was assisted by Mrs. J. Mace Andrews and Mrs. John W. Byers.

Social Science Club

The next meeting of the Social Science Club will be held on Wednesday, December 4th, at 10 a. m. It will be a business meeting, followed by news from the State Federation by Mrs. John F. Capron, Twelfth District director. The paper for the morning will be "Snapshots Around the World," by Mrs. Samuel Noyes Brown. The hostesses will be Mrs. George E. Merrill and Miss Clara G. Soule.

Community Service Club of West Newton

The Community Service Club of West Newton has had two meetings of special interest recently. On the evening of Monday, November 18th, the Glee Club gave a "Greatest Harvest Frolic" in the Parish House of the Unitarian Church, under the leadership of Mrs. Marion Kingsbury and Mrs. Frank S. Tower. Mr. William Lester Bates acted as leader of the chorus, which for the occasion included a number of male voices. Mr. Thomas Weston served as master of ceremonies, and Mr. Harold B. Cranshaw as "Tithingman."

The program included old-time songs, a minuet, and a harpsichord solo by Mrs. Tower. The old-fashioned costumes of the men and women proved highly amusing, and showed many an attic had been searched for heirlooms in the way of silk dresses and bonnets and high silk hats.

Afterwards there was general dancing.

On the afternoon of Wednesday, November 20th, the regular monthly afternoon meeting took place in the Unitarian Church. In the absence of the president, Mrs. George S. Fuller, the third vice-president, Mrs. Holcombe J. Brown, presided. The speaker was Professor Alexander Magoon, graduate of Harvard University and of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. His topic was "The Art of Human Relations," and his address was most interesting and thought-provoking.

A Food Sale was held before the meeting under the direction of Mrs. Joseph C. Fuller. Mrs. Edward W. Pride and her committee were in charge of the Tea.

Auburndale Review Club

Mrs. Mervyn Bailey was hostess for the meeting of the Review Club on Tuesday morning, November 26th.

Mrs. Amos R. Wells reviewed "Martha Berry" by T. Evers, giving the story of her life and work among the mountain folk in Northern Georgia. She described how, as a young girl, Martha wanted to go to school in a log cabin as the poor children had to, so her father built one on the home-ground and provided the best teachers for his children. One Sunday in later years she took three little boys into the cabin and told them bible stories. The next Sunday more came so dirty that she gave them a lesson in cleanliness. From this small beginning the Berry Schools at Mt. Berry, Georgia, grew. The purpose of her life work is to provide a way for poor, but deserving, boys and girls of the South Appalachian Mountains to find educational advantages, when all other doors are closed to them. The only requirement for entrance is poverty. There is a school for boys; one for girls; and a college of high standing. The tuition is twenty-five dollars a year. There are one thousand students, with a waiting list of five thousand, which shows how great is the need and the worth of this fine work. They have had small gifts and some fine buildings, but no endowments, so that it is necessary to raise one hundred thousand dollars each year.

Miss Berry has given generously of her strength, time, money, and land. She says, "Only the Heavenly Father knows the hardship and privation we have known in this school. We have to trust God and our friends."

"Samuel Gridley Howe," by Laura Richards, was cleverly sketched by Miss Margaret Haskell. She showed him to be a loving, fun-making friend. He was greatly interested in the work of Horace Mann, the Perkins institute for the Blind, prison reform and reform schools, handicapped children, the blind and feeble-minded, and abolition of slavery. His home was a meeting place for a distinguished group working for the good of others. He was greatly devoted to those in need.

Miss Eleanor Pinkham told of the life of Thomas M. Osborne as given in "There Is No Trust," by Chas. Berlaim. She brought out that Mr. Osborne was a crusading reformer of prisons. Music was his great relaxation. He enjoyed impersonating different characters and in order to understand the psychology of the prisoner in his cell, he impersonated one, doing the same work, even to spending the regulation time in solitary confinement. He was deeply religious. He was greatly interested in prison reform, believing that prisoners could be trained to be good citizens. He had charge of prisons in Auburn, Sing Sing, and the Naval Prison at Portsmouth, New Hampshire.

Members were advised to read each book reviewed so far this year, since all are deeply interesting.

State Federation

"Club Courtesies" will be the topic discussed at the Club Institute of the State Federation on Thursday, December 5th, in the Lee Auditorium, or the Boston Y. W. C. A. opening at 10:30 a. m. with a welcome from the State chairman, Mrs. John A. Jennings. Two Junior clubwomen and six past District directors will speak. Mrs. Everett E. Bartlett, president of the Berlin Tuesday Club, will open the Forum, taking for her subject "Club Courtesies Make for Club Spirit." Miss Sylvia Koose, of Wollaston, who won the privilege of going to the Trial at Detroit last June as representing the Juniors; and Mrs. Gordon Heath, of West Newton, representing the Junior Clubs of the State, will tell of many courtesies that might be extended.

Further suggestions on the subject of the Forum will be given by past directors of the Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth, Eleventh, and Thirteenth districts, who are Mrs. Charles W. Taylor, of Hyde Park; Mrs. David R. Goodwin, of Boston; Mrs. Rodney G. Page, of Watertown; Mrs. Harry S. MacNish, of Medford Hills; Mrs. William R. Taylor, of Westford; and Mrs. Frank D. Peirce, of Leicester.

During the question period, there will be an opportunity for those in the audience to add suggestions that have not been covered by the speakers.

Mrs. Frank P. Bennett, General Federation director, and past-president of the State Federation, will be the guest speaker. Mrs. George E. Hutchins will give a lesson in Parliamentary Procedure.

The Bulletin Board for the convening of clubwomen in announcing coming events, is proving popular and useful.

Newton Man Speaks On "Gold Control"

The Men's Club of the Belmont St. Baptist Church in Belmont held its first meeting on Tuesday evening, November 26th. The speaker was Mr. Henry S. C. Cummings of Newton Centre who spoke on the subject of "Gold Control." There were several thoughts brought out in his talk which greatly interested the group relating to present economic conditions.

Mr. Cummings has been a close observer and student of the Gold Situation which makes what he has to say on this subject of some value, particularly when this problem has been so much before the public in the last several years. The speaker favored a Gold "controlled" standard which would take into consideration not only any standard created by Congress but Gold Imports as well. He showed figures to prove that Commodity prices, stocks, Bonds and Industrial Activity had an average gain since their lows in March 1933 of 84% but inasmuch as devaluation had accounted for 40% of this gain and the gold accumulation had been responsible for a further 43% maladjustment—the difference between a 53% gain in Gold Stocks and a 10% increase in Money in Circulation this gain represented only the natural expectancy as a result of this readjustment of monetary factors.

In touching on the unemployment situation Mr. Cummings called attention to the "lag" in Commodity prices in relation to Industrial Activity recovery which difference was based on the period between 1922 to 1929 of unemployment. He believes that Commodity prices could properly rise another 22% which further gain would do much to absorb those now unemployed. This gain should not necessarily be confined to food prices but the gain in this respect has been normal. The commodities as Farm Products have already advanced 97%; Textiles 80%; Food 62%; Fuels 60%; Metals 18%; Building Materials 14% and Chemicals 3%. Any gains might more properly be expected from those groups whose gain has been less than 84%.

Stock prices he indicated had advanced 153% from their lows to date and were much too high for present conditions. On the other hand Mr. Cummings believes Bond Prices could easily rise another 50% if this group were to be brought in line with the normal expectancy based on present monetary factors. In analyzing the present situation it was brought out that gains in business as in Commodity prices had gained irregularly and unequally. For example, Steel Production has advanced 346% from its 1933 low; auto production is up 92%; Electric Power Production up 69%; Lumber Production, 39%; Car Loadings up 28%; while on the opposite end of this group of gains, statistics show that Cotton Cloth production has actually declined 12%.

Mr. Cummings vigorously denounced the Government's policy of "open purchases of Gold in foreign markets" where these purchases were in excess of legitimate settlement of trade balance and believed some neutral agency should be created to absorb surplus balances. He warned that the present policy of Gold absorption was detrimental to our monetary system and if continued much longer would leave us holding substantially all the world's stock of Gold and Silver which would soon become relatively worthless and the American Taxpayer would wake up to find the biggest exploitation on his pocketbook ever perpetrated. He scored the policy of the "favorable trade balance" theory as nationalistic and shortsighted and hoped regular balancing of foreign accounts would become a requirement as a part of a definite foreign policy.

In summing up, Mr. Cummings believed that a more dependable Monetary Unit, greater encouragement to industry and a balanced budget could all be realized if more attention were directed from Washington in establishing a "Gold Controlled Standard or System"—with our surplus gold stock being segregated and put to more constructive use in helping to rehabilitate other weaker currencies. The serious maladjustments of Gold he felt accounted for the pitiful state of our present economic condition and in our country was the specific cause of our having made absolutely no real gain since the hectic days of March 1933 when the forces of depression were ravaging at their worst.
